2 AIRMEN FINISH ROUND TRIP FLIGHT IN TORONTO RACE

Lieut. M. B. Plumb First to Arrive at Mineola After 1,000-Mile Contest.

SCHROEDER IN FAST TIME

Major Back in Canadian City in 9 Hours and 25 Minutes Actual Flying.

LIEUT. CREHORE INJURED

New Yorker Badly Hurt in Smash at Albany—Several Others Out of Race.

Two of the fliers who entered in the New York-Toronto International Handicap air race completed the round trip late yesterday. Both were Americans.

Lieutenant M. B. Plumb, flying a De Haviland 4, alighted at Roosevelt Field, Mineola, at 5:50:30 o'clock in the afternoon. He had started in the morning from Syracuse, where darkness overtook him Monday evening, and had flown to Toronto, starting from the Canadian city on his return trip about noon.

Good time was made by the two fliers who finished at Toronto, whence they had started Monday. Major Rudolph Schroeder, who flew a VE-7, arrived at Leaside Park, just outside the city, at 5:20 o'clock. His actual flying time, according to his log, for the 1,000-mile trip was nine hours and twenty-five minutes.

Colonel Gerald Brandt, another American, who had started from Roosevelt Field, arrived a few minutes after Major Schroeder.

Eight new entrants started from Mineola yesterday morning. Major Schroeder, Sergeant A. B. Coombs and Roland Rohlfs, who arrived at Roosevelt Field Monday evening, started northward early in the day, and five others who had started from the Canadian end of the race, arrived at Mineola and departed on the return trip before the close of the afternoon.

Several accidents occurred. Lieutenant Austin Crehore of New York, one of the new contestants, was seriously injured in making a landing at Albany while on his northward trip. His arm was broken and he received possible internal injuries. Others put out of the race by mishaps included Captain Steinle, whose SE-5 was smashed while making a landing at the control station at Buffalo, and Major Elliot Spring, whose plane developed engine trouble and forced him to descend near Batavia, N. Y.

Other noted fliers are expected to take the air from Roosevelt Field today.

LIEUT. PLUMB FINISHES FIRST AT MINEOLA FIELD

Completes 1,000-Mile Race in Fast Time—Eight New Entrants Start North.

The first contestant to complete the full course from New York to Toronto and return in the international handicap race, according to the latest information available last night, was Lieutenant M. B. Plumb, whose De Haviland 4, a plane of long service, suddenly darted out of a bank of cumulus clouds a mile in air, shortly before 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and sped downward upon Roosevelt Field, Mineola, L. I.

Guiding his plane to a vantage point over the field, Lieutenant Plumb nosed the two-seater toward the earth, and landed gracefully. The timekeepers announced that his landing wheels had touched the ground at 5:50:30 o'clock.

Lieutenant Plumb, who was the nineteenth man to start from here Monday, was the first to reach Toronto, landing there at 11:27 yesterday morning. As the flyer's record had not been homologated, the exact time of his leaving on the return trip could not be learned, except that it was around noon. He left the control station at Albany at 4:34, making the time from the capital to Roosevelt Field 1 hour and 16 minute.

The crowd did not wait for Lieutenant Plumb to "taxi in" to the hangars, but ran out to meet him. Both he and Sergeant Ralph E. Kratz, his mechanician, received a noisy ovation from the spectators, who crowded around to shake his hand. Colonel Archie Miller was the first to greet the pilot of the Phoebe, as the De Haviland was christened, telling him that all his friends at Roosevelt Field knew he would "bring home the bacon."

Lieutenant Plumb, who has a smile of the "delighted" type, was as jubilant

German Princes Suing to Recover Their Estates

BERLIN, Aug. 26.—Former Duke Charles Edward of Coburg-Gotha has filed a suit against the Republic of Gotha and its commissioners to recover his estate, which was confiscated when he declined to accept a settlement of 15,000,000 marks.

The Prince of Waldeck-Pyrmont is also suing for the recovery of half his domain after the failure of negotiations with the new Government.

PLEDGES LABOR'S FORCE TO ACTORS

EQUITY SHOW ON BROADWAY

Barrymore-Drew Family Plans Star Production of "School for Scandal" at Empire.

Samuel Gompers, in an address to members of the Actors' Equity Association late yesterday afternoon, pledged the full force of organized labor to that body in carrying on its present strike. Mr. Gompers, following his arrival from Europe on the George Washington in the morning, attended a mass meeting of the actors at the Lexington Theatre.

Both actors and managers had been awaiting the first expression from Mr. Gompers as to his stand, and its had been generally felt that his attitude might influence the entire future course of the strike. Taken in conjunction with the indorsement of the State Federation of Labor in Syracuse yesterday, Mr. Gompers's pledge puts the forces of organized labor solidly behind the actors, and by tightening their lines makes a strike of many months' duration almost inevitable.

Arthur Hopkins, on behalf of the Producing Managers' Association, last night gave out the following statement:

"In view of the fact that Mr. Gompers had neither time nor opportunity to acquaint himself thoroughly with all the facts of the present situation himself, the Producing Managers' Association refrains from making any comment on his precipitate stand."

Mr. Gompers arrived at the actors' meeting as it was about to adjourn and was cheered by the players for several minutes.

"I know something of the lot of the actor and of the theatrical profession," he said, "and I must make this declaration, no matter what interpretation anyone may put upon it, that all men and women in the professions who work for salaries or wages have the right to sit in the councils which determine their pay and the conditions under which they work. In Amsterdam, not long ago, I had to say to the representatives of German labor, because of their arrogant and overbearing manner, that they had not learned the real lesson of the war, and that 'Deutschland über Alles' had passed out for all time. The time has come when Kaiserism or autocracy, commercial or industrial, also has passed away.

Strike Foreshadowed.

"I hold that the company of men who have not learned that autocracy is a thing of the past, that it has gone by the board, have not learned the real lesson of the war. I had heard from your President, Mr. Wilson, that a controversy was likely to arise. From the few and fragmentary pieces of news conveyed to me I understand that you are having a glorious time. No matter how much you love your profession, in all your lives you never have had such a sense of freedom and liberty as you are experiencing today.

"The future depends not upon the managers, but upon you. Many a good cause has gone a-glimmering because of the failure of the men and women to maintain the spirit of the cause. If you now maintain that spirit, and, for whatever length of time it may last, make up your mind to stick, nothing in this world can prevent your success. If you have not made up your mind to do that, it would be better if you had not begun at all. You have aroused the managers to an understanding of your power. They are alert. But they have not out their own brains; they can buy brains by the pound.

"As sure as life and death, if you weaken, the treatment you received in the past will be as nothing compared to that which you will receive in the future.

"I do not know if it will be possible for me to do anything. If I had the power I would do something. But whatever power and influence there may be in the great American Federation of Labor—whatever there may be generating in its thought of right and justice—will, until there comes an honorable and justifiable end to this matter, be heartily and loyally accorded you."

Francis Wilson declared that the majority of the managers were with the

GOMPERS RETURNS BUT IS SILENT ON THE PLUMB PLAN

Refuses to Discuss Labor Issues Until He Has Studied the Situation.

PLUMB SEEKS HIS AID

Confers with Leader and Says He Hopes to Win His Support for the Project.

SEES FALL OF BOLSHEVISM

A. F. of L. Head Declares Radicals Were Overwhelmingly Repudiated at Amsterdam Congress.

Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, who went abroad to attend the International Trades Union Conference held at Amsterdam in July, returned yesterday afternoon on the United States transport George Washington, from Brest. The transport also brought 2,469 officers, soldiers, and civilians.

Mr. Gompers appeared to be in good health.

Among the labor delegates who went down the bay on a tugboat to meet the returning labor leader were Hugh Frayne, organizer of the American Federation of Labor for New York; Glenn E. Plumb, author of the Plumb plan for the management of railroads; Edward Keating, former Congressman from Colorado, and John Fitzpatrick, President of the Steel Workers' Union of Chicago.

Mr. Gompers later in the afternoon had conferences with Mr. Plumb, who is the general counsel for the railroad brotherhoods, and ex-Congressman Keating and with Mr. Fitzpatrick at the Hotel Continental.

After his conference with Mr. Gompers, Mr. Plumb told reporters that his object in seeing the labor leader with Mr. Keating was to advise him with regard to the progress that had been made in advancing the Plumb Plan campaign in his absence. He said that Mr. Gompers was the Honorary President of the Plumb Plan League and he hoped that he would give it his active support.

Sees Plumb Plan as Issue.

"There is no hope of getting the so-called Plumb bill through Congress this season," Mr. Plumb continued. "The people are ready for it, but I doubt if Congress will catch up with the wave of progress. The people will have to move ahead of Congress before Congress takes action. The present Congress was not elected upon this issue and this would be a big issue for it to act upon. I believe, however, that my railroad plan will be a big issue in the next campaign."

When asked about President Wilson's attitude toward his plan Mr. Plumb replied that the President had given no indications as to his sentiments upon the subject. He hoped to have a conference with the Chief Executive when he had time to devote himself to home affairs after final action on the League of Nations.

Mr. Gompers received the reporters in his room and told them that he had returned earlier than he had expected, because of cable dispatches from Washington. He said that the labor situation in Holland was interesting, but disappointing because the leaders would not do what they were told in their own interests. When asked about the report that he had changed his sentiment in regard to the Plumb Plan, and was now against it, Mr. Gompers smiled and replied. "I am not prepared to discuss that subject now.

"People have been waiting a long time to hear you come out and state whether you are for or against the Plumb Plan," one of the reporters said.

"Well they can wait a little longer. I have the perfect right to refuse to answer questions in that connection," he replied.

Not Ready to Discuss Shopmen.

When asked for his opinion on the railroad shop decision by President Wilson, the labor leader said:

"As that matter has been handled by the President personally I shall give the matter serious consideration from all sides of the case and then issue a statement in writing so that there can be no risk of my being misquoted, as my memory fails me occasionally and I cannot remember just what I have said upon a subject.'

"Have you anything to say with regard to the request for more wages made by the steel workers," was asked.

"Not at present, as I have not had time to get into the matter properly."

"I am willing to do all I can for the actors," Mr. Gompers replied to a question, "as I like to go to a good show myself sometimes. If I have time in New York before I leave for Washing-

Bavaria's Army Turned Over to the New Government

MUNICH, Aug. 25, (Associated Press.)—The Bavarian Army officially ceased to exist today and now becomes a part of the imperial defense army. President Ebert and Noske, Minister of Defense, were present at the ceremony.

The troops were officially turned over to the Government forces in the forenoon and held a review before President Ebert. The Bavarian War Minister, Schneppenhurst, loses his office, which is abolished. Bavaria was strongly opposed to losing its army and held to it to the bitter end against the rest of Germany.

BEGIN RAIDS HERE ON LIQUOR SELLERS

Federal Agents Seize 13 for Violation of Wartime Prohibition.

SOLD WHISKY OVER BAR

Warrants Out for 50 for Disposing of Beverages Stronger Than 2.75.

That agents of the United States District Attorney and operatives of the Department of Justice have been quietly gathering evidence for the last several weeks against alleged violators of the Wartime Prohibition act in selling liquor containing more than 2.75 per cent. of alcohol, was made known yesterday afternoon when the word went out from the office of Assistant United States District Attorney John H. Joyce that warrants had been issued by United States Commissioner Hitchcock against forty to fifty saloon owners and bartenders in a general round-up which would be started during the afternoon.

Eight arrests were made in the afternoon and five more arrests were reported up to midnight, making a total of thirteen. It was said that other warrants would be served during the night. Four of the men arrested during the evening were detained at Police Headquarters over night.

All the warrants are made out against "John Doe," and violation of the Wartime Prohibition act is the charge in each. Several liquor men got word during the afternoon that warrants had been issued for them and they went immediately to the Commissioner's office and surrendered. The first of these was Thomas McLane, bartender in a café in Vanderbilt Avenue, who heard that a warrant had been issued for him for selling a glass of sherry to a special agent of the Department of Justice in violation of the Wartime Prohibition act. He was held in $100 bail for examination Friday.

Peter McIntyre, a bartender at the Strand Café, Broadway near Forty-eighth Street, was next to surrender to the Commissioner, and bail was fixed at $500 for a hearing Friday. The sale of a glass of whisky to an operative of the Department of Justice is the charge.

Two proprietors arrested and arraigned were John H. Bruning of 510 Westchester Avenue, who waived examination and was held in $1,000 bail, and Thomas Byrne of 95 Amsterdam Avenue, who also waived examination and was held in $500 bail. Three bartenders arraigned and held in $500 bail each were Nicholas Roma, Lion Café, Broadway and 110th Street; Thomas Quinn, Amsterdam Avenue and Manhattan Street, and John Greene, 150 Amsterdam Avenue. The last man to be arraigned before the Commissioner closed his office for the day was Andrew Lata, a bartender in a café at Third Avenue and Forty-second Street, who waived examination and was released on $500 bail.

Samples of the liquor purchased by the agents are in the possession of the prosecutors, it was said by the Federal authorities. Most of the evidence was gathered in the evening, District Attorney Joyce said, and for that reason the warrants would be served at night when the alleged violators of the law went to work.

Federal authorities said that the severe penalty recently imposed upon John A. Voege, proprietor of a café at Franklin and Centre Streets, when he was sentenced to serve six months and pay a fine of $1,000, following his conviction of violating the wartime prohibition law, did not have the desired effect in halting the sale of whiskey, hence the decision to widen the crusade against the allegd violators.

Three arrests were made in Brooklyn for alleged violations of the wartime prohibition law, the police acting on complaints of several members of the Anti-Saloon forces. The arrests were made by men attached to the Seventeenth Inspection District, under Inspector Kelly, and when the defendants were arraigned in the Federal Court in Brooklyn they were each held in $1,000 bail for examination.

William Haydorn of 514 Third Avenue, College Point, is charged with selling to Andrew O'Connor a drink of whisky for 25 cents; Frank Bartinck of 94 Polk Avenue, Woodhaven, L. I., is alleged to have sold a half pint of whisky to Detective Dunn, at Kelly Street and Woodside Avenue, L. I.

Edward Miller of 223 West 121st Street, bartender at Pabst Harlem, on 125th Street, was arrested last night, it being alleged that on Aug. 22 he sold to Department of Justice Agents Matthews and Jensen two glasses of whisky for 70 cents. He gave bond for his appearance before Commissioner Hitchcock for hearing.

Four men were arrested late last night by Edward L. Newman, agent of the Department of Justice, and detained at Police Headquarters for the night. Mr. Newman would not give any particulars and only the names and addresses of the men arrested were available. They are: John J. Carney, 43 years old, 703 Columbus Avenue; Rudolph Maltz, 60, 242 East Fifty-first Street; Edward O'Connor, 31, 50 Convent Avenue; Peter Walsh, 26, 178 East Seventieth Street. They were all arrested on warrants issued by Commissioner Hitchcock, and violation of the wartime prohibition act is the charge.

TREATY COMMISSIONS CUT

REPARATIONS PLAN LEFT

But They Would Exclude America from All Other Bodies to Settle European Questions.

DIVIDE ON PARTY LINES

Committee Votes Amendments, 9 to 7—Majority Claims a Gain for American ideals.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee voted again today to amend the treaty with Germany.

Carrying out the views of the Republican majority by a strict party alignment, the committee voted for amendments covering fifty cases providing against American participation in the settlement of European boundaries and international questions relating to the continent of Europe.

Today's action was the second step in a program of amendment, and the Shantung amendment adopted last Saturday was the first. The program, Republican committee members said, was to make the treaty conform throughout to American ideas and ideals and to rid the United States of burdens imposed by the treaty which, in their opinion, this nation was not obligated to carry.

By a vote of 9 to 7, Senator McCumber being absent, the committee adopted an amendment proposed by Senator Fall, New Mexico, striking from Section XXXV of Part III of the treaty the words "and associated" where they occur in the phrase "allied and associated powers."

The effect of this amendment was to eliminate the "associated power"—that is, the United States—from membership on the Commission of Seven created to trace on the spot the new boundary between Belgium and Germany.

Following this action, the committee, by agreement, extended the agreement to all similar provisions in the treaty save one, so that, in fifty places in the text, the words "and associated" would be stricken out. The effect in each case is the same—exclusion of the United States.

Senator Fall had prepared a total of twenty-three amendments on this point. He explained afterward that he had abandoned several more amendments taking from the League of Nations the power to create commissions.

"When we get through with the League," said Senator Fall, "it won't be creating any commissions."

One exception was expressly made by Senator Fall in presenting his amendments. He asked that American membership on the Reparations Commission, the most important body set up by the Treaty, be not affected by the amendment.

"The United States has a direct interest in the work of the Reparations Commission," said Senator Fall, "because this body will dispose of German shipping and other matters in which the United States ought to participate. But all these other commissions are no concern of ours, and membership upon them would simply serve to entangle us for years in every manner of European question, most of which are none of our business."

Among the commissions upon which the United States would have membership under the treaty are those on the Belgian boundary, for control of the left bank of the Rhine, on the Sarre Valley boundary, on the Polish boundary, on the East Prussian boundary, for the free city of Danzig, on the Slesvig-Holstein boundary, on the enforcement of military, naval and air clauses and reparations.

The committee also voted to give one hour at some time to be set later to representatives of citizens of India who wish to protest against that country's inclusion in the League of Nations.

At tomorrow's session further work is to be done on amendments. Senator Fall has more amendments to propose, which probably will be taken up.

French Chamber Opens Debate on the Treaty; Discussions Are Likely to Last Until Sept. 6

PARIS, Aug. 26, (Associated Press.)—The result of the first day's debate on the ratification of the Peace Treaty by the French Chamber of Deputies caused optimistic forecasts of prompt ratification to vanish.

Only three speakers of thirty-one scheduled to address the Chamber were heard, Deputies Chappedelaine, Raiberti, and Fourier, each of whom spoke for more than an hour. If the present speed continues the treaty will not be ratified before Sept. 6, and perhaps later, as other orators are likely to be inscribed on the list as the discussion progresses.

The Government seemed anxious to hurry the proceedings. Interpellations on Hungarian affairs and the high cost of living were postponed at the request of Foreign Minister Pichon and the Minister of Provisions until the treaty has been ratified. Premier Clemenceau and all the Ministers remained on the bench throughout the session.

The Premier handed the documents to Paul Deschanel, President of the Chamber, at 3:25 o'clock, immediately upon the opening of the session.

On the Government bench with the Premier were Stephen Pichon, the Minister of Foreign Affairs; Louis Nail, the Minister of Justice; Etienne Clementel, the Minister of Commerce, and Captain André Tardieu of the French Peace Mission.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 26, (Associated Press.)—The Belgian Senate today unanimously approved the Peace Treaty with Germany. The Chamber of Deputies ratified the treaty Aug. 8.

M'CUMBER ASSAILS SHANTUNG CHANGES

Republican Senator Calls Lodge Amendment a "Dagger Thrust" at Treaty.

SAYS IT CREATES WAR PERIL

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—The controversy over the amendment adopted by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to restore to China economic rights in the Shantung Peninsula, instead of turning them over to Japan, as the treaty with Germany provides, raged for four hours today in the upper body.

In a bitter speech Senator McCumber of North Dakota, the only Republican member of the committee who voted against the amendment, denounced the action of the committee as a "dagger thrust" at the treaty. Mr. McCumber said he saw in the majority's lineup for the Lodge amendment a political move to undo the work of President Wilson in Paris.

Senator McCumber asserted that the effect of the Lodge amendment, if carried in the Senate, would be to force the United States out of participation in the treaty, for Great Britain and France, because of their agreement with Japan, he contended, could not consistently uphold any such action. The United States, in that event, he said, would have to make a separate treaty with Germany.

The North Dakota Senator asserted that adoption of the amendment unquestionably would offend Japan and, in the end, create a situation that might mean war, with the United States having forced itself into the position of taking up arms for China. He characterized any attempt on the part of the Senate to intervene in the Shantung adjustment as "unwarranted and dangerous" interference.

Mr. McCumber recalled the promise given by Japan to the allied delegates at Paris to return the former German privileges in the Shantung peninsula within a reasonable time, and said the United States had no right to question Japan's integrity. The entire matter, he said, could easily be cleared up under the League of Nations. If the League project were upset through the United States putting itself out of the treaty, he said, the Shantung problem would have to be solved, sooner or later, by force of arms.

Senator Borah of Idaho, who voted for the Shantung amendment in the committee, defended the committee's action, saying that Japan had failed to indicate any real intention of restoring the privileges granted under the treaty. Japan, he said, would have a leasehold running for twenty-eight years under the treaty upon the railroad, mine, cable, and other privileges on the Shantung peninsula that Germany had obtained under threat of war in 1898.

In a colloquy with Senator McKellar, Democrat, of Tennessee, Mr. Borah denied the assertion that the United States, if it repudiated the Shantung agreement, "would have to go to war to carry out our view of the situation."

"First Dagger Thrust at Treaty."

At the outset of his speech Senator McCumber said he did not believe that the Shantung amendment would be adopted by the Senate.

"I am satisfied that no greater blow could ever be struck against the real interests of China than to adopt this amendment," he went on. "Why did the majority of this committee pause in the midst of their hearings to make this particular amendment and then proceed with the usual leisure to lay out dates

HITCHCOCK COUNTS ON 20 REPUBLICANS

Says They Will Vote with Forty Democratic Senators Against Amendments.

EXPECTS WILSON TO TOUR

With Treaty Out of Committee, He May Start on "Swing Around the Circle."

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—After a conference of nearly an hour with President Wilson at the White House late today, at which the strategy of the Senate fight against the treaty with Germany was taken up, Senator Hitchcock, acting Democratic leader of the upper body, declared that the outlook for ratification of the treaty was "entirely satisfactory."

Mr. Hitchcock spoke of President Wilson as being gratified over the prospect of ratification of the treaty without radical changes. The President was assured by Mr. Hitchcock that the Senate would not accept the Shantung amendment, adopted by the Foreign Relations Committee last Saturday, and that no other drastic amendments would be carried by the majority party.

Senator Hitchcock told the President that he expected that at least twelve Republicans would vote against the Shantung amendment, and that this vote, with the support of Administration Democrats, would accomplish its defeat. The President, Mr. Hitchcock said, expressed confidence that the majority of the Senate would not endanger the treaty by putting the Shantung amendment through.

As to the fifty amendments of Senator Fall of New Mexico, to eliminate participation by the United States in territorial adjustments and other work on the various commissions created under the League of Nations, which the Foreign Relations Committee adopted today, Mr. Hitchcock told the President that there was no prospect of the Republicans carrying them in the Senate.

The Nebrask Senator assured Mr. Wilson that at least forty Democrats would stand together to defeat any amendments to the body of the treaty, such as the Shantung or the Fall amendments. With them, he said twenty Republicans could be counted upon. When it came to voting upon reservations to the League of Nations covenant as a part of the ratifying resolution, Mr. Hitchcock said, these forty Democrats and twenty Republicans would stand solidly against any reservation that would have the effect of recommitting the treaty to Paris.

If any reservations were adopted, Mr. Hitchcock told the President, they would be interpretative such as Mr. Wilson had said he would not oppose.

Mr. Hitchcock expected the treaty to be reported out of the Foreign Relations Committee, he said, toward the end of this week or at the beginning of next week. He thought the Senate would come to the voting stage upon amendments late in September; and when the last vote was taken, he said, it would be to ratify the treaty without the drastic amendments which the Republican majority was so insistent upon making.

Clear-cut Issue in the Senate.

The whole effect of the Shantung amendment, as adopted by the committee, Mr. Hitchock intimated, had been to shift the fight to one having as a clear-cut issue the ratification or rejection of the treaty. He was optimistic—and so was the President—that the fight would be won by the advocates of the treaty.

"The President was quite optimistic," said Mr. Hitchcock. "He is entirely satisfied with the situation, being quite convinced that the fight for ratification of the treaty without amendment will be won.

"We talked over the whole situation.

UNIONS TO PASS ON APPEAL

Leaders Order 5,000 Locals to Vote on Wilson's Proposals.

EXPECTED TO TAKE A WEEK

Opinion Is That the Shopmen Will Favor a Strike for Their Full Demands.

HINES ASKS PROMPT ACTION

Requests Board on Railway Wages to Remedy at Once Any Inequalities in Pay.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—President Wilson's proposal was rejected today by the higher representatives of the railway shop crafts, who have been threatening to strike if not granted substantial wage increases, and the men involved, approximately 500,000 in number, have been instructed to vote immediately on the question whether they will accept the President's proposition as a basis of settlement or reject it and strike.

These instructions were mailed tonight from the headquarters of the American Federation of Labor in Washington to more than 5,000 local railway unions in this country and Canada. Pending the issuance of the official strike order, provided the members should vote to strike, the representatives of the unions have appealed to the men to remain at work. As the instructions have been forwarded by mail, four days will elapse before many of the unions receive them. Men in the shop crafts unions are instructed to carefully consider the question, to vote immediately, and the result of the vote is to be telegraphed to Washington by each of the local unions.

It is anticipated that a week will be required for the voting and the communication of its results to the headquarters of the Railway Employes Department of the American Federation of Labor in Washington. No date has been fixed for the strike, if the men do vote to strike.

The higher representatives of the shop crafts unions have made it plain that it not their intention to "shirk" any of their responsibilities as executive officers, and their instructions for the taking of the strike vote informed the local unions tonight that "the wishes of a constitutional majority of the membership, expressed by their vote as directed, will be carried out."

2,000,000 Men Are Involved.

Two-thirds of the membership of the railroad shop craft members of the unions will be necessary to order a strike. This means that nearly 400,000 men will have to vote in favor of the strike. While the vote will be taken only by the railway shop craft men employed on railroads, numbering about 500,000 in this country and Canada, the effect of their action will be felt by 2,000,000 railroad employes.

The best impression available tonight, after a careful canvass of the situation, is that more than two-thirds of the members of the unions will vote for a strike, and that a strike is inevitable. The higher representatives of the unions are represented at this time, but as believing that the men cannot be controlled. These higher leaders are represented as believing that public opinion would not be with the men for a strike at this time, but as ready to order a strike if the men should now vote for the second time, within a month, for such an action.

The men of the railroad shop crafts have already just completed a vote in favor of a strike, to become effective on Sept. 2. It was asserted at the headquarters of the Railway Employes' Department today that fully 95 per cent. of the men declared in favor of the strike in this vote. It is not the intention, however, to order a strike on the basis of the first vote. The leaders will disregard the vote just taken and abide by the second now to be taken.

Refuse to Accept Wilson's Proposal.

Director General of Railroads Hines was notified today by B. M. Jewell, acting President of the Railway Employes Department of the A. F. of L., and representatives of the railroad shop craft committee of 100, who were received by President Wilson yesterday, that the committee could not "accept as a basis of settlement the rates established in his proposition submitted by the President."

The shop craft leaders at the time adopted the instructions which Acting President Jewell was ordered to mail immediately to the organizations involved, which include the International Association of Machinists, the International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths and helpers, the Brotherhood of Boilermakers, Iron Shipbuilders, and helpers, the Amalgamated Metal Workers International Alliance, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, and the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen of America.

Some of the members of the unions are employed in shipyards, arsenals and other works, but only those employed by railroads are entitled to vote.

An important feature of the vote ordered today is the fact that it will be taken by "secret ballot," the purpose of this is to enable each member to voice his own opinion without being influenced by other members of the union, as might be the case if an open ballot were taken. The men voting are to write "yes" or "no" on their respective ballots. If they vote "yes" it will indicate acceptance of the President's proposition for a truce, and for an award of 4 cents an hour. If the members vote "no" it will indicate the rejection of the President's proposition, and that the voter desires to strike for the wage rates demanded, and which the President refused yesterday to grant.

Text of Instructions to the Unions.

The full text of the instructions sent to the 5,000 or more local unions of the shop crafts throughout this country and Canada asking them to take the strike vote follows:

Washington, D. C., Aug. 26.

Greetings: The attached letter of the President of the United States, accompanied by the proposition of the Director General, were delivered to your executive officers and the national committee in conference at the White House at 3 P. M., Aug. 25, and are submitted to the membership at the urgent request of President Wilson, and it is requested that the contents of these documents be given your most careful consideration at a summoned or called meeting of each craft.

Shortly after the conclusion of the conference with the President and the Director General another conference was held with the Director General. In answer to a direct question, the Director General stated that the attached proposition was final and that there would be no wage increases granted to any other class of railroad employes, as a class, but in the event of unjust inequalities, as between individuals, adjustments involving increases to equalize rates of pay would be made where justified, except under the conditions that are clearly stated in the fourth paragraph of the President's letter herewith attached.

Knowing the sentiments of the membership, your committee, after duly considering the proposition, advised the Director General that they could not accept as a basis of settlement the rates established in his proposition, as submitted by the President.

Practically every class of railroad employes have now submitted requests for very substantial increases over existing rates of pay. It is well that our members give very serious consideration to this fact if there is to be any additional general increase in the wages of railroad employes the Federated Shop Trades will receive the same consideration. Don't fail to give this statement careful thought and don't forget that if the Federated Shop Trades become involved in a strike now you are striking alone to force an increase for the two million railroad employes.

Leave Decision to Members.

In view of the foregoing facts, the statements contained in the President's letter and the responsibility that must be assumed if a suspension of work is to take place, your Executive Council has decided that it would fail in its duty were it to authorize a strike until the membership have had an opportunity to decide their course of action on this proposition. It is not our intention to shirk any of our responsibilities as executive officers, and the wishes of a constitutional majority of the membership, expressed by their vote as hereinafter directed, will be carried out.

Until the wage question has been disposed of there will be no action taken in connection with reaching a conclusion on the national agreement.

Immediately on receipt of this letter each craft will hold a summoned or called meeting, appoint a committee of tellers, who will prepare and distribute blank pieces of paper, upon which each member shall sign his name and number of lodge in which he holds membership. If the member votes "yes," it will indicate the acceptance of the President's proposition. If the member votes "no," it will indicate the rejection of the President's proposition and that he desires to strike to secure the wage rates requested.

Efforts should be made to secure the vote of members located at outside points. Only members employed by railroads are entitled to vote.

This vote shall be taken as a secret ballot, the tellers, together with Secretary, will tabulate the vote and wire the results by stating the number of members voting "yes" and the number voting "no." This vote to be confirmed by letter under seal of lodge.

Pending the issuance of the official strike order, (provided the members vote to strike,) it is earnestly requested that every member shall remain at work.

Owing to the large number of members involved, it must be understood and agreed that the respective international organizations will not be obligated to pay regular strike benefits beyond the limit of the funds available for that purpose.

Wire vote and send letter of confirmation to John Scott, Room 507, A. F. of L. Building, Washington, D. C., at once.

Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, who has just returned from Europe, will be at his offices in the headquarters building of the American Federation of Labor tomorrow, where he will confer with representatives of the shop craft unions and other railroad unions, and will take charge of the general labor situation as involved in the railroad problem. There will be a conference of the Executive Council of the federation at its headquarters on Thursday, and during that meeting it is understood the effect of the President's decision, which is applicable also to the demands by other railway unions, will be considered.

Director General Hines refrained tonight from commenting on the action taken today by the representatives of the labor leaders. He, however, sent a letter to A. O. Wharton, Chairman of the Board of Railroad Wage and Working Conditions, today, defining the functions of that board under yesterday's decision of the President. Other demands for railway wage increases are pending before this board, and in considering them the board is to apply the identical principles that were laid down by the President when he decided yesterday that the requests of the railroad shop craft for new wage increases must be refused.

Text of Hines's Letter.

The Director General's letter to Chairman Wharton follows:

Aug. 26, 1919.

Mr. A. O. Wharton, Chairman Board of Railroad Wages and Working Conditions:

Dear Mr. Wharton—It is desirable, respecting the claims now pending, or to be filed before your board, to define the functions which it is appropriate for your board to perform in view of the decision announced by the President yesterday with reference to the policy which the Government must pursue in regard to railroad wages as a part of the general campaign which the Government is waging to reduce the high cost of living in the interest of all wage earners, as well as all other Americans.

The position of the Government is that, in view of its campaign to reduce the cost of living, and of the strong prospects that substantial relief will be achieved, it is not proper now to make general increases in wages on the assumption that the present cost of living will be permanent, and that pending the efforts of the Government to bring down the cost of living the higher costs of living ought not to be accepted as a permanent basis of wage adjustment; although it is recognized that if the efforts of the Government to bring down the cost of living should fail railroad wages should be readjusted in the light of any permanent higher living costs which would thereby have to be recognized.

The President has made it clear, however, that the Railroad Administration is not precluded from giving prompt and careful consideration to any claims that may be made by the various classes of employes for readjustments believed to be proper to secure impartial treatment for all railroad employes.

I therefore request that you take up promptly the claims which have already been presented and those which are to be presented by any classes of railroad employes to the effect that either for their classes as a whole or for any subdivisions of those classes readjustments ought to be made in order to make sure that actual treatment is done on the basis of the general principles of wage adjustment which the Railroad Administration has already established.

It has been our constant endeavor since the first wage adjustments were made by the Railroad Administration to deal fairly and impartially with all classes of railroad employes. The situation is so complex that absolute perfection in this regard is unattainable. Nevertheless our experience up to the present time may in all probability develop that certain relative injustices may have been unintentionally done, and it should be our purpose promptly to correct those injustices.

The Railroad Administration has been firmly committed to the policy since last September that it cannot make wage adjustments retroactive back of a date approximating the date upon which your board makes its report, because otherwise there would be unending confusion, and all effort to get a measure as to the cost of conducting the railroads at any given time in the past would be rendered hopeless. I, therefore, hope that your board will be able to report promptly upon any inequalities which may be found to exist, to the end that any correction which the Director General may find appropriate can be made effective at the earliest justifiable date, in accordance with the policy of the Railroad Administration.

In all such matters the board will be expected to report not only a statement of facts and its conclusions upon the facts, but also its recommendation. Sincerely yours,

WALKER D. HINES.

Walker D. Hines, Director General of Railroads, today authorized a statement which covers the salient facts of his analysis of the shopmen's demands in his report to the President, which was made public yesterday, to make clear the reasons for his recommendation to the President to reject the railway workers' demands.

ESCH LAUDS WILSON'S STAND.

Other Republican Representatives Also Express Approval.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Chairman Esch of the House Interstate Commerce Committee, now holding hearings on the railroads, ultimate disposition of the railroads, made this comment on the President's action today:

"I certainly think it was well worth while making the appeal which the President made—that the men restrain their demands until it could be seen if normal conditions could be restored.

"While I feel pleased at his open, frank request that this demand be deferred, especially as it has been stated that an increase of wages would only increase the cost of living, and while there has been a tentative offer of 4 cents to the shopmen, I have some doubts as to the acceptance of this, in view of their demands. Unless some speedy action is taken by the Attorney General and Congress in lowering the high cost of living, the 4 cents per hour will not satisfy the shopmen. This may result in action by the Director General in raising rates, not merely to take care of the increased demand of the shopmen, and of other classes because of the advance to the shopmen, but to take care of the continuing deficit in the standard return, which in 1918, and thus far in 1919, has already reached an enormous figure.

"If the employes will accept the President's proposition it will reduce the prospective increase in railroad rates materially. There is no question but that any further increases in wages will mean further increases in transportation rates, which will increase the cost of living.

"While my bill does not contain anything about the wage problem, it is the intention to include something in the measure to be reported from the committee."

Representative Copley of Illinois, Republican, said:

"It is the only sane thing I have heard the President say in a long time. If we work along those lines for ninety days and not buy like drunken sailors, we can reduce the cost of living 20 per cent. in that time."

Representative Juul of Illinois, Republican, said:

"It is the best thing I have heard from the President."

Representative Kitchin of North Carolina, former Democratic leader, said:

"I am very much gratified at the position taken by the President. I am glad he is not now insisting on the legislation he suggested a few weeks ago in a letter to Congressman Esch."

Representative Greene of Vermont, Republican, said:

"In so far as the President's policy may seek to keep in check any unwarranted demands of organized labor at a time like this, I am glad to see it expressed."

PRAISE PRESIDENT'S STAND.

Most Railroad Men and Bankers Agree It Is Time for a Showdown.

General sentiment among the corporate railroad managers in the financial district seemed to be one of relief that the Administration is to make a stand on the question of further railroad wage increases. In some quarters the President's statement met with emphatic approval, although in others it was asserted that in allowing the railway shopmen a 4-cent an hour increase he had compromised with the men and weakened his position to some extent.

Figuring on the basis of the wage increases which have been granted since freight rate increases were last announced by the Director General of Railroads, corporate managers yesterday estimated that an immediate increase of from 10 to 15 per cent. would serve to meet the wage increases, and successfully balance earnings and expenses. Some estimates placed the necessary rate at from 15 to 25 per cent.

If all of the railway wage increases had been granted the total not covered by additional freight rate increases has been estimated at approximately $300,000,000. This would have required an increase of 30 per cent. in freight rates, according to railroad men.

While there was a good deal of criticism by some of the corporate managers, there were others who not only approved the Administration stand, but urged that this is the time for a showdown with the brotherhoods on the wage question. As one railroad President put it:

"Let the men strike. The sooner they do, the sooner we will all get back to a safe and sane basis."

In banking circles approval of the President's statement was general. One well-known railroad banker characterized it as "masterful."

CHICAGO APPROVES PROPOSAL.

Bankers and Business Men Praise Wilson's Reply to the Shopmen.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—Bankers, merchants and industrial leaders of this city hope for a greatly improved industrial condition throughout the country as a result of President Wilson's statement to the railroad shopmen.

One banker described Mr. Wilson's suggestions as the finest statement to come out of Wahington in months.

Another called it a clear-cut appeal to reason. Others indorsed it heartily, still more called it sensible and practical.

M. V. Hawver, President of the Chicago Council of Railroad Shopmen—the council which assumed responsibility for the recent walkout of the men—said:

"It is up to the men to express themselves. As officials of the council we can only follow the dictates of the ballot boxes."

BOSTON CARMEN TO STRIKE.

Vote to Reject War Board Award and to Renew Their Demands.

BOSTON, Aug. 26.—The carmen of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway, formerly the Bay State System, voted overwhelmingly to reject the recent wage award by the National War Labor Board and in favor of a strike if no agreement can be reached within a "reasonable time," according to an announcement today of the results of ballots taken at meetings last night.

The men declared in favor of submitting the question of wages to a new arbitration board, and voted to place the question of the validity of the recent award with three lawyers for decision. The question when the strike shall go into effect was left to the subcommittee of the joint conference board.

International President W. D. Mahan in a letter to officials of the union advised that the men continue at work under protest, and urged that the officers "point out to the men that the honor and integrity of our association is at stake," adding that "if they strike the association will be compelled to suspend them as it did the Pittsburgh locals."

TROOPS GUARD CHARLOTTE.

Quell Carmen's Riots in North Carolina Town.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Aug. 26.—State troops and deputies patrolled the principal streets of this city today to prevent a renewal of rioting in connection with the street car strike here which resulted last night in the death of three men and the injury of thirteen others. Additional troops have been ordered to Charlotte and should arrive during the day.

No effort was made to operate street cars today. The service had been abandoned for two weeks, and last night's rioting followed efforts to operate cars on some of the more important routes.

SHOE WORKERS GET INCREASE.

Lynn Manufacturers Grant 15 Per Cent. More to 12,000 Men.

LYNN, Mass., Aug. 26.—The Lynn Shoe Manufacturers' Association and the United Shoe Workers of America completed an agreement today whereby more than 12,000 workers will receive a 15 per cent. increase in wages, with a forty-four-hour week of five working days. The contract expires on Sept. 1, 1920.

Fourteen of the sixteen firms which are members of the association had signed the agreement previously, and the Charles E. Wilson Company and the A. M. Creighton Company agreed to the terms today.

ENGINEERS WANT $8 A DAY.

Will Meet Tonight to Consider a Strike for $3 Advance.

Notices have been sent to members of the International Union of Steam and Operating Engineers of a meeting to be held tonight in Knights of Columbus Hall, 307 West Fifty-fourth Street, to formulate a plan of action in regard to a proposed strike for higher wages.

According to Timothy Condon, 310 West Forty-seventh Street, President of Local 670, the men now receive an average of $5 a day for eight hours. They want an average of $8 a day and double pay for overtime.

The union, which has been organized since 1892 and is affiliated with the A. F. of L., boasts an 80 per cent. membership.

A strike of these engineers would affect office buildings, hotels, large apartment houses, and some industries.

NEWSBOYS GO ON STRIKE.

Mount Vernon Carriers Demand an Advance of 25 Per Cent.

The news delivery boys of Mount Vernon struck yesterday against the twenty-four newspaper dealers of that city for a 25 per cent. increase in their wages.

The dealers say they have raised the boys' wages 50 per cent. in the last year and cannot pay more. They delivered their own papers last night and expect to hire boy strikebreakers.

B. R. T. Confers with Union.

Another conference as to the dispute over wages and other matters was held yesterday afternoon at the offices of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company between officials and a committee of union employes. No final understanding was reached and the conferees will meet again tomorrow morning.

UNION WITH WILSON; ENDS WAGE DEMAND

Hoboken Painters Vote to Forego Advance and Back Up President's Efforts.

DEEM PRESENT WAGES GOOD

President of Organization Tells Workers Rise Would Be Excuse for Higher Rents.

Supporting President Wilson's attitude discouraging demands for higher wages, the painters, paper hangers, and decorators of Hoboken have renounced their intention to ask for an increase of $1.50 a day, and will make the best of their present wage of $6.50.

The painters, paper hangers, and decorators of Hudson County had instituted a referendum to find out the attitude of the various locals in regard to the proposed demand for $8 a day. As a result, Local 78, which comprises most of the workers in Hoboken, held a meeting yesterday afternoon to discuss the matter, and 125 members of 155 voted against the contemplated demand, which was to have been made the first of next month.

Before putting the question to vote Amiel Rateller, the President of the local, addressed the men. He asked them to stand behind the President and not to demand more wages at the present time. The rate of $6.50, he reminded them, was considerably more than they had ever had before, and experience showed that the chief result of increased wages in Hoboken had been higher rents. The landlords would not fail to take advantage of a further rise in wages, and it was the duty of the men to live carefully on their present wages and await a decrease in the high cost of living.

The Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paper Hangers in New York and Brooklyn are demanding $8 a day for a five-day week, and refuse to treat with the association of contractors known as the Association of Master Painters.

No other locals in Hudson County have as yet announced their decision in regard to the contemplated demand for $8 a day on Sept. 1.

BOSTON POLICE ON TRIAL.

Charges Preferred Against Them for Joining a Labor Union.

BOSTON, Aug. 26.—The trial of members of the Policemen's Union on charges of violating department rules by joining a labor union was begun today. Police Commissioner Curtis, as the sole judge, was called upon to pass on the validity of a rule which he laid down that patrolmen, as public officials, have no right to affiliate with outside organizations.

Charges have been preferred against nineteen members of the force. Eight of these, headed by Patrolman John P. McCinnes, President of the union, were tried jointly. Commissioner Curtis said he would give a decision after reviewing the evidence. He declined to hear counsel for the policemen in rebuttal.

Efforts to recruit a volunteer police force, to be available for emergency service, continued today. Ten volunteers were accepted yesterday.

A statement issued by the Policemen's Union said that there was nothing in the obligation which they assumed with membership in the American Federation of Labor at variance with their oath as police officers. The statement ended: "The members of the Boston Policemen's Union intend to do their full duty as police officers in the future, as in the past, and retain their full membership in the American Federation of Labor."

Bricklayers Strike in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 26.—The majority of the 1,500 bricklayers here struck today, tying up practically every large building operation. While no statement was made by the Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers' Union, prominent contracting firms declared that the men are striking for $1.25 an hour, an increase of 37½ cents.

GOMPERS SILENT ON THE PLUMB PLAN

ton tomorrow night, I will deliver an address at one of their meetings.

Speaking of the unsettled labor conditions in the United States, Mr Gompers said:

"Some employers had not yet learned that they were not masters of all they survey. Surely men and women who toil have the right to determine the conditions under which they shall work. The employers have not yet learned the lesson in dealing with the labor question, and we may have to teach them one."

Regarding conditions in Europe the labor leader said that Bolshevism was on the wane.

"In Russia there is no peace, no bread, no land and no work of a compensative character," he added. "The trades unions which tried to do something for the working people were disbanded by the Bolshevists in all the principal cities."

Writes for Ship's Paper.

On the voyage across, Mr. Gompers wrote a short article for the Hatchet, the ship's daily paper, in which he said:

"We cannot return to the pre-war conditions. The white heat of the world war has changed old methods and old concepts. The relations of man in our own country have changed and right, justice, freedom and the opportunity to a better life must be the outcome.

"To accomplish these beneficent results will require the best in every man in whatever walk of life. We do not want and will have no cataclysm. Rational, natural and forward looking must be our course.

Following the interview with the reporters, Mr. Gompers issued this statement regarding his visit to Amsterdam:

"This Amsterdam conference marks a new stage in the progress of labor. The international organization that existed before the war was based upon unequal representation and controlled by the Germans. The new organization for the first time approximates the democratic conception of genuine internationalism. The headquarters have been removed from Berlin to Amsterdam, Holland; a genuinely representative executive has been electd, and a fairly just basis of voting has been laid down for later international congresses.

"The new organization is already something more than a mere framework. It has already taken a firm and unmistakable attitude on what is perhaps the gravest problem of this critical hour—is organized labor to be inveigled into the revolutionary movements that have been showing their heads in every country of Europe as a result of the war. I fear that the public reports of the Amsterdam conference, taken up with the spectacular duel on war responsibilities between the German delegates on the one hand, and the American and Belgian delegates on the other, may have failed to note the remarkable stand taken on Bolshevism and near-Bolshevism. The Bolshevist resolution was killed by the committee of which I was Chairman, the Bolsheviki or semi-Bolsheviki being literally overwhelmed.

"In fact, no acknowledged Bolshevist unions were present for the reason that Bolshevism proper has made very little headway among European labor unions of Russia, Italy and a few minor countries.

Turned Down Strike Move.

"However, there is a far more dangerous near-Bolshevism indorsed by many of the Socialist parties. It was this movement which proposed an international and revolutionary general strike throughout Europe and America July 20 and 21, 1919.

"The Socialists indorsed the idea, but the labor unions in every country of Europe turned it down, with the partial exception of Italy. This proposed general strike was the last hope of the pro-Bolsheviki and other revolutionists in western Europe and proved an absolute fizzle.

"At Amsterdam the near-Bolshevik type of Socialists were represented by the so-called 'free trade unions,' of Germany, with 60,000 members, and the National Secretariat of Holland, with 45,000 members. The two organizations together represented 105,000 out of a total of 17,740,000 labor unionists represented. These figures accurately represent the relative force of labor unionism and Bolshevism in the European labor union movement.

"I am glad to report that these Bolshevists brought their doctrine to a test before one of the committees of the convention. They called for an indorsement of the political or revolutionary strike in language just about as clear and precise as could be asked for, and it was voted down unanimously by all the fourteen nations represented at the conference except the minorities in Holland and Germany."

"The defeated resolution was as follows:

"'The International Congress, responding to the appeal of the working classes of the Soviet countries to support their struggle by means of demonstrations and strikes with a view to force the Imperialist Governments to raise their blockade and stop their military intervention, expresses its satisfaction over the joint efforts undertaken by the proletarian class of several countries on the 21st day of July, and,

"'Resolves to promote and undertake a renewed joint international action for that purpose.'

"The defeat of this proposition means the definite and final repudiation by the organized labor of Europe and America not only of Bolshevism but of the whole effort to involve labor unions in international revolutionary movements of any kind. It is true that the majority of the delegates profess more or less socialistic doctrines but they have finally and definitely repudiated the persistent and ceaseless efforts of the socialist parties to utilize the unions for a revolutionary cataclysm."

LOS ANGELES STRIKERS STAY OUT; MOVE GAINS

Vote to Ignore Orders from Union to Return—Yardmen Quit in Sympathy.

FRESNO, Cal., Aug. 26.—Yardmen employed by the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe railway systems voted to strike at 3 o'clock today, as a protest against the alleged discharging of union members in Los Angeles for refusing to handle cars placed on transfer tracks by non-union men, it was announced by union representatives today.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 26.—All striking railroad men here will ignore instructions of their National Chiefs that they return to work, and will continue their strike, according to a decision reached early today after an all-night meeting. The men based their action on a phrase of the order to return to work which said they need not submit themselves to danger of mob violence. They said to return at present would be dangerous in that respect.

Just one train reached Los Angeles yesterday, a consolidated Santa Fé overland train brought here from Yuma, Ariz., by the grace of strikers.

The Federal Grand Jury is to meet today to consider the strike according to the District Attorney, who said delays of mails would be investigated. The Pacific Electric Company, an interurban road, announced it would have normal daylight service tomorrow, and the Los Angeles Street Railway Company, in a statement, assured its patrons it was restoring normal daylight service.

Rail transportation throughout Southern California as far as Fresno on the North and as far East as Yuma, Ariz., was paralyzed today. A strike which began Thursday night when switchmen and brakemen quit their posts in sympathy with a strike of trainmen of the Pacific Electric Company, operating an interurban system, and which rapidly extended to include other trainmen, yardmen and shopmen, spread last night northward to Bakersfield, Cal., and eastward to Yuma.

NEEDLES, Cal., Aug. 26.—Santa Fé train No. 1, westbound overland, has been held up at Newberry since 1 o'clock this morning, strike sympathizers asserting that fifty men aboard, bound for Los Angeles, were strike breakers. Union men at Barstow said if the men were brought into Barstow the union men there would quit.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 26.—The walkout of trainmen which has tied up railroad traffic between Fresno, Cal., and Yuma, Ariz., and virtually isolated Southern California, tonight spread to San Francisco, when yardmen of the Southern Pacific Railroad went on strike.

The strike here involves switchmen and men caring for engines. Strikers said they quit in sympathy with striking employes of the Pacific Electric Company at Los Angeles, and that the action was taken without sanction of the international brotherhood officials. They said more than 1,000 men here had quit.

Yardmen of the Southern Pacific in Oakland also began leaving their work tonight.

GARY DECLINES TO SEE LABOR MEN

Suggests That Delegation from Youngstown Submit Its Case in Writing.

EXPLAINS HIS STAND

Head of Steel Corporation Disclaims Any Intention of Being Discourteous.

Judge Gary, Chairman of the Board of the United States Steel Corporation, declined yesterday to give a personal interview to the committee representing the steel workers which came East after the taking of a strike vote at Youngstown, with the avowed intention of laying certain demands before the Steel Corporation head.

Judge Gary told the committee, consisting of John Fitzpatrick, who is President of the Chicago Federation of Labor and Chairman of the National Committee for Organizing Iron and Steel Workers; William Z. Foster, Secretary of the National Committee for Organizing Iron and Steel Workers, and D. J. Davis, that the officials would receive and consider any statement which they wished to make in writing.

After the committee departed Judge Gary, when asked concerning the visit, gave out the following statement:

"When informed by my Secretary that a committee of a labor organization consisting of Messrs. John Fitzpatrick, William Z. Foster, and D. J. Davis had requested to see me I sent word to them through my Secretary that I did not care to have a personal interview, but if they had any statement to make and would reduce the same to a written letter it would be received and considered by our officials, who would then consider what, if any, answer to make. Nothing further has passed between us. I think it is better for those gentlemen and for me to leave no chance for misunderstanding in regard to what has been or shall be said. I have intended no personal discourtesy."

Australian Seamen End Strike.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Aug. 25.—The seamen's strike ended today, when at a mass meeting the men decided to remain the ships affected immediately. The strike, which virtually stopped all shipping in Sydney and Melbourne, began several months ago in Queensland. The men demanded higher wages and the release of Secretary Walsh of the Seamen's Union.

WOMAN ORGANIZER KILLED IN A RIOT

Mrs. Sellins of United Mine Workers Shot in Outbreak at Allegheny Mine.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 26.—Two persons were shot to death and a number of others injured in a labor riot at the entrance of the Allegheny Coal and Coke Company mine near Brackenridge late today. Mrs. Fannie Sellins of New Kensington, an organizer of the United Mine Workers of America, and Joseph Spicenkit, a striking miner, were killed.

The trouble was caused by mine guards attempting to disperse miners who have been on a strike for six weeks. Strikers on a hillside above the mine entrance commenced firing at the beginning of the melee, and during the fusillade Mrs. Sellins and the miner were killed. The strikers fled after a short fight.

The Allegheny Coal and Coke Company is owned by a steel company, and operated to supply fuel to the Allegheny Steel Company at Brackenridge.

Mrs. Sellins and the miner who was killed were attempting to protect children who had gathered on the hillside to witness the clash between the guards and the strikers.

According to latest reports several hundred foreigners have gathered near the mine and a score of deputies are attempting to hold them off.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 26.—One killed and two wounded constituted today's developments in the strike of coal miners who are rebelling against fines imposed by operators.

Elmer Ghiardi, 13, was shot and instantly killed and two men, said to be strikers, were hit by bullets when Pleasant Jarman, a negro, engaged in a revolver battle with pickets near the Jones & Adams mine here. Jarman was on his way to work when the crowd of insurgent miners began throwing stones at him. He drew a revolver and fired, then ran, but was overtaken and placed under arrest by Deputy Sheriffs. The two wounded miners were taken to a hospital.

Only a few mines were working in the Springfield subdistrict today.

Orders telegraphed today from State Miners' Headquarters to Secretaries of all coal mine locals in Illinois said charters of all locals which persisted in the present strike on or after Saturday, Aug. 30, woud be revoked.

Decision to expel recalcitrant locals, it was said, came at a meeting of the Executive Board of the Illinois District in Chicago, acting on authority granted by the international organization.

PLEDGES LABOR'S FORCE TO ACTORS

actors. "If they could express their will they would speak out for you," he said. "One of the managers said to Florine Arnold, 'I admire your principles.' Everybody in the Producing Managers' Association is for the actors except the Shuberts and Erlanger. They speak the word, and, unfortunately for themselves and for us, the rest are only rubber stamps, because these men control the booking interests of the country."

"If the strike is not settled within a month," said John Emerson, "a coöperative plan will be the outcome. The whole theatre situation of the country will be revolutionized, and the actors will be associated with the authors. The only non-essential element is the manager."

The announced ambition of the Equity to be "on Broadway with an all-star cast" will soon be realized, it is now said. This will take the form of an all-star production of "The School for Scandal" at the Garrick Theatre next month, with John Drew as Sir Peter Teazle; Ethel Barrymore as Lady Teazle; John Barrymore as Charles Surface, and Lionel Barrymore as Joseph Surface. It has been the ambition of the Barrymore-Drew family to make this production for a number of years.

The Charles Frohman Company has called Miss Barrymore for rehearsals of a new comedy this morning, and announced yesterday that it would open at the Empire Theatre on Sept. 29. It is not thought, however, that Miss Barrymore will respond to the rehearsal call. There is said to be a possibility, in fact, that the Empire Theatre may house an Equity production, since control of the Charles Frohman Company recently passed into the hands of the Famous Players-Lasky Pictures Corporation, and that company is known to be considering a campaign of stage production in association with a group of playwrights.

Further enlarging their production activities, the actors announced yesterday that they would take over the Auditorium Theatre in Chicago next Monday, offering a vaudeville program such as that given in the Lexington. There is also in rehearsal in Chicago at present a company to revive "A Gentleman from Mississippi" in Chicago and nearby cities. The cast will be made up of players who had been appearing in Chicago, including Thomas A. Wise, Grant Mitchell, William Courtenay, and Hazel Dawn.

New Fidelity Members.

The Actors' Fidelity League held another overflowing meeting last night at the Hotel Biltmore, and announcement was made that the membership was up to 1,630. One of those who joined yesterday was Adelaide Wilson, daughter of Francis Wilson, head of the Equity Association. Others who became members included Bessie McCoy Davis, Maurice, the dancer; Jane Gray, Gilda Gray, Peggy Hopkins, and Jess Dandy.

Jane Cowl, who was announced as a member of the Fidelity, said yesterday that she had not joined. Although condemning the Equity's course, Miss Cowl said that she was still a member of that association. Julia Dean was another player who had been announced as a Fidelity member, but who yesterday issued a denial.

Among Equity members considerable capital is being made of the fact that the Fidelity contains within its ranks a number of players who are relatives of managers or the partners of managers in productions. Among those missing from the new association, however, is Grace George, who is Mrs. William A. Brady in private life, and the gossip about the Playhouse is that her failure to join the new body is due to this very tendency of the rival actors to discount the enlistment of managers' wives. Jane Cowl, who also has not joined the Fidelity, is the wife of Adolph Klauber, whose production of "Nightie Night" at the Princess Theatre was prevented by the strike.

A statement given out yesterday by Paul N. Turner, counsel for the Equity, declared that the decision of Justice Hendrick on Monday would have little effect on the situation.

"The decision does not deal with the merits of the controversy," Mr. Turner's statement said. "The defenses of the actors were not before him for consideration. His opinion rested solely upon the complaints and affidavits of the managers. The injunctions to issue are not permanent, but temporary. They operate solely to maintain the status quo until a trial is held upon the merits of the case, at which time all factions will be examined in due form and the merits of our defenses considered. These defenses could not be definitely presented at this time."

Morris Gest, charged with assault by Alexander Frank, an actor, was discharged yesterday following a hearing of the evidence before Magistrate Sweetser.

STATE LABOR BODY BACKS ACTORS' STRIKE

Ed. Wynn Attacks Managers at Convention—6-Hour Day Urged —Governor Offers Slogan.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 26.—A plea by Governor Alfred E. Smith that organized labor stand by the Government in these critical days, informal advocacy of a six-hour workday by President James P. Holland as a means of solving the unemployment problem, and extension of sympathy and support to striking actors marked today's session of the annual convention of the State Federation of Labor.

Arthur Hammerstein and J. J. Shubert, New York theatrical producers, were attacked at great length at this morning's session by Ed Wynn, the famous comedian.

Wynn's appearance on the platform, together with Marie Dressler and De Witt C. Jennings of the Actors' Equity Association, which has closed virtually all theatres in New York and Chicago by its strike, was the sensation of the opening session.

Governor Smith sat with President James P. Holland of the federation and Mayor Strong of Syracuse on the platform at the front of the convention hall and warmly applauded the speakers.

Following their addresses the convention, amid cheers that shook the Hotel Onondaga, adopted resolutions declaring the Actors' Equity Association to be the only legitimate organization affiliated to and recognized by the American Federation of Labor. The convention appointed the following committee to consider all matters relative to the strike and to make a report with recommendations to the main body.

State Industrial Commissioner James M. Lynch of Syracuse; Charles C. Shay of New York, President of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes; James Lemke of New York, a general organizer of the same association; Ernest Bohm, Secretary of the New York City Central Federation of Labor; Edward Canovan of the New York Musicians' Union; Robert Brudell of the Dock Builders' Union of New York, and De Witt C. Jennings of the Actors' Equity Association.

Thinks 6-Hour Day the Solution.

Just before the convention was called to order President James P. Holland made a statement to newspaper men in which he declared himself in favor of a six-hour day for workers as the only means of solving the unemployment problem.

Governor Smith spoke early in the convention. His address was made up almost entirely of commendation because of labor's loyal stand during the war and in the reconstruction period.

Governor Smith, assuring the delegates that profiteering would be stopped, suggested that "organized labor in this State be an agency for carrying to our people the message that every citizen owes a duty to the country at this time." The Governor proposed that the slogan of the convention be "Patriotism before personal interest."

Governor Smith stated he would address the convention tomorrow on industrial reform legislation and present a plan suggested by the State Reconstruction Commission for creation of a State Commission on Arbitration and Mediation.

Charles C. Shay, President of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage workers, brought up the actors' strike by stating that the Actors' Equity Association had three delegates present. Miss Dressler, Mr. Wynn, and Mr. Jennings then walked to the rostrum. They were greeted with a volley of cheers, Governor Smith standing and extending a hand of welcome to the trio. Miss Dressler was the first of the Equity's representatives to speak. She said:

"Thirty years ago I was in the chorus. In fact, in the old days most of the talent came from the chorus, but it does not come from there now. Talent must have brains, and conditions in the chorus today are such that brains will not start there.

"I have seen managers in their greed rush a theatre for a production so as to have the seats for the audience ready for an advertised date, and yet when the show opened there was not a single dressing room for the actors."

Mr. Wynn denounced Arthur Hammerstein and J. J. Shubert in particular and all producers in general. He told how he gave up vacations to work on play manuscripts for them, converting failures into success and playing in them himself.

MOVIE HOUSES THREATENED.

Operators in Chicago Will Vote on Sympathy Strike.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—Local 101 of the Moving Picture Operators' Union is to vote at midnight tonight on the question of closing all the picture theatres in sympathy with the strike of the actors, stagehands, musicians, and billposters. Officials of the union said today that they would oppose a strike, but that the men were eager to go out.

Samuel E. Hardy, a New York actors' strike leader, set up an office in the Auditorium Hotel today and announced that the Equity Association was preparing to present the actors' own shows and to hire theatres.

The strike contempt hearing before Master in Chancery Sigmund Zeisler was continued today until Sept. 2.

WALKOUT AT ATLANTIC CITY.

Stage Hands Quit Between Acts of 'Listen, Lester,' Despite Injunction.

ATLANTIC CITY, Aug. 26.—The injunction issued by Vice Chancellor Backes on Saturday night did not prevent the stage hands at the Apollo Theatre from walking out tonight between the first and second acts of "Listen, Lester," following, it is said, telegraphic orders from their leaders in New York City.

Frederick Moore, manager of the theatre, and John Cort, producer of the play, were taken entirely by surprise by the action of the men, as they believed themselves secure behind the injunction.

They proved equal to the emergency, however, and arranged the "props" between the acts, while the audience remained ignorant of the strike.

WESTCHESTER ROAD GRANTS DEMANDS

Motormen and Conductors Will Receive the Wages Paid on Steam Roads.

MEN ACCEPT NINE-HOUR DAY

Threat to Tie Up the New Haven a Factor in the Settlement—Service Resumed.

Normal service on the New York, Westchester & Boston Railway, which had been tied up for five days through a strike of the motormen and conductors, was resumed at 1:25 o'clock this morning. A settlement was effected late last evening after negotiations lasting continuously for more than thirty hours. The men struck because their demand for the same wages that are paid to similar classes of labor on the Federalized steam railroads was refused.

The men won the rate of pay they asked for, and they also gained some technical advantages in other respects, but they conceded to the company a nine-hour day instead of the eight-hour day which they wanted. On Aug. 17 the company advanced the rate of pay 25 per cent., but the men were not satisfied and demanded steam railroad rates, which the company said it could not pay because it would mean an additional increase of 30 per cent. The men denied this and during the conference yesterday statisticians of the Public Service Commission submitted a table showing that the increase asked for would amount to only about 9 per cent., which, with the 25 per cent. already granted, would mean an advance of about 34 per cent., which many of the conferees deemed reasonable.

But the main incentive for an adjustment of the controversy in favor of the men was a well-founded fear that if the strike should be long continued that the men employed on the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, which owns 98 per cent. of the stock of the New York, Westchester & Boston, would also strike. L. G. Griffing, Assistant Grand Chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, expressed fear that this would come about, because the men were all members of the same unions, and strikes were now the fashion.

Accepts Less Drastic Advance.

L. S. Miller, President of the Westchester line, was determined to resist the demands of the men and he had been indorsed by the New Haven officials. But his position was based on the belief that the increase demanded would amount to 30 per cent., and when he learned that it meant only an increase of approximately 9 per cent. his attitude became conciliatory.

Prior to Aug. 17, when the men received the advance of 25 per cent., motormen received $5.50 a day and conductors $4.50. Under the new rate for motormen, which is based on mileage, the minimum wage is $6, and the man can earn as much as $8.50. A statement of the new rates, prepared after the agreement was signed, reads:

"The compromise settlement which was reached provides that nine hours or less shall constitute a day's work for motormen, motor switchmen and helpers in passenger and freight service. The minimum wage for a nine-hour day for the class of employes named will be: Motormen, $6; motor switchmen, $5; helpers, $4.

"All time in excess of the day of nine hours will be paid for as overtime, but at the rate of one-eighth of the daily rate, computed on the minute basis, to begin when the men report for duty and to end at the close of the last run of the day.

"Nine hours is also to constitute a day's work for conductors and trainmen, and the rates are to be as follows: Passenger conductors, $6; freight conductors, $5.40; flagmen and brakemen in freight service, $4.08.

"The same rule as to overtime is to prevail in respect of the above classes of employes that applies to the motormen and motor switchmen, with an addition as to the rate of pay for a conductor making a special run. In such a case the conductors will receive for overtime $1.87 for a minimum not exceeding two and a half hours, and on the basis of extra time if the run exceeds the two and a half hour period."

Statement Called Important.

A statement also made by the Public Service Commission says:

"The successful termination of this strike is regarded as of the highest importance in that it has removed a fear that more than a thousand motormen and conductors on the main line of the New Haven Railroad might strike in sympathy with the employes of the Westchester and Boston. The latter railroad is owned by the New Haven."

Public Service Commissioner Lewis Nixon is ill at home with a severe cold. In his absence his deputies, Alfred M. Barrett and Edward G. Glennon, took the lead in composing the difficulties. They were assisted by Terence Farley, counsel to the commission, and by practically all of the Commission's office force. Mr. Nixon was kept informed of the progress made and many of the moves toward success were made at his direction.

Besides Mr. Griffing the men were represented by T. R. Dodge, assistant to the President of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen; J. H. Wilson, Chairman of the General Committee of Adjustment, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; R. T. Clarkson, General Chairman of the Adjustment Committee of the Railway Trainmen, and Joseph V. McKee, counsel for the strikers. The company was represented by its President, L. S. Miller; its Superintendent, P. W. J. Smith, and its counsel, George S. Graham, J. B. Knox, and Ralph Polk Buell.

On Tuesday afternoon the company had employed men to take the place of the strikers and they were being trained with the expectation that they would be ready to operate trains within forty-eight hours. The company was warned that this might precipitate a strike of 1,500 employes on the New Haven road. Mr. Miller expressed willingness to take back all of the strikers whose places had not been filled should an agreement be reached on the other points. This was refused and the agreement signed yesterday provides that all of the strikers shall be restored to their places without prejudice and without loss of seniority.

The road traverses Central Westchester County and serves White Plains, New Rochelle, Mount Vernon, Scarsdale, and parts of the Bronx, with a terminal at 133d Street. It carries about 15,000 passengers a day.

HOUSE REPUBLICANS IN PARTY WRANGLE

Hold Up Consideration of Mondell's Bill to Give Land to Soldiers.

FORDNEY ATTACKS WILSON

Mr. Esch Assures Meeting Plumb Plan Will Not Be Recommended.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—At a confeernce tonight behind closed doors House Republicans decided by a large majority not to allow further consideration of the bill introduced by their floor leader, Mr. Mondell, sending former soldiers "back to the land," until another conference had been held upon the measure. The move came as a complete surprise to Mr. Mondell, and it was only on his earnest plea that the action was subsequently rescinded. He argued that it would damage the Republicans in the eyes of the nation if it were known that the Republican House had postponed action upon the only piece of legislation introduced at this session to benefit the discharged soldiers.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon was one of the first who mentioned the bill and he declared that he was opposed to its being considered as a Republican measure. Then, without any warning whatever, Representative Nichols of Michigan, a member of the Public Lands Committee, which considered the bill, and one of the signers of the minority report which characterized the measure as "reclamation scheme," suddenly put in a resolution demanding that consideration of the bill be deferred until after the meeting of the American Legion in Minneapolis.

There was a long wrangle, in which Mr. Mondell shared, and finally on motion of Martin Madden of Illinois, the Republicans passed a resolution declaring that the bill should not be taken up again until after another Republican conference had considered it. There were some bitter passages during this discussion.

Later Mr. Mondell arose and earnestly pleaded with the caucus to reconsider its action requiring another party conference on the bill.

"From a party standpoint," he said, "it would be most unfortunate to have word go forth to the country that the Republicans in Congress had decided to postpone, at least for the present, any further action on the only bill that has been introduced this session in behalf of the discharged soldiers of the army."

Mr. Nichols said he was willing to withdraw his motion provided that it was understood as a gentleman's agreement that the bill would not be taken up unless another conference had been held upon it. To this Mr. Mondell pledged his word. "Uncle Joe" Cannon, however, declared that the Public Lands Committee had promised not to report out the bill until after a party conference, but had broken that promise.

Chairman Good of the Appropriations Committee made the point that as a general proposition no bill should be taken up involving an additional levy on the Treasury of more than $500,000 except after conference. He said Senator Smoot had informed him several days ago that besides the Soldier Settlement bill and the Civil Service Retirement bill, and without repealing any of the present taxes, the Government this fiscal year would have to borrow $6,500,000,000.

The conference then agreed to reconsider its vote. The situation now is that without a formal vote, the Republicans have decided to bar the bill from consideration until a conference is held. This conference, it is understood, on motion of Mr. Fess of Ohio, Chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, will be held next week to reorganize that organization.

During the meeting tonight a fiery speech was made by Representative Reavis of Kansas, reflecting the bitter disappointment he incurred some weeks ago when thirty Republicans voted for the Kelly amendment, allowing Secretary Baker to use the parcel post in sending out army food which Representative Reavis's sub-committee had declared the Secretary had withheld from the American people.

"Do you suppose Newton Baker never heard of the parcel post?" queried Mr. Reavis. "The sub-committee had discussed this and decided against such an amendment for two reasons. In the first place we did not wish to aid the Secretary in shouldering off responsibility he had incurred for nine months. In the second place we did not think the parcel post feasible. We came in here and the Kelly amendment was fastened on. Now the Democratic National Committee sends out patent insides to newspapers, saying the Secretary was only waiting for Congress to suggest some plan to him.

"If we make other recommendations, we don't want to come in here and be crucified by our own party. For God's sake stand with us!"

The Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, Mr. Fordney of Michigan, said he saw no need of Republicans remaining here and passing measures suggested by a Democratic President.

"We should go away in thirty days and remain until Christmas," said he. "Woodrow Wilson will never send any legislation to a Republican Congress that does not bear a Democratic stamp. He's not built that way. He's a political trickster."

Alluding to what he called the incompetency of the War Risk Bureau, Mr. Fordney said a discharged soldier had come to him and informed him that although he had been out of the service six months he was still receiving allotment checks.

"He asked me what he should do about it," said Mr. Fordney. "I told him to hang on to the checks so long as they kept coming to him and then turn them over to me and I would start an inquiry."

Great applause was provoked by Chairman Esch of the House Interstate Commerce Committee when he told the caucus that the Plumb Plan was not going to be adopted by the committee as a means of solving the railroad problem. It would be necessary, he said, for the committee to continue hearings for about three weeks longer, after which it would get to work in preparing a bill which "will not embody the features of any single plan that has been proposed, but the best features out of every plan."

The question of credit, of labor, and of financing the roads through the period of transition back to private ownership, he said, are giving the committee the most concern.

"The labor situation," he said, "may become a crucial one within the next few days, and developments may occur that will test the fibre of this Congress."

Representative Greene of Vermont, who represented the Military Affairs Committee in the absence of Chairman Julius Kahn, said:

"Don't you be worried by the rumors that come from all directions about the committee intending to impose upon you and upon the Republican party the burden of a tremendous standing army. I doubt very much if we shall approve a standing army half the size of the 500,000 strength demanded by the War Department."

Representative Greene urged prompt action on the bill to allow the War Department a temporary force of 6,000 emergency officers, "so as to relieve the Republican Congress of the charge so often made that we are embarrassing the department while it is trying to clean house after this war." He urged prompt action on the bill giving General Pershing the rank of General for life.

Representative Knutson, the Republican whip, in describing a plan to have secretaries hunt down absent Republicans and call them when their votes were needed said:

"There is a Republican majority of 47 in the House but today 31 Republicans were absent and no one knew where they were. There was no trace of them. There should be a Republican majority of 15 to 20 on the floor every minute. Every hour or so I go into the Democratic cloakroom and see how many Democrats are on the floor, and if necessary, I send a call to the Republicans by telephone."

Speaking of Republican mistakes, he said that the other day he saw something he never had witnessed before in his career in the House—"a Democratic motion to adjourn carried by a Republican vote."

"Stand by the Chairman of your party," he cried. "Stand by your party. The measures we have are carefully thought out and will help us in 1920. It's honest to God Republican legislation, and you should support it. I care not what the proposition is.

"There is one man on the Republican side who has not been here since June, and he's not sick, either. You must watch the Democrats or they'll put over an amendment on us. They're working at it all the time. They've got the greatest outfit of big burglars and hot air artists on that side imaginable."

The tariff was championed by Mr. Fordney. He said the Ways and Means Committee now had six tariff bills on its schedules. He insisted that these should be passed without delay to protect industries that "are languishing for lack of such protection—industries with hundreds of millions of dollars tied up in their business."

Opposition developed toward the bill to pension civil service employes. "Uncle Joe" Cannon and Representative Tincher of Kansas both made caustic remarks about the measure.

BURN WAGONS IN STREET.

Box Companies' Vehicles Destroyed—Employes on Strike.

A wagon owned by the Paper Box Novelty Company, of 209 Sullivan Street, and loaded with paper boxes, was burned at University Place and Eighth Street yesterday morning. The horse that had been drawing the vehicle was found unhitched a short distance from the wagon. Patrolman Doyle, of the Mercer Street Station said the wagon probably had been fired by unidentified persons.

Another wagon, loaded with paper boxes, owned by the Alsace Paper Box Company, 28 Waverly Place, was set afire late yesterday afternoon and left burning in front of the premises. The horse which had been attached to the wagon was taken from the shaft and was later found a distance away at Greene Street and University Place.

The drivers and employes of the Alsace Company are out on a strike, in common with box makers generally in the city. A crowd which had assembled about the blaze dispersed when policemen arrived from the Mercer Street Station. No arrests were made.

Killed in B. R. T. Collision.

Fred Dix, a motor switchman on the Brooklyn Rapid Transit lines, was killed last night in a collision between two trains on the East New York loop, at Jamaica Avenue and Broadway. An empty train of the Broadway line sideswiped a train of the Fulton Street line and threw two cars off the track. Dix, who was on the tracks, was caught under one of the trains.

EYES OF FRANCE ON SENATE ACTION

By CHARLES A. SELDEN.

today after the August vacation, lost no time getting to a discussion of the Peace Treaty with Germany. That document is likely to have much less difficult sledding in the French Parliament than it is getting in the American Senate. But that assumption should be stated with this reservation: The French Parliament may go slow to see what Washington intends to do; because the failure of America to ratify the treaty or its ratification with radical amendments would probably have its bearing on the action of the French Parliament.

This observation applies more particularly to what America may do with the agreement between America, England, and France for the protection of France in case of need against German aggression, without waiting for action by the League of Nations. As a matter of fact, France is much more interested in that agreement than in that portion of the German treaty which contains the covenant of the League of Nations.

If America fails to ratify that triple agreement then it is likely that the French Parliament will delay the ratification of the treaty to make a fight to get the League covenant amended by inserting its favorite provision for an international General Staff and an international military force. That was the provision which Léon Bourgeois, a French delegate to the Peace Conference and the representative of France on the League of Nations Commission, fought for six months to get inserted in the covenant. He worked in vain because of the refusal of President Wilson and Colonel House to consent to the creation of a League so militaristic as that proposed by Bourgeois. Last Winter Bourgeois had the backing of Clemenceau, but when Clemenceau and Bourgeois were assured by Oscar S. Straus, as a friend of Wilson and an enthusiast for the League of Nations, that they would have to modify their plan for a League or run the risk of having no League at all, they gave in, and the clauses providing for an international General Staff and an international military force were thrown into the discard.

Many French statesmen still regret that fact and would change it if opportunity offered. No doubt in the discussion of the treaty that has begun in the French Parliament there will be various reservations and amendments suggested, including one to incorporate the discarded bourgeois scheme in the covenant; but, if France was sure America was going to ratify the Versailles treaty with the covenant as it stood, not much headway would be made in the Chamber of Deputies in the direction of any radical changes in the treaty.

Clemenceau himself wants the treaty to go through as it is, and quickly, provided similar action is taken in Washington, and Clemenceau has won too many votes of confidence in the last eight months when his enemies thought they had him beaten to give any ground for fear now that he will not continue to have his way till the treaty is ratified and the present Parliament goes out of existence.

If no excuse is given in Washington for delay or hesitation in Paris it is taken for granted that the treaty will be ratified by the French Parliament by the middle of next month. But if President Wilson loses his fight there is no telling what will happen here. With the American refusal to enter the European situation permanently by way of the League of Nations, and especially with America's refusal to enter the three-power agreement to protect France in an emergency, the French would want a new deal.

No doubt Clemenceau would insist on something stronger in the League covenant to take the place of the military agreement between France, England and America. This side of the Atlantic there would be as much insistence on making Article X. of the League covenant stronger as there is in America to make it weaker.

ASK WALSH TO FIGHT TREATY.

Massachusetts Democrats Want 'English League of Nations Defeated.'

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Aug. 26.—Francis J. Finneran, President of the Democratic Club of Massachusetts, and about a score of Democratic members of the Massachusetts Legislature today united in a telegram to United States Senator David I. Walsh, requesting him to vote against the "English League of Nations." The text of the telegram follows:

"Red-blooded Massachusetts Democracy expects you, whose Americanism has never been questioned, to vote against the English League of Nations which wreckers of our party are attempting to force through the Senate."

The President is satisfied that the Shantung amendment will be defeated. I expect—and I told him this—to see at least a dozen Republicans stand with us against it.

"What the committee does with amendments is a matter of no concern. The vote in the Senate is what will count. The committee has been holding a number of inconsequential hearings so that persons who have asked to appear might be heard. The Senators did not want to refuse them an audience. But these hearings are now nearly at an end.

"If the Shantung amendment were brought up in the Senate tomorrow the advocates of the treaty would be ready to defeat it. Senator McCumber, in his speech in the Senate today, put the nail into the Shantung coffin. I know of many Senators who share the views expressed by Mr. McCumber, and that will vote with him against the amendment."

As showing the inclination of the committee to expedite the treaty, Mr. Hitchcock referred to the action today upon the Fall amendments. After one of them had been adopted, he said, the other forty-nine were adopted en bloc, to save time, being of the same general nature. Other amendments to the body of the treaty would be voted upon, he said, within the next few days.

With the treaty out of committee, Mr. Hitchcock said, he believed President Wilson would soon start upon his swing-around-the-circle in support of it.

"The President talked of his trip, and from what he said I infer that he may start upon it when the treaty is before the Senate," said Mr. Hitchcock. "Originally, I was not in favor of the President going away from the capital while the treaty fight was on. But the President's conference with the Foreign Relations Committee met with such marked success last week that I think there are large probabilities of further effect from a trip throughout the country.

"I know that the President, from the attitude he has taken at the various White House conferences, has impressed a number of Republicans in the Senate. He evidently has made converts among them. I look for the same general effect in his contemplated trip. While the President did not say definitely that he would go, I believe, from the way he talked, that he may do so."

Speaking of the necessity of getting quick action upon the treaty in the Senate, Mr. Hitchcock said that, whether it was ratified or not, the country wanted it disposed of, so that after-war reconstruction problems could be taken up. The country, he said, was impatient for the Senate to act.

Bernard Baruch, who was a financial adviser to the American delegates at Paris and who stood beside Mr. Hitchcock as he talked to newspaper men at the White House today, remarked:

"Yes, it is important to have the treaty out of the way to lay the basis for attacking the high cost of living problem."

Mr. Hitchcock discussed the processes through which the treaty would go in reaching a final vote. First, he said, after the treaty had been reported out by the committee, would come the voting on the various amendments, such as the Shantung amendment and those offered by Mr. Fall. There will be 150 or more amendments to the body of the treaty, some reported out by the committee, others by individual Senators.

The Senate will vote upon each amendment in turn, a majority vote being required to adopt them. After the amendments have been disposed of the ratifying resolution, framed by the committee, will come up. Before a final vote is taken upon that there will be amendments put in embodying reservations. Some of these will be reported out by the committee, while various Senators are expected to have others to offer. These amendments, like those attacking the body of the treaty, will require a majority vote.

"On all of the direct amendments," said Senator Hitchcok, "the advocates of the treaty can count upon at least forty Democratic votes and those of twenty Republicans to defeat them. Not one of the amendments will be adopted. As to the amendments that take the form of reservations, as a part of the ratifying resolution, there will be the same alignment of forces, if the amendments are such as to strike at the treaty itself and thus send it back to the Paris Conference.

"As to any reservations that would not recommit the treaty to the Paris Conference, I cannot say. It may be that interpretative reservations would be accepted. But regarding the attempt to amend the treaty, I told the President that I could assure him that it would fail.

"The treaty will be ratified and there will be no changes in it. The President is convinced of that, and so are the advocates of the treaty in the Senate."

for further hearings which will consume a week or so more? The purpose is apparent. It is to signify to the country that the Senate is hostile to this treaty. It is to put Japan in a position where she cannot, without an appearance of being coerced, do what she has promised to do. It is to create trouble between this country and Japan and thereby send the first dagger thrust into the body of this treaty. I cannot but believe that the plan will fail, because I know it ought to fail.

"Is it an act of true friendship toward China, or a mere political move to defeat the treaty? If its sponsors now fail to come forward and openly pledge that if Japan is driven out of this treaty then the United States will proceed, single-handed and alone, to drive Japan out of China, will renew this world war and send our soldiers into the Orient to fight for her, then by this act they are betraying China with a false kiss.

"If, on the other hand, they declare they will make war to drive Japan out of China, to prevent Japan receiving only those rights which the other great nations of the world have received, then they are proclaiming a policy which they have assailed as being the most wicked part of the League of Nations—a policy of interference with the quarrels of other nations. Worse than that, while they violently condemn a joint agreement with the other great nations of the world to shield the great white race from annihilation, they would send our sons to death to defend the inferior yellow race, whom we claim to be so inferior as to be unfit to associate with us. They know, and we know, that this country will never go to war against Japan to prevent Japan from doing just what we have allowed every other nation to do in China without a protest.

"Driving Japan Out of the Treaty."

"So we are right up against this proposition, and the cleavage is clear and definite. Either we will bring both Japan and China into this League of Nations, which, by the very terms of its provisions, will compel Japan to return to China all the German rights acquired by Japan, not only by conquest but by the solemn agreement made by her with China herself, or you will drive Japan out of this treaty, and she will not be bound by the obligations which she would assume by joining the league. Japan would be holding the German territory and all German interests by the right of conquest and, with the broken word of China, work her way to the very limit of subjugation of all the Chinese territory not now within the sphere of influence of other powers.

"With this League of Nations China obtains assurance which is tantamount to a guarantee by all the world that not only will Japan return to China what Germany wrested from her in 1898, but henceforth and so long as this League shall last no other nation shall rob China of one inch of her territory or exercise any control over her people inconsistent with the claims of complete independence and sovereignty."

Senator McCumber went into the history of Germany's acquisition of the Shantung Peninsula privileges, granted under the treaty with China of 1898 after German missionaries had been murdered in China, and of the agreement entered into in 1915 between Great Britain and Farnce to support Japan in a claim to the Shantung privileges if the Tokio Government would enter the war with the Allies. China also agreed, under the treaty of May 25, 1915, Mr. McCumber said, to yield to Japan these rights if Japan could wrest the peninsula from German control.

Japan seized the peninsula and, therefore, Mr. McCumber said, was clearly entitled to the privileges promised her. China undoubtedly would have preferred not to turn the former German rights over to any other nation, the Senator said, but she felt impelled to promise them to Japan when the latter agreed to accomplish the overthrow of Germany on the peninsula—a thing China herself could not undertake to do.

"Of course it would be a gracious act if Japan, who has paid all the cost in blood and treasure of wresting these interests from Germany, would turn everything back to China," said Mr. McCumber, "but that must be done through the willingness of Japan and because Japan has brought herself to do so.

"By this amendment you make it almost impossible for Japan to comply with her own agreement with China to return the Shantung rights to China without suffering humiliation and by sacrificing the respect and natural pride of her people. By this amendment you proceed to set aside a compact entered into between two nations of the Eastern Hemisphere, in which we were in no way connected. By this amendment you declare that Japan cannot be trusted to keep sacred her word, given not only to China alone, but also given to the United States and every other important nation be reiterated declarations. The act was not only grossly discourteous but is the act of a big bully intent on either forcing war or compelling a disgraceful surrender.

"I declare most emphatically that if this treaty is signed by China and Japan and becomes a world compact, Japan must and will return German leasehold interests and concessions to China. She cannot escape that obligation, and will not escape it. Only the breach of her treaty with China, as you would break it by this amendment, and the forcing of Japan out of the League, as you would force her out of it by this amendment, would relieve her from this duty and virtually compel her, through the demand of her insulted people, to hold everything she has secured by conquest from Germany."

Sees Purpose to Kill the Treaty.

Asserting that the adoption of the Shantung amendment would kill the treaty, Mr. McCumber said:

"I have no quarrel with or criticism of those who are opposed to the League of Nations as to the methods they may employ to bring about its demise. Their purpose is death, and they are pursuing what they believe to be the surest way to effectuate that purpose. If, controlled by overpowering prejudices, they are willing to take the chance of another such awful catastrophe upon the plains of Europe, the land of our fathers, rather than have us join the European powers to prevent it, or if, guided by their reason, they really believe we are surrendering anything we ought not to surrender for such a purpose, they may find a satisfactory reason for playing the rôle of Brutus driving the shining blade into the heart of Caesar.

"I know they declare that this wound will not be fatal, but I know that the dagger is poisoned; and if the poison operates as they expect it to, it does mean death to the treaty.

"There is but one honorable, upright, and proper course to be pursued by all the great nations of the world, including China and Japan. Let China keep her treaty; give Japan an opportunity to do what [illegible] has pledged her national honor to do, cease this attemt to juggle this country into war with Japan; defeat this proposed amendment which arrogates to ourselves the right to annul a treaty between China and Japan and sets at naught a treaty made during the stress of battle between our co-belligerents and Japan before we entered into the war.

"Bring Japan and China into this world League, and, as sure as the sun shall rise tomorrow, Japan will keep her plighted faith, China will receive complete present justice and assured future protection.

"On the other hand, force this breach of contract by China, drive Japan out of the League by insulting her honor, relieve her from her treaty by first breaking it yourselves, and thereby installing her in her impregnable position of right of conquest, and China is doomed. The other European nations cannot help her, because they are tied by their own treaties, and you will not make war on Japan to help China after she has broken her treaty.

"If these be the friends of China, then God save China from her friends."

Borah Derides McCumber's Defense.

Senator Borah, replying to Mr. McCumber, asserted that when it was first known that the Shantung privileges had been turned over to Japan under the treaty, there "was no one found anywhere to defend the act."

"Even the able exponents of the treaty did not defend the act when it was known that this particular provision was in the treaty," said Mr. Borah.

"No member of the peace delegation at Paris has ever defended it other than upon the proposition that it was the only thing that could be done to secure Japan's signature to the League of Nations or to the treaty.

"All the members of the peace delegation, so far as we are now advised, were opposed to the settlement. Three members of the peace delegation wrote a protest or argument against it. The President himself has been very prompt in saying that it was wholly unsatisfactory to him. I take it, therefore, that there was something in the situation and in the fact that led the representatives of America to the belief that this was an unjust, unfair, and immoral settlement, and it was undoubtedly so regarded.

"Those who recall the President's message upon his return to this country and recall the particular paragraph in which he said there were some things impossible of settlement in accordance with his views or with the views of justice and correct principles, must bear in mind that conditions were found which could not be changed.

"This is the first defense that we have had of the Shantung affair upon the grounds of justice and morality. It is the first defense which has been made upon the theory that it was the only correct, wise, and just thing to do."

Senator McKellar, Democrat, of Tennessee, asked Mr. Borah what method he would suggest to enforce the Shantung adjustment if the Lodge amendment were adopted and agreed upon by the other signatory nations, except Japan.

"I am not seeking for any method by which to enforce the treaty," replied Mr. Borah. "The Senator from Idaho is desirous of relieving the United States, as a Government, from the burden of obligation of undertaking to maintain that which he conceives to be founded in immorality. If we make the treaty, and Japan refuses to accede to it, in my opinion, the treaty will fail, and a new treaty will have to be written."

"But Japan has taken over by force of arms this province, formerly in control of Germany," argued Mr. McKellar, "and if we undertake to give it by treaty to China, Japan, being in possession of it, will simply tell us to go to, and we will have to go to war to carry out our view of the situation."

Says Amendment Doesn't Mean War.

"No, we will not have to go to war to do anything of the kind," returned Mr. Borah. "If Japan does not accede to it, we have relieved ourselves of what I conceive to be an immoral thing in undertaking to give it to Japan instead of China. To use a popular phrase, our skirts are clean, and we have no reason to go further than to do that.

"Now, this Shantung settlement is regarded as a thing imposed upon the American delegation by the law of necessity. I can easily understand how the President would be willing to indorse it because he regarded that a greater thing to be accomplished was getting the signature of Japan to the treaty and to the League of Nations. Viewing the League of Nations as he does, I can understand how the President would regard it necessary to do what he undoubtedly thought was an improper thing, to accomplish what he considered a better thing. Neither the President nor any one else, except the able Senator from North Dakota, (Mr. McCumber,) has up until this time undertaken to justify this upon any ground other than expediency—an expediency which was based upon concededly unjust and immoral principles."

Shantung as Another Poland.

Senator Borah quoted from an editorial in THE NEW YORK TIMES, published before the Shantung provision was written into the treaty, to the effect, as Mr. Borah analyzed it, that the United States might better "not become a party to it."

"At that time there seemed to be a conviction here that it was perhaps not the business of the United States to travel about over the earth and adjust treaties which had been made or to undertake to reconcile conflicting interests among foreign nations," the Senator said. "It was believed that the United States could not afford to indorse and confirm and, under the League of Nations, pledge itself to underwrite and maintain such a transaction as that of Shantung. The great wrong to Poland threw its shadow far into the future and had much to do with conditions in 1914. Have we not been told time and time again that Alsace-Lorraine was the one cancer which was eating away at European morality and honor, and that until it was righted no peace could prevail in Europe?

"Yet, while we are pledging the people of the earth that we are building a scheme for universal peace, we are putting into the very heart of the covenant and into the transaction itself a scheme infinitely worse than either Alsace-Lorraine or Poland; for Poland was dismembered and divided by antagonistic nations; Alsace-Lorraine was the fruit of war and conflict, and a brutal and powerful enemy saw fit to take it away; but Shantung is taken from an ally, and over the solemn pledge of those who are engaged in the war with her to protect her rights."

Mr. Borah quoted President Wilson as having said that "self-determination is not a mere phrase, but an imperative principle of action which statesmen will ignore at their peril."

"By interfering with China's affairs and becoming a party to the award of the Shantung privileges to Japan," Mr. Borah declared, "the United States ignores that principle 'at our peril.'"

A Promise "to Return a Mere Shell."

As to Senator McCumber's statement that Japan had promised to return the Shantung privileges to China, Mr. Borah said:

"Nowhere has Japan ever promised to return anything except a mere shell. Japan has not promised to return those economic rights which enable her to absolutely dominate not merely the city, not merely the port, but the entire province of Shantung with its 38,000 000 to 40,000 000 people. She is now operating a railroad from the port to the capital; she is working the mines of Shantung; she is distributing her people throughout Shantung, and she will be enabled to keep them there, if she retains the economic rights. Japan might comply technically with the promise she has made, but after she has complied with it she is still the complete master of Shantung."

"Outrageous duplicity," Mr. Borah called the operations of Japan's statesmen in obtaining the promise of the Shantung rights, in the treaties of 1915 with China, Great Britain, and France, as well as in the dealings at the Paris Conference. Japanese statesmen, he declared, had deceived President Wilson at every turn.

Senator Borah referred to the recent statement of the Japanese Foreign Minister as to Japan's intention regarding the restoration of the former German privileges, as indicating that Japan did not actually intend to yield those privileges to China. President Wilson, he said, felt obliged to correct in a statement what the Foreign Minister had said as to the Japanese promise given at the Peace Conference.

"The President understood that Japan had agreed to conform with the 1915 treaty," said Mr. Borah. "Vohida said the 1915 agreement had nothing to do with it. Already, before the ink was dry upon the parchment, before the treaty had been ratified, there was a difference of opinion upon a most substantial and material matter between the President and the representative of Japan. That was not an immaterial matter. If it has been, the President undoubtedly would have given no consideration to it. It was a substantial matter and changed the entire theory upon which the restoration was to take place.

"Under the statement made by Uchida the return could take place and Japan dominate Shantung, but the President did not so understand it. If that misunderstanding already obtains, what shall we expect in a year, or two, three or five years from now, when possibly the President shall have passed out of office and when possibly the men who are in Japan now seeking to interpret it shall have passed out of office? We must not forget that it has been stated in the Assembly in Japan, by the Speaker of that body, that Japan is under no obligation to return anything to China, and she does not intend to do so. Suppose in five years from now the Speaker of the Assembly of Japan should be its Prime Minister; what construction would be placed upon this obligation to return? If the Senator cares to familiarize himself with the public press of Japan, he will find that a very large majority of that press, as it comes to this country, says it has nothing to return to China.

"Japan under the 1915 treaty can select a concession which would cover all of the territory which would be of any value to any one, to run for seventy-eight years. The Senator says it is a small piece of ground. It would not have to be very large so that Japan might control the railway terminals, the port and the entire economic situation. Japan can fully keep her promise and yet return to China nothing more than a bathing beach and worthless islands in the bay."

as a small boy. Holding aloft a $5 gold piece which had been given to him as a talisman by Mrs. Francis Wilson, of Broadview, he said:

"This is what did the trick; this gold piece and a dish towel I borrowed from a lady in a farm house between Buffalo and Syracuse. We had a topsy-turvy sort of a trip, but I knew Phoebe would do the trick. When I reached Syracuse yesterday I found there were no oil cans on hand to fill up our tanks. There was a farm house near, and I ran over and borrowed two milk cans from a lady and used them.

"Between Syracuse and Buffalo yesterday the radiator sprung aleak and the water ran out. I picked out the best spot I could find, a cornfield, where I made a good landing in a bad place. I ran into the kitchen of a farmhouse at one end of the field and told my plight to the lady. She offered to give me anything she had to help me out. I left with a dish towel which she had been using, plugged up the leak as best I could, and started once more on the home stretch."

Lieutenant Plumb said that when he landed at Toronto, the local contest committee was not on the field, and a messenger had to be sent for them. The committee told him they did not expect any one from Roosevelt Field so early in the day.

Eight additional contestants in the race left Roosevelt Field yesterday morning, and it was said that Colonel William Thaw might be another aspirant today. Colonel Thaw, a veteran of the Lafayette Escadrille, expressed a desire to go, provided he could fly a German Fokker. There are two machines of this type at Roosevelt Field, and mechanics were set to work to get them in readiness if possible for today.

Five DeHaviland 4's, piloted by Colonel Gerald C. Brant, Captain Reynolds, Lieutenant Ross Kirkpatrick, Lieutenant H. H. George, and Lieutenant William T. Coates, left the starting line at intervals of a few minutes, beginning at 8:40 o'clock. Lieutenant Crehore, S. V. A. 7; Lieutenant Melville in a Caproni, and Lieutenant R. Rolfe in a Curtiss were the other pilots who entered the contest on the second day of the race, which is to be decided upon qualities of both reliability and speed.

The interest pilots are taking in the race was shown yesterday by the action of Lieutenant P. H. Logan, whose Le Pere became disabled at Poughkeepsie on Monday. Unable to obtain the needed parts where he landed the pilot took the train for the control station at Albany and induced Colonel Clagget, whose machine had come to grief, to help him out. After he had repaired his plane Lieutenant Logan flew back to Mineola and made a fresh start.

Sergeant A. B. Coombs, Major Schroeder, and Roland Rholfs, who started from Toronto and arrived at Roosevelt Field Monday evening, started early yesterday on the return trip. Others who started from Toronto who arrived and took their departure during the day were O. S. Palmer, in a Curtiss Standard; Bert Acosta, in a Curtiss Standard; Colonel William C. Barker and Captain W. Q. Cook, flying German Fokkers, and C. A. Schiller in a Curtiss J. N. 4.

The arrival of Colonel Barker, a Canadian "ace" credited officially with downing fifty-two Hun planes, who brought with him a bag of mail, which he understood contained a letter from the Prince of Wales to President Wilson, was somewhat dramatic. Members of the Contest Committee who ran out to the Fokker to greet the flier found that his left arm, which was made useless during the war by machine gun bullets, was partly frozen. Colonel J. G. Carmody sent for medical aid, although Colonel Barker insisted he was not in bad shape.

Despite his objections, Colonel Barker was taken to the officers' quarters where he received treatment. He said he had had a particularly bad trip all Monday, encountering snow and rain while flying between Buffalo and Syracuse.

At 11 o'clock, three hours after he had completed the first half of the race, Colonel Barker got into his machine to start back to Toronto. When he entered the cockpit he discovered that the air pressure pump was not working. Offers were made by the mechanicians to repair the pump, but he declined, saying he could use his good arm to pump while he guided the machine with the "joy stick" between his knees.

"It's a bit rough, isn't it, when you have an air pump go wrong and only one good arm?" he said, as he gave the word to speed away.

As the plane left the ground a sheet of flame burst from the engine, completely enveloping the plane. A cry arose from the spectators. The flames disappeared in a moment, and Colonel Barker was soaring northward toward the Albany control station.

The mail sack which he brought was put in a special Post Office Department airplane, which had been specially detailed to carry the mail to the capital.

Lieutenant Schiller, who arrived from Toronto at 1:09, flew the entire course without compass or map, quite a feat, according to the Contest Committee. He flew several miles more than necessary, due to the fact that some one had told him Roosevelt Field was close to the ocean.

Major Archie Miller, commander of the Long Island flying field, gave out copies of a telegram which Colonel Hartney, at the Albany control station, had sent to Major Gen. Menoher, head of the Air Service, commending Captain Kindley, a contestant who "crashed" there on Monday. The telegram said:

"I cannot help but commend to you the wonderful spirit of self-sacrifice that prompted Captain Kindley, America's second foremost ace, to plunge over an embankment at the Albany field rather than kill some of the people in the crowd assembled to attend the landing.

"Captain Kindley 'zoomed and stalled' over the crowd when he could not land without injuring some one, and plunged over the embankment at the peril of almost instant death. That he was not injured more seriously is miraculous. No commendation is too high for him."

Colonel John D. Carmody issued a statement saying the public is welcome at the field. Many persons have not attended, it is thought, because they believed the contest was not open to the general public. No tickets are required for admittance to the field, Colonel Carmody pointed out.

MAJ. SCHROEDER MAKES TRIP IN 9 HRS. 25 MIN.

Two Fliers Complete Race at Toronto—New York Times Delivered to Prince.

Special to The New York Times.

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 26.—To an American, Major Rudolph Schroeder, falls the honor of completing the first round trip in the international airplane race between New York and Toronto.

At 5:20 o'clock this evening, he made a perfect landing at the Leaside Aerodrome, the official starting and landing place at the Toronto end of the contest, his face blistered by the heavy gale which he encountered in the leg from Buffalo to Toronto, across Lake Ontario.

Schroeder, who had with him as passenger C. Beatty, was quietly happy over the good showing he made. His log book showed that he traveled to New York from Toronto in 243 minutes and had made the return trip to this city in 332 minutes—9 hours and 25 minutes actual flying time in all.

Toronto, where thousands of aviators have trained during the war, has warmed up over the race, and the arrival of American aviators at intervals during the day, a number of whom had to fly over the populous sections of the city to get to the aerodrome, caused much excitement.

All reported extremely bad weather, including a terrific gale, heavy fog, rain and intense cold. It was cold enough on land for greatcoats and wraps, and the visibility was bad until late afternoon, so that it has not been difficult to understand some of the discomforts that the flying racers had to contend with.

Schroeder, who flew in a V. E. 7, a Vought training plane of advanced type and American construction, said he made the leg from Buffalo here in forty-four minutes. He said the race was the greatest in the history of aviation, and one that will go a long way toward the advancement of flying.

Colonel Gerald C. Brandt, another American, flying a De Haviland 4, landed at Leaside a few minutes after Schroeder. As soon as he had alighted from his plane, he walked over to Major Schroeder and congratulated him. "I was right behind you crossing the lake," he said, "and could have been here sooner if I had not been tossed around in a gale."

Every preparation had been made to look after the contestants. Hot coffee, tea, and food were served when they arrived, and bonfires were kept going until long after nightfall as a guide for possible tardy arrivals. Some of those who arrived toward dusk decided to stay overnight and start back to New York tomorrow morning.

Lieutenant M. P. Plumb of Texas was the first American flier to reach Toronto, landing at Leaside at 11:28 o'clock this morning. He carried Sergeant Kratz with him as a passenger. Plumb stayed just thirty-one minutes, refilling his tank and testing his machine. In twenty-eight minutes from the time he started his return journey he was announced as having landed in Buffalo.

Major W. B. Maynard, U. S. A., followed him, landing at 12:09 o'clock. Leaving a few minutes later, he reported at Buffalo thirty-four minutes after his start. Maynard brought with him a letter from Mayor Hylan of New York, addressed to the Prince of Wales, offering to him the freedom of that city and inviting him to be its guest during his visit to the United States. A letter from the War Camp Community Service of New York also was brought for his Royal Highness by the Major, as well as copies of THE NEW YORK TIMES for the royal visitor, Mayor Church of Toronto, and the editor of The Toronto Globe.

F. G. Ericson of the Leaside Aerodrome sent these letters and papers by motorcycle messengers to the various persons for whom they were addressed, and by whom they were received with pleasure. Lieutenant Hanlon, U. S. A., accompanied Maynard, who flew a De Haviland 9. In spite of the weather, Maynard said he had had a good trip.

Captain C. H. Reynolds, who left Mineola in a De Haviland "4" at 9:04 o'clock this morning, arrived at 5:13, taking eight hours and nine minutes to complete the first half of the race. Lieutenant P. H. Logan, in a La Pere machine, who left Mineola at 9:43, arrived shortly after Captain Reynolds.

Arthur Simonin, the third American to land, arrived at 12:43 and left for Buffalo at 1:15. He had a trying experience in the flight from Buffalo, and for half an hour was completely bewildered, flying at 10,000 feet, lost in the fog while trying to find the airdrome.

Lieutenant R. F. Midkiff, driving a De Haviland 4, came next, arriving at 1:34 o'clock. He left shortly afterward, just before a heavy storm started, and after he had fitted himself and his mechanic with an inner tube in case they should be forced down in the lake.

Major J. W. Simmons, with a De Haviland, who was the next arrival, was somewhat confused by the smoke screen thrown out by one of the fires, with the intention of indicating wind direction and landing point. The left wing of his plane skimmed the back of a horse. The plane tore the harness completely off the animal without injuring it. A little hole was torn in the wing of the plane and the repairs held Simmons up for some time.

Captain H. Smith was compelled to land about five miles from Leaside when caught in a heavy gust of wind. His machine was slightly damaged, but can be repaired in time for him to stay in the race.

Pilot G. S. Jones, a new entry, left Leaside for New York at 3:14 o'clock in the afternoon.

Flying almost parallel, planes piloted by Lieut. Col. K. E. Hartney, in an SE-5, and Lieutenant Charles S. Colt in a similar machine touched the ground at 3:42½ and 3:42¼, respectively. Colonel Hartney carried a letter for the Prince of Wales from Governor Smith of New York.

Lieutenant Ray W. Brown, in an SE-5, time not given, reported an intense hail storm over Lake Ontario, and much trouble in consequence. Some of the racers flew to heights of 20,000 feet, it is said. All reported cold and stormy weather.

Lieutenant H. B. Chandler, in an SE-5, was a few minutes behind Colonel Hartney. He also suffered intensely from cold.

Late tonight word was received that Captain J. W. Foote, one of the American entrants, had been blown off his course and that he had crashed at Binghamton, N. Y., while making a forced landing. In his machine was a letter from President Wilson to the Prince of Wales. Other means will be found to bring it here.

Colonel William Barker, V. C., the Canadian "ace" who, owing to injuries received in war, has the use of only one arm, is reported as arriving at Buffalo tonight, where he will stay until tomorrow.

MISHAPS AT BUFFALO.

Capt. Steinle and Major Springs Both Compelled to Give Up.

Special to The New York Times.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 26.—Two of the three serious mishaps in the final flights of the International Derby occurred in the Buffalo district. Captain Steinle came to grief and was counted out of the race when his SE-5 was tilted by a sudden gust of wind while he was making a landing at Curtiss Field shortly before 3 o'clock and one of his wings crumped up. Steinle was unhurt, the plane having lost much of its speed before the accident.

The second mishap was to Major Springs of No. 29. He had trouble with the ignition system of his plane after leaving Syracuse. He managed to keep going until within a few miles of Batavia, but was finally compelled to land in a cornfield.

There was keen interest in the closing hour of the contest with Major Schroeder on the ground making ready for the start for Toronto and Sergeant Coombs and Roland Rholfs momentarily expected. The leaders of the reverse division were then at Albany, and it was certain that Schroeder, with a final half hour of fair sailing between him and the finish at Toronto, would have the honor of being the first man to check in. Schroeder left Albany at 11:00 A. M. and arrived at Curtiss Field on the Falls Boulevard at 4:14 o'clock. He started again at 5:02 o'clock. He reported that Rohlfs was having engine trouble below Albany, where he lost twenty minutes.

Lieutenant M. J. Plumb led the eastbound division, which arrived here from Toronto and faced homeward about noon. Plumb left Roosevelt Field yesterday afternoon at 3:12 o'clock. Making Syracuse last night, he left there at 8:41 A. M., reaching Curtiss Field at 10:17, and started on the last leg westward at 10:46 A. M. The return trip from Toronto landed him here at 12:30 P. M., and he was off for Syracuse at 6 minutes after 1 o'clock.

Colonel Barker, the Canadian ace, landed in a field near Williamsville, just outside of Buffalo, tonight. He reported that he had been driven off his course by a stiff gale and had landed in a village, the name of which he did not know. He took on some gasoline there, his tank being almost empty, and continued on his way toward Buffalo. Due to the delay it was dark when he approached this city and he was unable to locate the landing field, although gasoline flares were being burned. He circled about the city for a time and finally came down at Williamsville where he will pass the night.

A city fire engine equipped with powerful searchlights was rushed to the outskirts of the city when it was reported that an aviator was trying to land, but it arrived too late to help Barker.

BUFFALO, Aug. 2.—A telephone message from Williamsville, just north of here, tonight said that Captain W. G. Parker had been compelled to land there after running short of gasoline and being buffeted by a stiff south wind. He landed safely and will complete the course tomorrow.

C. H. Reynolds turned at Toronto and came back to Buffalo this evening. Major Gilkinson and Richard Depew and C. H. Logan checked in at Curtiss Field for the night. They were on the first leg of the flight from New York to Toronto.

LIEUT. SCHILLER DOWN.

Air Racer Forced to Land Near Utica by Faulty Fuel.

UTICA, N. Y., Aug. 26.—Lieutenant C. A. Schiller of Toronto, flying in the international air race, was forced to a landing in the wildest part of the Deerfield Hills, north of Utica, at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Lock operators on the barge canal who saw the plane dive sharply from sight reported it had crashed. A searching party with lanterns and dogs was starting a hunt when word was received that Schiller was safe at a farmhouse five miles from here.

Schiller said a pail of water had been given to him instead of a pail of gasoline at the Albany control station. He will put into the Glenn D. Wicks aviation field in the morning for gasoline. The plane was undamaged.

WEATHER BAD AT SYRACUSE.

25 Aviators Continue Flight Despite Wind and Rain.

Special to The New York Times.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 26.—With a thirty-mile wind blowing from the northwest and heavy rainstorms above an altitude of 1,000 feet, twenty-five aviators braved the unfavorable flying conditions yesterday in the second day of the speed handicap air race and reliability test from New York to Toronto and Toronto to New York.

Thirty-one pilots landed their machines on control stop No. 2 at the Bethka Farm airfield yesterday, thirteen being on the return trip. Eleven of these and the fourteen planes which were held on the field overnight took the air from here yesterday after necessary repairs and supplies had been secured.

Lieutenant Plumb completed the first leg of the course at Toronto yesterday noon, after leaving the Syracuse field at 8:41½. He reached here again on the last lap of the flight at 2:57½, left at 3:13 and made Albany by 4:05, exceptionally fast time under weather conditions.

A record of 871 minutes for the 770 mile flight from Toronto to New York and return to Syracuse was made by Sergeant Coombs in his De Haviland plane, with Lieutenant Maurice Holland. This bettered by thirty-one minutes the time made by Major Rudolph Schroeder over the same course.

Because of long delays at control stops, Colonel William B. Barker, V. C., of the Canadian Air Service, was compelled to wire a cancellation of a dinner engagement he had with H. R. H. the Prince of Wales last night. He left here on the last leg of the flight at 4:57½ and remained in Buffalo over night.

Lawrence Sperry narrowly escaped wrecking his Avero-English training plane when he tacked around the north end of the field about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon preparatory to taking off. The left wing struck the limb of a small tree, canting the plane to one side, and the tip of his propeller was broken off. He remained overnight and will resume the flight today.

A broken radiator and shutters proved to be no handicap for Captain R. O. Brown, whose machine was damaged in hopping off yesterday morning. He made partial repairs to the radiator, disconnected the shutters, and began the flight from Syracuse to Toronto at 11:48 A. M.

LIEUT. CREHORE HURT LANDING AT ALBANY

Crashed Into Tree and Suffered Broken Arm and Rib and Internal Injuries.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 26.—The first accident of the day happened at 1:25 P. M., when the machine of Lieutenant Austin Crehore, arriving from New York, crashed into a tree in landing. A surgeon on the field said the Lieutenant's injuries were limited to severe shock and a fractured arm. He was taken to a local hospital. At the hospital it was stated that Lieutenant Crehore's condition was considered favorable, although he also had a fractured rib, and "possible internal injuries."

Lieutenant Crehore received his injuries when his machine crashed into a tree as a result of his attempt to avoid driving into the spectators. During the world war he was an active member of the Lafayette Escadrille and the French Spad Squadron 94. He is credited with having brought down two enemy machines. He engaged in many combats and was awarded the Croix de Guerre. Lieutenant Crehore was piloting a S. V. A. Italian machine. His home is in Westfield, N. J.

PLAN AIR CRUISE ROUTES.

Capt. Glidden, at Atlantic City, Mapping Coast Trip Courses.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 26.—The first airplane trips along the coast are being mapped here today by Captain Charles J. Glidden, Chairman of the Committee on Aerial Tours of the Aerial League of America. He arrived from New York after an extensive cruise along the coast to locate suitable landing places.

The first excursions are planned between Atlantic City and Baltimore, Washington and Norfolk, while the next will take in the New England coast. Tours of the American rivers are also being arranged, the first of which will probably be a flight up the Hudson. Captain Glidden is also in communication with Southern points for tours from here to Key West, Havana, Hayti, and Porto Rico.

MEXICANS BRINGING LOST AIRMEN HOME

Found After Five Days' Hunt 200 Miles from San Diego in Lower California.

EL CENTRO, Cal., Aug. 26.—Mexican cavalry, under the command of Captain Trujillo, late today were reported to be escorting to the international boundary Lieutenants Frederick Waterhouse and C. B. Connelly, American aviators, missing from Rockwell Field since last Wednesday.

Captain Trujillo reported by courier to Colonel Hipolito Baranca, chief of the military forces of Lower California, who has directed the search for the men for the last five days, that he had found them alive in Lower California, about 200 miles southeast of San Diego. The country where the men were found is mountainous and inaccessible.

It is expected the men will be brought to Ensenada, the capital of Lower California, or to Mexicali, whence they will be taken into the United States.

Colonel Baranca dispatched a courier with a request for details to the cavalry band that found the officers.

AIR SERVICE TO PARIS ATTRACTS LONDONERS

Bustle of Railway Station and Pier, Even the Late Passenger, at Starting Ground.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—Three airplanes started on a round trip today between London and Paris, thus inaugurating international civil flying. The Air Line Company dispatched the first express of its regular service at noon with four passengers, but so great was the demand for accommodations that it had to fly relief machines with one passenger and freight at 9 and 10 o'clock in addition to the Handley-Page. The company made a trial trip with a large airplane carrying eleven passengers in anticipation of the service to be started next week between London, Paris, and Brussels.

The first airplane reached Le Bourget, the airport at Paris, at 11:40 o'clock and left again at 12:40. It landed at Hounslow at 2:45 o'clock. Its outward cargo consisted of a number of newspapers, a consignment of leather, several brace of grouse, and many jars of Devonshire cream, so that Lord Derby, the British Ambassador, to whom the grouse was sent, may have had for lunch today (Monday) birds shot on the Scottish moors on Sunday.

Hounslow is London's new airport and has already acquired many of the trappings of the ordinary seaport. Customs officials were much in evidence as the hour of the start drew near, and the pilots and passengers had to make declarations that they were not carrying cameras, firearms or other prohibited goods. Passports had also to be examined, and with passengers leaning out of the windows chatting with friends, with express vans driving up, with parcels of freight, and with the inevitable late passengers rushing up at the last moment, the scene of departure was a curious mixture of the ordinary railroad station and steamship pier.

The fare charged was $100 for a single journey and each passenger was allowed ten pounds of baggage. Parcels cost $1.80 a pound, but loads regularly contracted for will be carried for half that. The authorization has not yet been given for regular postal service.

SWISS BOOK TOURISTS FOR ALPINE AIR FLIGHTS

Regular Trips About the Matterhorn and Other Peaks Scheduled for Fine Weather.

Copyright, 1919, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ZERMATT, Aug. 25.—The day is no longer distant, it seems, when aspiring tourists will be comfortably deposited by airplane on the summit of the Matterhorn. Indeed, recent exploits of Swiss aviators which I have witnessed here render it not improbable that flying up the Matterhorn and other great Alpine peaks, or at least close around their summits, may soon become a popular holiday sport in Switzerland.

What is probably the most elevated flying field in Europe has just been completed at Montana, in the Canton of Valais, at a height of about 5,000 feet above sea level. This first of Alpine flying fields was opened a few days ago by a number of sensational flights, in the course of which the Swiss airman Rhyner circled around the summits of the Matterhorn and Weisshorn for several hours. These feats will be repeated regularly in fine weather, and hotel guests who are unequal to the exertion of difficult climbing or deem the dangers of flying less than those of mountaineering will be able to book seats as passengers and skim lightly over crags and precipices to overcome which costs the ardent Alpinist many hours of high physical tension. Alpine aviation thus bids fair to become a recognized institution in Switzerland, by which all those interested in the development of the tourist industry hope to attract new swarms of pleasure seekers to the "playground of Europe."

Two Swiss military aviators, Major Isler and Lieutenant Ackermann, after flying around the summit of the Jungfrau recently, landed in the midst of the glaciers of the Jungfraujoch. A suitable landing place had been leveled on a glacier, but the machine was deflected from its course by a sudden gust of wind, and it stopped on the verge of a gaping crevasse, into which the airmen were very nearly precipitated. Swift and treacherous air currents swirl about the great Alpine peaks, even in the finest weather, and threaten to hurl airmen to destruction upon ragged ridges and rock faces. Only by experience will these difficulties be gradually vanquished.

It is stated in Swiss newspapers that an air passenger service is being organized along a line connecting London, Lausanne, Mentone, and Milan. This would mean flying over the Simplon Pass at a great height, and certainly would afford air travelers marvelous views of mountain scenery.

Two Fliers Killed in Illinois.

BELLEVILLE, Ill., Aug. 26.—Second Lieutenant Floyd Meisenheimer of Detroit, and Harold Ice of St. Mary's, Ohio, a chauffeur, were killed at Scott Field, near here, late today when their airplane fell from an altitude of 200 feet and caught fire after crashing to the ground.

MAY PARALYZE ALL CENTRAL EUROPE

Prospect That Silesian Coal Strike Will Tie Up All Railroads Within Ten Days.

ALLIES SEEK TO END CRISIS

Peace Conference Fears Foreign Troops Will Have to be Sent to Police the Region.

PARIS, Aug. 23.—The railway service of Central Europe depends largely on the results attained by the Interallied Coal Commission, now on its way to Upper Silesia. Unless the coal production in that district increases, the Central European railways will practically cease operation within ten days, as the coal supply will not last much longer.

The mine owners and commercial classes in the great Silesian coal basin are chiefly German, while the miners are largely Polish. The miners resent the presence of large numbers of German soldiers, alleged to be necessary for the suppression of Spartacide movements.

Arrests and expulsions have been numerous, resulting in a general strike Aug. 21, which has developed into a genuine insurrection on the part of the Poles, who, with few arms, have captured several villages and instituted war against the Germans. The Germans have executed Poles, and Poles are fleeing into Poland, carrying Germans with them as hostages.

Colonel Goodyear, representing the United States, who has been distributing coal in Central Europe under the Hoover administration, will act with General du Pont of the French Army, and General Malcolm of the British Army, in an effort to quiet the situation.

Under the German treaty a plebiscite is to be held in upper Siberia fifteen days after the treaty is ratified by three of the Powers. Consequently, it will be impossible for foreign troops to enter Silesia before that time, a report yesterday saying that Germany had declined to permit them to do so. Mr. Hoover, in urging the German agents at Versailles to consent to foreign troops entering immediately, argued that Germany would be disastrously affected if the coal supply were stopped and the mines allowed to flood.

One hundred thousand Poles are massed along the Silesian border, anxious to enter Silesia to protect their countrymen from oppression. It seems impossible to get the Polish miners to return to work without foreign protection, and consequently there is danger of a serious clash and an economic crisis unless a solution is found.

Colonel Goodyear has succeeded in effecting a temporary cessation of hostilities and a discontinuance of executions, but the situation is so complicated and uncertain that the Peace Conference is fearful that it cannot be tided over, without foreign troops, until such time as the ratification of the treaty makes it possible for them to enter and police the territory during the plebiscite.

BASLE, Aug. 26.—According to the Berlin Lokal-Anzeiger, all express train service, and probably all passenger train service, will be suspended at an early date throughout Germany, owing to lack of coal.

PARIS, Aug. 25, (Associated Press.)—The coal shortage in Germany is daily becoming worse, according to reports. Many margarine factories have been compelled to close.

BERLIN, Aug. 25, (Associated Press.)—A party of American business men which has returned to Berlin after a tour of Germany reported a distinct note of optimism as prevailing among the Germans they met over the prospects of an early economic revival for the country. The Americans, representatives of varied interests engaged in a post-war inventory of the buying and selling capacity of Germany, expressed the belief that the country was fully able to satisfy the reasonable demands of credit security.

As to the wave of social unrest which has been paralyzing the productive activities of Germany since the outbreak of the revolution last year, the trend of opinion among the Americans was that when the food situation was once definitely past the critical stage, and the raw materials needed had been obtained, there would be a subsidence of this disturbing influence. They pointed to the coal situation, however, as the one factor which might tend to retard the movement toward a general industrial revival.

MINERS FLEE TO POLAND.

Germans Say Silesian Insurgents Have Polish Army Weapons.

KATTOWITZ, Silesia, Aug. 25.—The Polish mining population of Upper Silesia continues to flee over the Polish border to avoid being involved in shooting affrays. The search for arms is still being carried on by the Upper Silesian authorities with much success, though many difficulties are encountered in scouring the woods for hiding places and searching hostile Polish quarters.

According to today's reports some artillery fire has been directed against the Silesian railroads and bridges, which are under strong guard.

The German authorities have prepared, and will present before the Entente Commission, evidence concerning alleged systematic plans, whereby a Polish invasion was arranged and Germans were abducted. Incorporated in the statement is the reply alleged to have been made to the German Defense Guard by a Polish officer when he was asked to prevent such abduction: "I am sorry to be unable to serve, I have my instructions."

The German authorities assert that many of the weapons found by the searching parties are those of the regular Polish Army. They add that the attacks in Silesia are carried out with military precision. Bands beaten off retire and reform under Polish officers and then reattack.

The border dwellers are described as living in a pitiable state.

The clearing out of Spartacide and Communist nests has been completed.

According to late dispatches, rifle engagements at advanced posts have occurred at several points along the front.

OUR TROOPS FOR SILESIA.

Two Regiments Ordered Abroad May Go to That District.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—The War Department confirmed today the Coblenz dispatch printed in THE NEW YORK TIMES this morning regarding the decision to send a brigade of infantry, now in this country, to Europe to replace troops now in Germany, and also, possibly, for the latter to proceed to Silesia to assist in taking the plebiscite in that country.

The troops ordered to Europe are the 5th and 50th Regiments of infantry, two field hospitals, and one ambulance company.

The War Department's announcement said:

"It is the purpose of the War Department to send in the near future to Europe a brigade, consisting of two regiments of regular infantry, the 5th and 50th, and two regular field hospitals and one regular ambulance company. These organizations are to replace similar organizations of the 1st Division, which, besides containing a number of emergency men, have been longest in France and could not be withdrawn from Europe were they not replaced. There is a possibility that from our forces in Europe it will be necessary to send troops to Silesia to assist in taking a plebiscite, and should this be done the above-named organizations, which will be composed throughout of regular enlisted men, would be sent."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—The decision to dispatch additional troops to Europe was given today as explanation for the resumption of recruiting for overseas service. Enlistments again were authorized for one and three year periods, recruiting officers have been informed. The men obtained are to be sent immediately to the Overseas Replacement Depot at Camp Meade, Maryland. Telephone operators and linemen are especially desired for the Signal Corps.

Neither of the regiments to go abroad has yet had foreign service.

FEAR GREAT MASSACRES.

Poles Urge Paris Council to Prevent "an Appalling Butchery."

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Concerning the activities of Germans in Silesia, the text of a petition by Polish representatives of the districts of Upper Silesia and forwarded to the Council of Four at Paris was received here today through official channels. It says in part:

"We have been obliged to send out of the country from 6,000 to 8,000 men, and even women and children, to prevent their being arrested and done to death in prisons and dungeons specially prepared for Poles arrested in Upper Silesia.

"Over 3,000 Poles, chiefly men, have been arrested for the sole reason that they were of Polish nationality, and imprisoned under the most appalling conditions. Their jailers taken from the Grenzschutz and Reichstrupen have maltreated these unfortunate prisoners in a most horrible manner, beating them to death and giving no attention to the most terrible wounds for fear of their cruelty being discovered by doctors and recognized as worse than that of the Bolsheviki.

"The wives and children of the Poles of Upper Silesia have been beaten by the Grenzschutz soldiers during their search of Polish houses, and everything possessed by these unhappy people—pigs, cows, money and valuables—has been stolen.

"The Germans allow a band of over 500 Bolsheviki and robbers to scour the country and attack country estates, private persons, &c., and lay the blame for all the misdeeds of this band on the Polish people in order to turn against Poland those Germans who incline to side with the Poles.

"The German Government has brought from all parts of Germany over 150,000 soldiers who have been previously excited against the Poles and billeted them on the Polish inhabitants of Upper Silesia, who are in the direst want of all necessities and are nearly desperate.

"The Polish educated classes, although hunted and suffering fearful persecution, are endeavoring to restrain the working classes from having recourse to desperate measures, but on account of the 1,750,000 Poles in Lower Silesia and the 750,000 Germans in the western districts of Upper Silesia who are entirely on the side of the Poles an explosion is possible at any moment. Should this occur an appalling butchery such as has not been heard of in the history of the world will take place, for the German soldiers will fall upon the unarmed population, who will defend themselves to the last breath.

"We therefore appeal to the Council of Four for aid in the name of humanity and justice and request that they order the German troops and German Provost agents to leave Upper Silesia immediately, for they are mere bandits who have come there to kindle a vast blaze and to let loose a tempest."

JANITOR LOCKS OUT PRINCE.

Wales Enjoys Being Held Up at Entrance to Toronto University.

TORONTO, Aug. 26.—The Prince of Wales enjoyed the novel experience of being "locked out" of Toronto University today when his party drove to the building, where he received an honorary degree.

It was perhaps the first time in his life that the Prince had been "locked out" of anything, and members of the official party were at considerable discomfort, but the Prince seemed thoroughly to enjoy the experience, and laughed heartily when attendants of the building explained that in their excited efforts to keep the huge crowd from entering they had forgotten to request the Prince to use one of the inconspicuous side entrances, which had been left unlocked.

The day was planned originally to be a quiet one for the Prince, but so many things not on the program were crowded in that it ended as one of the most active he has spent since beginning his visit.

The first event, which consumed most of the forenoon, was a series of visits to military and children's hospitals, where the Prince laughed and talked with the little sufferers, and produced shilling after shilling to purchase toys for them.

The Prince in the afternoon attended a social and dance at the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, given by officers of the garrison of Toronto. The ladies invited were for the most part sisters of young officers whom the Prince had met in France,, and who had been killed in action or died of wounds.

The program for tomorrow includes a visit to the Canadian National Exhibit and the receiving of another degree, that of Barrister of Ontario.

He will leave tomorrow night for Ottawa.

SAY GERMANS SLAY POLES IN SILESIA

British Correspondents Report Policy of Terrorism to Win Plebiscite Districts.

FIGHTING NOW GOING ON

Shows the Danger of Delays in Paris and in American Senate, Says London Paper.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—The Morning Post and London Times correspondents in Poland have sent a joint dispatch from Cracow to their papers describing the atrocities which are part of a policy of "frightfulness" being carried out by Germans in Upper Silesia with the purpose of securing the popular vote in favor of annexation to Germany. The two correspondents have been staying in Cracow in close touch with the Silesian situation, and are convinced by the evidence given them that what they say is true.

Their main conclusions may be summarized as follows: Large districts in Upper Silesia have been treated by the Germans as they treated Belgium in August, 1914. The Poles in these districts have been massacred wholesale by German soldiers, and their relatives and sympathizers of all ages and both sexes grossly maltreated. The wives and children of escaped heads of families are being deported in gangs. The able-bodied Polish survivors are destined for reparation work in the devastated regions of France and Belgium.

There has been a deliberate policy of tyranny over the Polish population of Upper Silesia since the beginning of the year, in order to drive the Poles out of the country, to provoke outbreaks resulting in deportations, to incite Poland proper to indiscreet démarches, and by every means in their power to secure a plebiscite vote in favor of Germany.

Germany has been allowed to pursue this policy through the supinness of the Supreme Council in not insisting upon the immediate execution of the Peace Treaty clause relating to Upper Silesia.

The evening newspapers reprint and display prominently the joint dispatch of the correspondents concerning German ill-treatment of the Poles in the plebiscite districts of Silesia and call for prompt allied measures of investigation and redress. There is, however, a great dearth of news from Silesia, and this in interpreted by experts as an indication that conditions there are serious. THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent learns that the latest official dispatches received are five days old, which shows that much disorganization prevails. Moreover, they read as though actual fighting was in progress and detail the advance and retreat of opposing forces in much the same way as the old war communiqués did. Two things stand out: First, that all military movements are on the east of the line laid down in the Paris treaty and are therefore in territory definitely Polish; secondly, it is stated in plain terms that the Germans are shooting all prisoners they capture.

The Westminster Gazette brackets under the caption "Allies and Peace Procrastination" the news from Silesia and the announcement of the delay in drafting of the Austrian, Bulgarian, and Turkish treaties with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee's action on the Shantung clause. It admits the legal right of individual States to modify the treaty, but adds:

"The treaty as it stands, with all its faults, is the greatest common measure of the treaties the Allies individually would have liked and the alterations in it now can only plunge the whole settlement once more into the melting pot. Moreover, the treaty contains within itself the machinery for its own amendment. When we have established peace on a firm basis and settled down to our everyday working life, there remains the League of Nations with its infinite possibilities not only for the solution of future difficulties, but also for the modification and recasting of those parts of the treaty which fail permanently to sove some of the older problems.

"It is on this future work by a properly constituted international body, operating in a calm atmosphere and free from the pressure of an exhausting emergency, that we pin our faith."

DATE OF ALBERT'S VISIT.

Brussels Paper Says King and Queen Will Sail on Sept. 22.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 26.—The Soir says it learns that King Albert and Queen Elizabeth will leave for the United States on Sept. 22 and that it is their intention to stay there one month. At the American Embassy, however, it was said today that the date of the departure of the King and Queen for America had not yet been made known.

Cardinal Mercier will leave for the United States on Sept. 2 in company with Mgr. De Wachter, his auxiliary Bishop, and Professor De Wulf, and will remain there two months.

GERMANS CROWD HOLLAND.

Seek Economic Control—Horde Waits to Swarm to America.

Copyright, 1919, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

THE HAGUE, Aug. 26.—Holland literally is swarming with Germans, and the German language is as common on the streets, in trains, on tramcars, and in restaurants and hotels as the Dutch language. Many of these come for a vacation and food, but the majority are men who are here for business and financial reasons or to evade taxes. Germany, by losing the war, failed to annex the Netherlands, but now intends to control the country economically, and is stretching out its tentacles over the whole of Holland like a large octopus.

In spite of the constant efforts of the German Government to control export capital, it continues to flow into Holland from other nneutral countries, and many new companies and agencies are being started here.

The Dutch Government in principle opposes this inundation of German subjects, especially owing to the fear of Bolshevism, and the Allies Office here exercises a vigorous control over passports. No foreigner can arrive or depart from Holland without the visé of the Allies Office, and every request for a visé with its reasons is thoroughly investigated. Seventy-five per cent. of requests for visés for Holland are from Germans.

Many German business merchants are complaining that they are unable to obtain the visé for business reasons, while pleasure seekers obtain permission by showing their contract with a Dutch hotel. Various means are resorted to in order to come to Holland for business. In some cases American passports have been used by Germans pretending they intended to sail for America from Holland. American passports can be sold here at a premium. There are thousands of Germans marking time, merely waiting the day when it will be possible for them to go to America. THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent often is asked when American wives of German husbands may revisit America and relatives.

AMERICANS TO HONOR GREY

Davis to Give Farewell Dinner in London to British Ambassador.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—John W. Davis, the American Ambassador to the Court of St. James', is to give a dinner to Viscount Grey on Sept. 12, on the eve of the Viscount's departure for Washington to take up his post as British Ambassador to the United States.

The guests will include Premier Lloyd George, Foreign Secretary Balfour, Earl Curzon of Kedleston, and a majority of the British Cabinet Ministers and other British notables. Frank L. Polk, Assistant Secretary of State, will come from Paris to attend the dinner. Other prominent Americans who are expected are Colonel E. M. House and Henry White of the American Peace Delegation, Justice Brandeis of the United States Supreme Court, ex-United States Senator Willard Saulsbury of Delaware, and Justice McCoy of the District of Columbia.

OUTLINES SERBIA'S POLICY.

New Premier, Liouba Davidovitch, Cheered in the Chamber.

BELGRADE, Aug. 25.—Announcing in the Chamber of Deputies today the Government's policies, Liouba Davidovitch, the new Premier, said, among other things, that "Serbia in the impending reorganization of the Balkans would not seek special privileges, but would base her claims upon the principles of international justice."

"Serbia, nevertheless, must defend to the utmost her just demands, wherever they are threatened," he said. "When peace is concluded, Serbia should pursue a policy of reciprocal confidence with her neighbors, and cultivate intimate friendship. Czechoslovakia and Poland seek good relations with us, as do Greece and Rumania."

Detailing a wide domestic program, the Premier announced that the Government in a few days would submit an electoral bill looking to the convocation of the National Assembly. He said a committee would be appointed to draft a new constitutional law, and that a national defense force would be created. He expressed the hope that demobilization would be completed before Autumn, and said that labor legislation should include a provision for an eight-hour day. His address was heartily cheered by the Deputies.

The steamer Caribbean, which left Cristobal this morning for Colombia, has been ordered to search for the steamship. The Middlebury is a vessel of 1,469 tons.

Careless Shampooing Spoils the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

OUR DRAFTED MEN TO QUIT SIBERIA

President Tells Parents They Will Be Brought Home as Quickly as Possible.

VOLUNTEERS REPLACE THEM

Government Has No Intention to Withdraw the American Forces at This Time.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—President Wilson today made public the text of a letter he has written to Fred McAver of Chicago, who called at the White House last week with a delegation which urged that orders be issued for the return of the drafted, or emergency, enlisted personnel of the American Expeditionary forces in Siberia, commanded by Major Gen. Graves.

The delegation consisted of fathers and mothers of some of the men, who argued that as these were drafted for service against Germany, and wanted now to come home, they should not be retained in Siberia. The men belong to the 27th and 31st Siberian Infantry Relief organizations.

The President states in his letter that newly enlisted men are being sent to Siberia to replace the emergency troops there, who will be brought home when relieved, but indicates that it is not the intention to withdraw American forces from Siberia at this time. The letter follows:

"My Dear Mr. McAver: After you and your associates called upon me and presented the petition for the return of the drafted or emergency enlisted personnel of our troops in Siberia, I asked the Secretary of War to let me know just what the status of our troops in Siberia is. He has just informed me that the total enlisted strength in Siberia is slightly over 8,000 men, of whom emergency men are estimated to be not in excess of 6,500.

"As soon as the Congress authorized the resumption of enlistments in the regular army the War Department offered to men about to enlist an opportunity to elect Siberian service. Three thousand four hundred and eleven men have so chosen, and of these more than 2,000 have already been sent to Vladivostok to relieve emergency men in those forces. Recruits are being recruited by the War Department at between fifty and sixty per day, and as rapidly as they can be prepared are being formed into companies and transported to Siberia, further to relieve the emergency enlisted men there.

"At the rate of progress above indicated it is clear that substantial relief will have been afforded to our emergency soldiers before the Winter sets in, even though it should not turn out in the public interest to bring about the entire return of our forces at that time. Upon the latter aspect of the question, however, I can give no further assurance at this time than to say that I have the petition and the reasons which were presented by your committee very much in mind, as indeed I have this whole delicate and difficult matter, and your committee can count upon its having my most earnest and sympathetic consideration.

"Cordially yours,
"WOODROW WILSON."

DENIKIN IN SWIFT ADVANCE.

Recapture of Odessa from the Bolsheviki Is Confirmed.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—The War Office announced this evening that on the Western front of General Denikin, the anti-Bolshevist leader in Southern Russia, the advance is continuing with great rapidity along the entire line.

Occupation of Odessa, chief Russian port on the Black Sea, by allied forces, is admitted in a Bolshevist Government wireless message from Moscow, received here today. The occupation was effected, the dispatch states, after thirty vessels had bombarded the city for two days.

On the Russian northwestern front, according to the Soviet statement, the Bolshevist troops are advancing in the region of Pskov, having progressed to within three and a half miles of that city.

Shortly after the Bolshevist message was received further confirmation was given in official quarters here of the occupation of Odessa. A Russian volunteer army, it was stated, had occupied the city. The Bolsheviki retired in the direction of Balta, 120 miles northwest of Odessa.

The actual occupation of the city was carried out by detachments of General Denikin's troops, with which the anti-Bolshevist population co-operated. A British warship covered the operation.

An announcement by the Ukrainian mission in London on Friday last stated that Ukrainian troops had captured Odessa after severe fighting north of the city.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—The Swedish Government, in compliance with representations from the Entente, has refused to permit food supplies to be dispatched to Petrograd.

Sweden has acceded to the request of the Swedish Red Cross to be allowed to receive 300 Russian children on conditions similar to those on which German and Austrian children have been brought into Sweden.

TELLS OF RUSSIA'S NEEDS.

Red Cross Worker Declares People Trust America.

Among the passengers arriving yesterday on the George Washington was Captain Roger Lewis of the American Red Cross, who has been with troops in Northern Russia and left there at the end of July. He said that conditions were very bad and would be worse when the Allies evacuated the country.

"What the people in the Archangel district fear" he continued, "is wholesale slaughter at the hands of the Bolsheviki. The United States has undertaken an obligation which she has not fulfilled, and when the troops are all withdrawn the bourgeois Government, which was fostered by America, and has been protected until the present, will be at the mercy of the Bolsheviki. The people of Russia have great confidence in America. The only remedy for the present state of affairs in Russia is for America to take charge of the situation and see that a stable Government is established in Russia."

There were fifteen general prisoners on the transport sentenced to terms varying from eighteen months to life, including two Lieutenants. One death occurred on the voyage from Brest, that of Sergeant Alvin Byrne of Fort Thomas, Texas, on Aug. 20. He had served with the 1st Division for twenty-two months.

The transport Canandaigua arrived from Brest with 772 officers and men, including the 3d Ammunition Train and several medical units.

LLOYD GEORGE CUTS OUTLAY

Instructs His Ministers to Reduce Expenses to a Minimum.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—After his recent speech in the House of Commons, in which he insisted upon economy, Premier Lloyd George wrote to his ministerial colleagues calling attention to the huge national expenditure and impressing upon them the need of immediately curtailing expenditures. The letter as quoted by The Daily Mail says among other things:

"The time has come when each Minister ought to make clear to those under his control that if they cannot reduce expenditures they must make room for somebody who can. That is the public temper, and it is right."

The Premier concludes by telling the Ministers that they must find time during vacation to consider the best method of dealing with the question and report to him by mid-September what steps they have taken or propose to take.

GERMAN VEHMGERICHT KILLS ANOTHER VICTIM

Son of the Reactionary General Plueskow Found Strangled in Potsdam Barracks.

Copyright, 1919, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Aug. 25, (via Copenhagen.)—The Spartacide Vehmgericht has again warned the people of its existence by executing a member of the family of one of the best known reactionary officers. Saturday afternoon First Lieutenant Otto von Plueskow was found strangled, hanging from a hook above the door of his sleeping room, which was situated in the centre of the barracks of the 1st Guard Regiment at Potsdam. Plueskow's hands, arms, feet, and legs had been carefully tied, and there was a gag in his mouth. The body was clothed only in a nightshirt. Plueskow had been on duty all the night before and had returned to his quarters at 11 o'clock Saturday forenoon. He told his servant he would go to sleep, but ordered luncheon for 1:30, because a little later his brother would call to take him for a boat ride on the Wannsee. His elder brother, also an officer, shared a barrack apartment with Plueskow, but he was on duty all the morning, so that the younger Plueskow was left all alone.

The murder must have taken place between 12 and 1:30, for the body was still warm when the servant, bringing luncheon, discovered it. Soon after the elder brother arrived and was horrified by the sight of the Lieutenant's body dangling from the hook. There was no disorder in the room to suggest a struggle between the murderers and their victim, but from the appearance of the bed it was concluded that Plueskow had been surprised while asleep and tied before he knew what had happened. Nor was there any evidence of robbery, or any other trace suggesting a motive for the murder.

The police say they have no clue whatever. Nevertheless, THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent is assured on trustworthy authority that Plueskow was another victim of the vengeance of the Spartacide "court," and that in this case soldiers—perhaps men in his own regiment—acted as executioners. It is believed that only such men could perpetrate this murder in broad daylight, in the regimental barracks, where the Lieutenant was constantly surrounded by numerous comrades.

Why Plueskow was selected as the victim remains as yet unexplained. His father is the well-known General Plueskow, commanding in Cassel. The Plueskows are a very tall family, some members being more than six feet in height. The murdered man was over seven feet tall and considered an athlete. He served all through the war and was wounded five times.

It is not so much the discovery of a new victim of the Vehmgericht, but rather the circumstances of his execution, that cause deep apprehension in the capital.

SEES RUSSIA TAKING BIG PLACE IN 5 YEARS

S. S. Novosseloff Declares His Country Will Regain Her Position in World Trade.

HAS FAITH IN KOLCHAK ARMY

Confident That the People, Tired of Bolsheviki Rule, Will Help Stable Government.

That Russia will retrieve her position in the world's commerce within the next five years under a stable democratic government was the opinion of S. S. Novosseloff, President of the Russian Tanners' Association, which controls 1,600 leather factories in that country, who has just returned from a visit to Europe.

General Dragomiroff, who was in London on a special mission from General Kolchak, told Mr. Novosseloff that there were 250,000 well trained and well equipped Russian troops in the field to free their country from the grip of the Bolsheviki, and that they had supplies to carry on the campaign through the Winter. The General also informed him that General Kolchak expected to take Moscow before next Spring and thus cripple the forces and resources of the enemy.

"The news sent to America yesterday stating that Vladivostok was surrounded by Bolsheviki," Mr. Novosseloff said, "should not be regarded too seriously, as it came from the Bolshevist centre which is the City of Moscow. There may be a few bands of ragged troops outside Vladivostok who are local and whose object is to terrify the peaceful inhabitants and secure loot like the hooligans did recently in the City of Liverpool, England, but the rising has no political or military significance. If it had been serious we should have heard from Japan, as that country has troops in Siberia and Vladivostok on the coast.

"The dispatch claims to have been received in Moscow from the Siberian coast by wireless. There is no such equipment in that city, and the land wires are interrupted so that Moscow has no means of communicating with Vladivostok because General Kolchak would not permit any messengers to get through the lines.

"The evacuation of Northern Russia by the Allies will be very serious for the people there who have held aloof from the Bolsheviki, but they will have time to get away, and also the country is so sparsely populated and transportation so difficult that the enemy troops will not be able to get around very much, as the Winter starts very early there.

"It was the intention of General Kolchak to have met the British by working toward the northern part of Russia, but as the army is retreating from the Ural now and the Allies are leaving from Archangel that plan has been abandoned and all efforts are being concentrated upon the capture of Moscow."

Tells of General Conditions.

In speaking upon general conditions abroad from information gleaned by him during his trip, Mr. Novosseloff said:

"During the six weeks of my stay in London I endeavored to acquaint myself with the political and economical situation in Europe, as well as with the status of my country.

"I saw a great many people very well versed in political and economic questions. I have also seen the representatives of the Government of Kolchak and Denikin, and many Russian refugees who just escaped from Petrograd and Moscow, one of whom left Petrograd in July.

"I am very optimistic regarding the developments in Russia in the very near future. I have been informed by very good sources and have every reason to believe that Russia will be in the very near future freed from the Bolshevist yoke. The overwhelming mass of the population from the forest peasant to the poorest worker starving and idle, to the unmurdered remnant of the middle and educated classes will rise sooner or later in utter desperation against the bloody tyranny of the crowd of wicked people coupled with criminals and murderers.

"The terrible tales of refugees I have personally seen and who are most reliable are so dreadful that it is almost impossible to reproduce hideous massacres and tortures which Lenin and Trotzky's Chinese and Lettish mercenaries are perpetrating.

Sees People Tiring of Bolshevism.

"I saw General Diagomiroff, the assistant of General Denikin. The struggle which was started by Generals Alexieff, Korniloff, and Denikin against the Bolshevist hordes in the South of Russia seemed at first hopeless, but those who were strong, bold, and devoted to Russia managed to preserve the Russian Army, and in spite of all obstacles, being short of guns and ammunition, it continued to free from the Bolsheviki almost all of the southeast of Russia, and is victoriously advancing toward Moscow.

"The population, completely exhausted and tired of the Bolshevist rule, is greeting the volunteer army everywhere as savior and does everything to help it. The Bolshevist army, abundantly supplied with ammunition, is still strong. The officers of this army, whose families are taken as hostages, dare not abandon the Bolshevist cause, and it is possible there can be some reverses for the Denikin army. However, I am confident that sooner or later this army will have Moscow, and thus finish the Bolshevist tyranny.

"England's name stands unequalled throughout the territory of General Denikin, because the South of Russia has come to the conclusion that England is the only nation that is prepared to help them. In fact, the English people are doing everything they can in order to relieve their loyal allies from the horrible sufferings which they have stood. The English view of Russia is a very optimistic one. They think that there is reason to hope for a quick recovery of this country, because they are aware of and they understand her enormous recuperative power.

"The English people also realize the most important rôle which Russia has got to play in the world's life, and this point of view is very clearly expressed by Lord Churchill, whose most interesting and talented speech I had the pleasure of hearing at the Russian British Club in London, and who said that if Russia will not be saved by the League of Nations, the League of Nations will be destroyed by her.

"Coming to the question of trade relations between Russia and England, I must say that the English people show themselves most progressive and active, and it does seem to me that if American business circles will still keep to the policy of wait and see, England will become middle man between America and my country.

"There are now in London very big concerns which are sending enormous quantities of goods to the South of Russia on a credit basis. There are two concerns that opened credits to the Denikin Government representatives in London for the supplying of this Government with all kinds of commodities.

"A financial concern is also being organized for the arranging of big loans for Russia under the guarantee of Russian business people living in London and Paris.

Help for Russian Business.

"The British Government on their side is doing everything possible to help the business circles to secure close trade relations between England and Russia.

"Among several measures of this kind, it is well to know the facilities which are now given to industrials and merchants shipping their goods to Russia, in respect to insurance. The Government has undertaken the insurance of all goods which are shipped to the South of Russia against any risk during the shipment as well as during their storage in Russia.

"I would like to add that the English people are most sympathetic toward Russian refugees and also toward Russian officers who are now being freed from German prisons. One can hardly imagine with what devotion, love, and kindness those poor people are welcomed in England. There are many charity institutions to help these people, but the most helpful and successful of them is the work of two prominent English ladies, Lady Edgerton and Lady George Buchanan, each of whom have established institutions in London under their guidance and who are devoting themselves completely to this noble task."

Mr. Novosseloff speaks English fluently and has traveled all over the United States.

Vogue suggests henna coloured duvetine for the good-looking one-piece street dress. The tight sleeves and the side portions of the bodice are in navy blue crepe meteor, and the embroidery shows navy blue, black and gold on a strip of the henna duvetine.

The instant the war was over, Paris began to dance, and, curiously enough, the dance has determined the mode of even the most sedate autumn street frock. In repose, the silhouette remains slim. But the instant one moves—walking, dancing, crossing a room—it must have grace and flow of line.

How can you get that floating effect? How should you stand when you wear it? How can you know the favored colors? How can you assure yourself added distinction of dress and save yourself from misguided or haphazard buying?

The secret is not more money. It is Vogue's authoritative, advance fashion advice.

The gown you buy and never wear is the really expensive gown. Gloves, boots, hats, that miss being exactly what you want are the ones that cost more than you can afford.

SAYS WAR ON REDS WILL BE LONG ONE

Gen. Maurice Reviews the Military Situation in Russia as a Whole.

ADVANTAGE OF BOLSHEVIKI

They Hold Central Position, While Co-ordination of Anti-Red Forces Is Difficult.

By MAJOR GEN. SIR FREDERICK MAURICE.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—The daily fluctuations in the military situation on the various fronts in Russia tend to obscure the plain facts. Most of the reports which we receive are objective and colored by the views, sympathies and hopes of those who send them.

General Ironside's successful attack on the Archangel front, the brilliant enterprise of our motorboats off Kronstadt, reports that the Esthonians and Russians on the Northwestern front had composed their differences and that the long-promised attack on Petrograd was about to begin, the renewed activity the Poles, Denikin's success on the Volga which had brought him into direct touch with the Rural Cossacks and the well-sustained progress of his western flank toward Odessa and Kiev have encouraged the belief that the military power of the Bolsheviki was on the point of collapse, and that if we sustained our efforts a little longer a solution of some sort would be reached.

I can only repeat what I said some weeks ago that the military solution is not yet in sight. The only chance of reaching such a solution this year was that Denikin's offensive from the south should make sufficient progress to threaten the communications of the Bolshevist army advancing eastward against Kolchak. This Denikin has failed to do.

The Bolsheviki, acting on sound military principles, continued to press the advantage they gained aaginst Kolchak, while they delayed Denikin by attacking both flanks about Astrakan and along the Dnieper. Denikin had perforce to stop his movement on Moscow and strike outward right and left, and with that his chance of gaining any decisive military success this year was gone.

His capture of Kamishin on the Volga was proclaimed as having brought him into communication with Kolchak's extreme left and as having established a united anti-Bolshevist front on the east. Even if Denekin had been able to hold Kamishin, this united front was little more than a line on a map, as, owing to the absence of lateral communications, it had little military value. Now the Bolsheviki appear to have reinforced their troops on the Volga by detachments from their army which has defeated Kolchak, and even the line on the map has been broken.

There now does not seem to be any prospect of Denikin and Kolchak being able to combine before the beginning of next Summer. In a few weeks from now the first frosts of Winter will set in on the northern and eastern fronts, and much will depend upon the power of the opposing authorities to keep their forces together during the long Winter.

Things have been going better for Deniken on his left, where he has been assisted by the Ukrainian forces under Petlura and by the Polish advance to Minsk. There is a reasonable prospect that the advent of Winter will see Deniken in control of the lower Don or lower Dniper and almost the whole of the lower Black Sea coast, while it is possible that he may get possession of southern Ukrainia and link up with the Rumanians in Bessarabia. This will leave him in a much better position than that from which he started last Spring and will deprive the Bolsheviki of a great part of the corn area of southern Russia.

The Bolsheviki in the early part of this year risked the loss of Petrograd and allowed Kolchak's army to advance up to the point where the safety of Moscow began to be in question in order to gain possession of the corn country, which we may take as a measure of the extent of the loss they seem likely to suffer. But none the less Denikin's victories leave him a long way from complete success.

As to the situation in the North, I am frankly skeptical of the much advertised offensive against Petrograd. General Judenich has not yet managed to obtain that measure of agreement among the various elements on the Esthonian front which is an essential preliminary to any effective military action, and the task of doing this speedily demands greater qualities of statesmanship and greater powers of organization than any of the Russian Generals in command of the anti-Bolshevist forces have yet shown.

The problem of the war upon Bolshevism contains all the elements of difficulty which so long perplexed us in the war against Germany. The Bolsheviki have the central position, which they are using with considerable skill. The distances are enormous, while it is far harder to arrange for any concerted action between the forces of the partially organized and half-disciplined forces of their opponents than it was between the Allies.

The only hope I see of overcoming Bolshevism by force of arms is through a long, slow process of exhaustion. That process is at work and will continue to work as long as we continue to cut off supplies of food and munitions from the Bolsheviki and furnish their opponents with both, but it will not be rapid and it will be costly.

The position of our troops on the Archangel and Murmansk fronts has been materially improved by General Ironsides's victory. I pointed out some time ago that the attack was a natural military preliminary to withdrawal and that just as Moore had to beat Soult before his troops could get away safely from Coruña, so a successful offensive would enormously ease General Rawlinson's task.

It is therefore wrong to jump to the conclusion that the attacks of our motor boats on the Bolshevist warships or of our soldiers along the Dvina imply any desire on the part of our Government to go back on the pledge they have given that our troops will be withdrawn as quickly as possible. They show rather that we are setting about extricating them from a difficult position in the best possible way.

Until we know how the Russian troops who are fighting with us will behave the situation must cause anxiety, and it is important that it should not be made more anxious by any action which would encourage the suspicion among our soldiers of the bona fides of the Government as regards withdrawal until there is far more ground for such suspicion than there is at present.

The recent demonstration at Southampton is one more proof of lack of confidence of the men in the ranks in the Government's pledges. We may reprobate causes which have produced that lack of confidence and disapprove of the policy which we have been pursuing in Russia, but until we are out of Archangel the task of our Generals on the spot is only made more difficult, alike by him who insists we should remain and by him who declares we have no intention of coming away, for both increase the suspicions of the men.

It may be that in order to get away we may have to send more troops to North Russia, and when Sir Henry Rawlinson was nominated to carry through the evacuatiton it was announced that reinforcements were being held in readiness for use in case of necessity. When the lives of our men are no longer in jeopardy it will be time to see where we stand. During the next few weeks we must assume that the policy of evacuation holds the field.

MORTON MUST ANSWER SUIT

Discharged Employe Gets Order for Substitution of Service.

Special to The New York Times.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Aug. 26.—An order for substitution of service has been obtained by John E. Mack in an action brought by Columbus Conley, a former employe of the Morton estate, against Levi P. Morton. By the order Supreme Court Justice Morschauser directs that summons be tacked on the front door at Ellerslie. Sheriff Morsehouse has made several attempts to serve Mr. Morton and each time an attendant refused to allow him to see Mr. Morton.

The action is for $80 which, it is alleged, Mr. Morton owes Mack, who says he was discharged in the middle of the season and could not obtain a position.

It is stated at the Morton estate that Mr. Morton is ill and it is at the advice of his physician that nobody is allowed to see him.

WARNING TO MOTORISTS.

Tourists along the country roads of New York at this season say that they have sometimes encountered unwillingness on the part of farmers to have roadside, fields, and woods used by picnic parties.

While farmers admit that this opposition exists in some places, they say it is likely to be due to the carelessness of the picnickers themselves. In most cases farmers are willing that motorists should picnic along their roads, or in their fields, provided they do no damage to the property.

A member of the staff of the State College of Agriculture at Ithaca points out that this damage may amount to a great deal, especially if a fire is left burning and gets started in a field or woodlot and destroys fences or other property. Furthermore, most farmers appreciate having their fields and roadsides neat and clean, and they do not like to have the remains of a picnic left around to disfigure the landscape.

A picnic party which leaves its litter of tin cans, boxes, paper, bottles, and the like not only does an injustice to the pleasure seekers who come along the road afterward, but to the farmer whose property is disfigured. In one instance a farmer who had a good spring in a pleasant grove near the road, fitted it up especially for the use of motor parties and picnickers, but eventually had to bar them out because the grounds were left in such bad condition, the fences broken, and property destroyed. It is pointed out that due consideration on the part of picnickers will bring about more cordial relations between those of country and city, and that as long as the property rights of the farmer are respected, he will not object to motor parties and picnickers on his land.

AMERICAN PROTESTS VAIN

French and Italians Disposed to be Indulgent Toward Rumania's Conduct.

By CHARLES A. SELDEN.

Copyright, 1919, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Aug. 26.—America seems to have ceased temporarily from making its fight against Rumania, having done everything possible to place itself on record in the matter on ethical grounds as opposed to the plundering of Hungary contrary to the provisions of the armistice and in defiance of all considerations of humanity.

At times in the course of the last fortnight, during which this question has been the chief issue in the Supreme Council, America has compelled the other powers to act with her in sending emphatic protests and ultimata, but, nevertheless, throughout the proceeding there has been only half veiled connivance on the part of France and Italy with the behavior of Rumania.

It is probably not going too far to say that if there had been no Frank Polk, no Hoover, no other equally aggressive American delegates in Paris at this time the Archduke Joseph would still be in control in Hungary and Rumania would be having her way with Hungary without much protest from the European powers.

In the case of the Archduke the Americans have had a 100 per cent. victory. In the case of Rumania they have not been so successful, although all the big powers have been placed on record as saying to Rumania that the value of everything she has taken out of Hungary will be deducted from her share of the reparation funds later on.

However, practically the fact remains that she is still plundering but, as I have said above, America seems to have ceased protecting, at least temporarily. On ethical grounds America has said everything that could be said. She has called attention to the fact that robbing babies' hospitals and thereby causing the death of eighteen sick babies in one day is not in harmony with the principles which the world has been pretending it has been fighting for during the last five years. But with failure to check Rumania on the grounds of fair play America has no other reason to go on with the fight. She has no financial interests at stake as have France and Italy. America is not counting on reparation. France and Italy are counting very much on it, and when the French and Italian people realize that what Rumania is taking on her own account means so much less for them in the general distribution under the rules of the Peace Conference, it is supposed the protest against Rumania will be more general. For the time being, however, the robbing goes on just the same.

A list of plunder taken out of Hungary since Aug. 17 reached Paris today. It includes everything from typewriters to 110 race horses and many other animals from the Hungarian Government stud farms. Thousands of Hungarian workmen have been thrown out of work by the removal of all machinery from the factories in which they were employed. Four thousand telephones have been taken from private homes. The Rumanians have taken 60 per cent. of the Hungarian locomotives, practically all the passenger equipment, and 5,000 freight cars.

All these items are taken as samples from a much longer list of plunder removed only in four or five days. Before that had gone cattle and food. Of course it is true that Hungary robbed Rumania first, but, as Mr. Hoover says, retaliation robbery is against the new rules of a virtuous world.

BAUER SENT ARMS TO KUN.

Telegram from Ex-Foreign Minister of Austria Found by Rumanians.

BASLE, Aug. 26.—Rumanian military authorities have discovered in the archives of the Hungarian Foreign Ministry a telegram from Otto Bauer, former Austrian State Secretary intrusted with the management of the State Bureau of Forign Affairs, to Bela Kun, former head of the Hungarian Communist Government, asking him to destroy all documents relative to the delivery of arms by Austria to Hungary, according to a Budapest dispatch received here.

NEW CABINET NOT FORMED.

Hungarian Militarists Demand Representation in It.

BUDAPEST, Aug. 25, (Associated Press.)—Little progress has yet been made in the formation of the new Government. Various tentative lists have been prepared, most of them headed by ex-Premier Lovassy, but up to the present there has been no approach by the various parties toward composing the situation.

The crisis is assuming the aspect of a sharp struggle, with an increasing demand for representation by the militarist element.

GEN. WILLIAMS FINDS PERIL IN ARMY BILL

Baker-March Measure Would Virtually Nullify Whole Preparedness Program, He Says.

ORDNANCE EXPERTS NEEDED

Yet His Department Would Be Left with Only 51 Trained Officers.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Major Gen. C. C. Williams, Chief of Ordnance of the Army, submitted today a statement to the Senate Committee on Military Affairs in which he declared that the enactment of the so-called Baker-March bill for the reorganization of the regular army would result in grave injury to the military organization of the United States. It would not only "seriously impair the efficiency of the army," but "virtually nullify the whole preparedness program" of the United States, according to his view

Owing to the fact that General Williams is the officer who directed the organization of the great munitions manufacturing machine which sprang into being after this country entered the war, his views are expected to have considerable weight in mapping the future military policy of the country.

The General contends that under the proposed law, which might more properly be called the General Staff bill, the great Ordnance Department is destroyed and left with only "fifty-one trained officers who can legally be assigned to the study of such important problems as the design and production of light field artillery, machine guns, railroad artillery, artillery ammunition of all kinds, pistols, automatic rifles, heavy tanks, light tanks, trench artillery, aircraft armament, &c."

The war has established beyond the slightest reasonable doubt that the controlling factor in the entire military effort is the munitions program, this memorandum says, and it continues:

"We have abundant reservoirs of raw material in our millions of males of military age, in our minerals, timber, foodstuffs, &c. The crux of the problem lies in our ability to convert these raw materials into finished product—whether it be soldiers or military equipment. The quickness with which we can accomplish this conversion depends directly upon the efficiency and sufficiency of trained personnel available for the purpose.

"Inasmuch as it is not the rate at which we can train our man-power, but the rate at which we can manufacture munitions that is the fundamental basis on which we must build our entire structure of national preparedness, no scheme of training for possible participation in war will do other than lull the nation into a false sense of security if it does not recognize, appreciate and provide for training the technical personnel necessary to mobilize and direct the industrial army upon which modern warfare makes the field army wholly dependent.

"An army possessing the best possible morale, well-disciplined, well-organized, well-trained, with proper provision made for clothing it, for feeding it, for housing it, for paying it, for transporting it, is absolutely helpless as an effective military force unless adequate provision is made for arming it."

The European method of keeping alive the knowledge of the design and production of implements of war by stimulating an export trade in those implements will probably, General Williams says, be discouraged or forbidden by the policy of this country, which will leave as the only alternative solution of the problem the expansion of the personnel in Government employ, officers, enlisted men, and civilians.

He then calls attention to the fact that the ordnance officer must possess special aptitude for the design and production of weapons which the army must use in war. He must understand chemistry, he must have the knowledge of the electrical engineer, and his knowledge of these subjects must be that "of the expert with detail at his finger ends."

"Yet," General Williams says, "in the face of the plain lesson of our most recent experience—that the munition program is the critical and controlling factor in the whole preparedness problem—this bill, which apparently provides the Ordnance Department with 400 officers, due to the operation of Section 31, actually provides but fifty-one officers with any ordnance experience."

He recommends a permanent officer personnel for the ordnance arm of 480 officers.

ANSELL DENOUNCES BAKER AND CROWDER

Says They Established Propaganda Bureau to Discredit Critics of Courts-Martial.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Charges that Secretary Baker, Major Gen. Enoch H. Crowder, Judge Advocate General, and Colonel John H. Wigmore "established a propaganda bureau to discredit critics of the existing military justice system and to defend the system" were made before a Senate Military sub-committee today by Samuel T. Ansell, formerly Acting Judge Advocate General.

Mr. Ansell said several officers and about fourteen clerks were regularly assigned to duty in the bureau to issue statements to the press and to Congress. He also charged that officers who criticised the system were "menaced, threatened, and disciplined," while those who defended it were promoted.

At the request of Senator Chamberlain, Democrat, of Oregon, author of a bill to reform the courts-martial system, Mr. Ansell described how he had been "disciplined" by being "demoted to the very bottom" of the Judge Advocate General's office. He said that two weeks after the Distinguished Service Cross had been awarded to him he appeared before a Senate committee to testify regarding the alleged injustice of the courts-martial system. Two weeks later, he said, he was relieved as Acting Judge Advocate General with the rank of a Brigadier in violation of the department's orders governing demotions in rank. He was returned to his regular rank of Lieutenant Colonel, he said, and placed on the Clemency Board with Colonels taken from civil life and with only one year's service.

Secretary Baker's statement that his demotion was "in due course," and without regard to his attack on court-martial procedure, was contradicted by Mr. Ansell. He also denied charges that he had "surreptitiously" sought promotion to the office of Judge Advocate General.

Other critics of the courts-martial system also were "disciplined," Mr. Ansell declared. Colonels Weeks and Morgan were cited, the former, he said, being sent to Charleston, S. C., and the latter subjected to an investigation by the Inspector General.

Most general officers of the army lack experience in handling men, and their views on military justice should not be accepted merely because they are of high rank, the witness affirmed.

"It is a well-known fact," Mr. Ansell continued, "that the weakest grade in the army is the general officer. Many of our Generals are jokes to everybody in the world except ourselves and themselves."

Few general officers ever commanded more than a company of troops before the war, and as army post and departmental commanders they were swamped in "red tape" of administrative routine. In the Spanish war Major Gen. Leonard Wood was only a regimental commander, while General Pershing's Philippine experience was the "bushwhacking of guerilla warfare."

"I have had one hundred times the courts-martial experience of most officers," said the witness.

American court-martial proceedings, except in rare instances, were not subject to review by civil courts and to this extent the rights of military defendants were abridged, he argued.

SAYS TROOPS ARE ABUSED.

McCulloch Insists Charges Denied by Secretary Baker Are True.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Charges that American troops sent to the Dalmatian coast following the armistice were starved and brutally treated by drunken officers were reiterated in the House today by Representative McCulloch of Ohio, a Republican. These charges were made last February and were denied by Secretary Baker. Today Mr. McCulloch denounced the Secretary and presented a number of affidavits from former members of Company H of the 332d Infantry, which command, after being on the Italian front, was sent to Dalmatia.

"Secretary Baker said that the charges were untrue and that no one could believe such slanderous statements," said Representative McCulloch. "He wrote me a letter citing a report which he said disposed of the charges. But the report was made, not on the troops in question, but upon troops 800 miles away.

"I was also startled to have the Secretary virtually say that the matter of poor food, clothing and shelter for our troops was less important than that the character of their officers should have been assailed upon the charge that they were drunk most of the time.

"Why were these troops sent where they were after the armistice? I have a letter from the War Department saying that the reason could be given only by the Italian High Command, 'but that it is presumed the desire was to exploit as widely as possible the moral effect of the presence of American troops.'

"We all know that at that time Italy was making her fight for territory on the Adriatic. How do we know that these men were not used for exploitation in the true sense of the word?"

Representative Madden of Illinois said American soldiers who were in Italy at the time of the Fiume dispute told him that they had to wear civilian clothes to protect themselves from "violence" at the hands of Italian people.

"Whatever the purpose of sending these troops into Dalmatia," declared Representative McCullock, the fact remains that, despite Secretary Baker's denials and investigations, they were starved and fed on wormy food, housed in filthy quarters, and inadequately clothed. At the same time four out of five of their officers were drunk most of the time, and some of them were later removed for the very things which Mr. Baker declared could not be true."

American List Now Shows 291,732 Casualties and 77,422 Deaths.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Only two men of the thousands of the American expeditionary force who went into battle against the Germans remain unaccounted for according to a casualty list issued today by the War Department. A previous list showed more than 100 missing in action.

Total casualties now are placed at 291,732, with 77,422 deaths from all causes.

3 CONVICTS ESCAPE; LEAP FROM TRAIN

Prisoners Were Among Detachment of 44 Being Taken from Sing Sing to Dannemora.

TWO ARE CAPTURED LATER

Third Still at Large—Men Unlocked Handcuffs with Key and Jumped Through Window.

Special to The New York Times.

OSSINING, N. Y., Aug. 26.—Warden Edward V. Brophy of Sing Sing Prison was notified at 2 o'clock this morning that three convicts who were being transferred from Sing Sing to Clinton Prison at Dannemora with a detachment of forty-one others had escaped by jumping from the window of the train in which they were being conveyed. Two convicts escaped while the train was going twenty miles an hour, and the other got away while a search was being made for the first two. Two of the convicts were recaptured later, but one is still at large. Each convict was handcuffed to another, but the handcuffs were unlocked with a key. Warden Brophy is conducting an investigation to find out how the key was obtained.

The escape occurred on the Delaware & Hudson Railroad a few miles north of Albany at 1:45 o'clock this morning. The convicts were in a special car and in charge of five Sing Sing keepers. Albert Gergiulo and Frank Parrentino got away first. Although handcuffed to two other prisoners, the men quietly unlocked the manacles and leaped from the car window before the keepers could reach them. The train was stopped while two keepers went back along the railroad to look for the missing men. Unable to find them, the keepers returned to the train, only to find that Albert Johnson, another convict, had slipped his handcuffs and escaped.

Keepers Thomas Wheeler and Harry Rigney sent the train on to Dannemora, while they resumed the search. Several hours later they came upon Gergiulo and Parrentino, and, covering them with their guns, marched them along the railroad track to the nearest station, where they waited for another train. When they finally reached Plattsburg they were met by Warden Trombley of Dannemora, who took them to the prison in his automobile.

Gergiulo was sentenced on March 13 to Sing Sing for from twenty years to life for manslaughter committed in New York County. Two months later he stabbed and killed John McGlynn, who was serving a life sentence. The other inmates of the prison were afraid of him, and no one would testify against him. Recently he has been in solitary confinement, but because of the crowded conditions in Sing Sing it was decided to send him to Dannemora.

Parrentino was sentenced to three and a half years on March 9, 1918, for receiving stolen goods, the conviction being obtained in Kings County. Johnson, the convict still at large, was sentenced on Aug. 28, 1917, in New York County for robbery. He received a straight sentence of 19 years.

HONOR BULLOCK'S MEMORY.

Service Men to Name Legion Post After Former Newspaper Writer.

Several hundred former service men will meet tonight in Laurel Garden, 116th Street, near Madison Avenue, to organize a post of the American Legion, which will be named in honor of Harry A. Bullock, who was well known as a newspaper writer, and was for many years on the staff of THE NEW YORK TIMES. The post at its meeting will adopt a constitution and elect permanent officers. The temporary officers are Louis W. Fehr, Chairman; N. R. Steinberg, Secretary, and Nathan Lieberman, Treasurer.

Mr. Bullock was among the first to go to the Plattsburg Training Camp. He was commissioned a Captain and went over to France with one of the first contingents. He was killed by a bomb dropped by a German aviator.

TO SEARCH GYPSY CAMPS.

Police Fear Missing Albany Girl May Have Been Kidnapped.

A request that Gypsy camps in and about New York be searched in the hope of finding a trace of Elexis Stockburger, a twelve-year-old girl, missing from her home at 12 Chestnut Street, Albany, N. Y., since August 14, is contained in a circular received yesterday by Acting Captain Ayres in charge of the Missing Persons Bureau from Chief of Police James L. Hyatt of Albany. A reward of $500 is offered for information leading to the recovery of the girl, and an additional reward of $1,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons responsible for her disappearance. A band of Gypsies passed through Albany about noon that day.

The missing girl is said to be small for her age, has black eyes, dark hair, and a slight scar above the left eye. She wore her hair tied down the back with a ribbon, a green gingham dress, black patent leather belt, white stockings, brown shoes and a blue coat.

The Missing Persons Bureau at Police Headquarters got a communication last night from Chief Constable H. J. Grassett of Toronto, Ontario, asking aid in locating Harold Johnston, also known as Harold J. Melbourne, who has been in this city twenty years and who up to seven years ago resided at 670 Eighteenth Street, Brooklyn.

Johnston has become heir to a fortune, the Toronto authorities say.

PARIS GETS ARMY PAINTING.

Seventh Infantry on Canvas Will Remain in France Permanently.

A painting of the 7th Infantry reviewed by General Joffre in New York two years ago has been acquired by the French Government, and will be placed in the War Library and Museum at Paris. The picture was painted by Gustav Brock of San Francisco, an American artist of Danish descent. It was finished in July, 1917.

The French Library and Museum of the War is to serve as a permanent resting-place for many memorials of the war, comprising books and pamphlets, paintings, and war posters. Mr. Brock's painting of the 7th Infantry has been accepted as a memorial of America's part in the war and will shortly be sent to Paris, to remain there permanently.

GREEKS OF THRACE ISSUE NEW APPEAL

Central Committee Asks The Times to Oppose Internationalization.

PREDICT NEW BALKAN PERIL

They Declare a "Conflagration" Inevitable if "Stranger Interposition" Prevails.

By Cable to the Editor of THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ATHENS, Aug. 26.—The Central Committee of the Unredeemed Hellenes at Athens, which represents by sanction the unredeemed Greeks of Turkey and Bulgaria, expresses its gratitude for the right struggle of your paper in favor of our national desires. We now express the wish of the oppressed families of the unredeemed Greek fighters at the Macedonian front, amounting to more than 60,000, and of an equal number of fighters who fought by the side of the brave American Army on the Western front and amply shed their blood for the liberty of humanity, to implore you to raise again your voice and enlighten the common opinion and our judges at the conference that they must not allow our national union at Thrace to be cut off by any stranger interposition.

For God's and human rights' sake please point out the danger in which they draw not only themselves, but their nations and the future innocent victims of our Thrace, if they do not vote the whole of the country to be given, according to President Wilson's principles, to its proper heir, Greece; also the greatest injustice which will be done against history by separating our Thrace with any insertion, and that the responsibility will be very heavy on those who will undertake to alter the ethnological and real character of the country, as well as that of the Aegean Sea, the cradle of the ancient Greek spirit and civilization. The ruins and victims of the future conflagration which will take place in the Balkan States on account of their unjust decision will utterly overwhelm them, reflecting unfortunately upon the nations which they represent.

The Hellenic character of Thrace, which is sanctioned today as well by the majority of the native Greek inhabitants, cannot and must not be altered by the Turk and Bulgarian intruders who have been established there by purpose only forty years ago, that is, after the Russo-Turkish war.

Expressing to you again our eternal gratitude,

THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE;
Chairman, DR. SARANTIDES.

FRIENDS OF GREECE PROTEST.

Washington Convention Says Nation Won't Accept Partition of Thrace.

The convention of the delegates of the Friends of Greece, which has been in session in Washington since Aug. 19, after considering the cable message recently sent to THE NEW YORK TIMES concerning the proposals of Frank L. Polk and the acceptance of them by the Greek Commission at Paris, has issued a statement in which it says:

"It is impossible to believe that the American Commission will insist to the end on the irrational division of the Province of Thrace. It is even much more impossible to give credence to the report that Mr. Venizelos has accepted such a proposal.

"The convention cannot believe that the American delegation will insist permanently upon the plan of dividing Thrace into five parts, one of which, including Constantinople, should become international, another adjoining this should go to Greece, the middle portion should become international and the rest of it be divided between Greece and Bulgaria.

"Such a plan would constitute the most flagrant violation of the principle of self-determination. The Greek population of the entire Province of Thrace is 730,822 and the Bulgarian population only 112,174. These numbers are not taken from Greek statistics, but they are the official reports of the Turkish Government based on the Turkish census of 1908 and also of 1912.

"It is true that Greece has not yet imitated Rumania. Mr. Venizelos wishes to exhaust all his pursuasion to convince the American delegates not to commit an injustice to a friend and an ally; but his patience and his desire not to offend the diplomats of the great republic which he so admires cannot be construed as a tacit acceptance of the unjust decision which is reported to have been taken by the Amerian delegation at Paris. It may be that Mr. Venizelos, in order to preserve the peace of Europe and ofthe world, will suffer the sacrifice patiently—the sacrifice imposed upon his own people by the delegates of the United States—but we are sure that the Greek people will not follow such an example, which has no precedent in the history of the world."

BREMEN'S FATE A MYSTERY.

British Deny Capture of Submarine's Crew and Their Return to Germany.

LONDON, Aug. 26, (Associated Press.)

There is no truth in the report that the crew of the German commercial submarine Bremen was captured during the war and returned recently to Germany, according to official information given the correspondent today. It was added that the British Admiralty has no knowledge concerning the fate of the Bremen, but that it is assumed she foundered while endeavoring to cross the Atlantic.

The report of the return of the crew of the Bremen to Germany was circulated on Aug. 11 by the Vossische Zeitung of Berlin, which declared the men had reached Bremen. According to this newspaper the British had kept the crew prisoners, completely isolated from the world, so that the whereabouts of the missing submersible might remain a secret. Several days later official denial was made in Berlin that the crew of the submarine had arrived in Bremen.

With the British Admiralty disavowing knowledge of the Bremen it seems likely that the fate of this underwater craft will remain one of the mysteries of the war. The Bremen is supposed to have left Kiel for the United States in the early Summer of 1916 with a cargo of dyes and chemicals. Since then her fate has been the subject of innumerable conjectures. At different times the vessel was reported as being on the eve of arriving at various American ports. As many times she was declared to have been captured or sunk by the British. Still further speculation ventured the theory that the Bremen had never sailed from Germany.

WATERBURY MUTE IN COURT

Major Is Arraigned in $30,000,000 Ordnance Conspiracy at Detroit.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 26.—Major Leslie Waterbury, formerly salvage officer in the American Expeditionary Forces here, and indicted by a Federal Grand Jury here on the charge of complicity in an alleged conspiracy to defraud the Government in the sale of $30,000,000 worth of ordnance supplies, was arraigned in Federal Court today and stood mute. Judge Tuttle ordered a plea of not guilty entered. Waterbury furnished a cash bond of $7,500 and probably will be brought to trial Sept. 8.

Major Waterbury, who was indicted before his return from France, has been held on Governors Island, N. Y., for some time.

Others alleged by Federal officers to be implicated in the case, and who also have been arraigned, are Captain Sartorous Nicholson, former finance officer of the United States Army here; Grant Hugh Brown, millionaire sportsman; Fred C. Collins, prominent realty dealer and Vice Consul here for Greece, and Bert Harris, a New York junk dealer.

It is charged that the defendants entered into a conspiracy to eliminate competition in the bidding on salvage material. The plot was discovered, it is declared, by a junior officer in Nicholson's office, further details being obtained by means of a dictaphone installed in the latter's rooms in a Detroit hotel.

MAKES FINE BOYS AND GIRLS

All Give Good Reports of Agricultural Club Members.

The average boy or girl who belongs to one of the clubs organized by the Department of Agriculture and the State colleges gets better marks in school than one who doesn't. This is the testimony of the County Superintendents in the counties in which clubs have been organized, as brought out by recent inquiries in the Southern States.

In Monongalia County, West Virginia, for two years a complete record has been kept of fifty-three club members and of the same number of pupils of the same grade and age and from the same schools. The records show that the club members in their monthly examinations have averaged 15 per cent. above those who do not belong to a club, 12 per cent. in attention, and 23 per cent. in attendance at high school after completing the eighth grade. At the annual spelling contest in the county all the winners were club boys and girls.

A four-year record in Comanche County, Texas, shows the scholarship of the club boys and girls to be 11 per cent. above those who do not belong to a club. Of the 4,000 boys and girls in rural schools in the county, not one expelled or suspended was a club member. The Superintendents agree that club members are more active, have more inspiration to do better work and possess the desire to search for new things. Very few club members stop school in the lower grades, and those not of their own choice.

EX-OWNER OF L'ECLAIR ACCUSED OF TREASON

Ernest Judet Indicted in Paris on Charge of Dealing with the German Enemy.

PARIS, Aug. 26, (Associated Press.)—With the indictment of Ernest Judet, former owner of the newspaper L'Eclair, who is accused of having had dealings with the enemy in the purchase or founding of French newspapers with German capital, the first treason case in France, from which the Bolo Pasha and Duval cases had their bases, seems to have been unearthed.

The newspapers today publish what purports to be a copy of a letter from Gottlieb von Jagow, then German Minister of Foreign Affairs, to Baron von der Lancken, at the time Civil Governor of Brussels, in which it was stated that Von Jagow could obtain the services of Judet for German propaganda in France for the sum of 2,000,000 francs. Von Jagow said he thought the figure was excessive, and asked von der Lancken's advice in the premises.

The newspapers assert that the Judet case is closely connected with that of Pierre Lenoir, who was convicted of trading with the enemy early in the present month and sentenced to death. It was due to Lenoir's revelations, according to the Petit Parisien, that the case against Judet was started. After the arrest of Bolo Pasha and Lenoir in 1917 Judet hurriedly sold L'Eclair and departed for Switzerland, where he has since resided.

It is pointed out by the newspapers that as von Jagow's letter was dated in December, 1914, this was the first attempt of Germany to organize treason in France.

GIVE ADMIRAL ALL BUT WINE.

Boston Welcomes Italian Ships, but Can't Furnish Liquid Rations.

BOSTON, Aug. 26.—The city's formal welcome to Rear Admiral Hugo Conz of the Italian Navy, and the officers and enlisted men of his flagship, the Conti di Cavour, was extended today. An escort of sailors and marines from the U. S. S. Utah and a company of the State Guards from the Italian quarter escorted forty officers and 250 marines and sailors from the Italian ship to the Common where exercises were held. Later Acting Mayor Ford gave a luncheon for the officers, while the enlisted men and their American escort were entertained at another hotel.

Admiral Conz, in expressing his appreciation of the welcome, told Acting Mayor Ford that he had only one cause for concern in connection with his visit to the United States—prohibition. The daily ration of the dreadnought's crew included a small quantity of light wine, he said, and with the probability of a cruise along the Atlantic coast he faced the prospect of exhausting the ship's wine stores. To the Admiral's inquiry whether it might be possible to arrange to replenish his stock the Acting Mayor suggested that as "medicinal supplies" the wine might be obtained but they agreed that was out of the question when Admiral Conz said he would need about 30,000 litres (nearly 8,000 gallons) of wine.

7 WERE 8 DAYS IN BOAT.

Captain and Six Men of Burned Schooner Are Saved.

BOSTON, Aug. 26.—After eight days at sea in an open boat, Captain B. D. Coleman and six men of the Tern schooner George D. Edmands, were picked up yesterday by the steamship Pequot, according to a message received by the owners of the schooner here today. The Edmands caught fire and was abandoned on Aug. 18, when 300 miles south-southeast of Nantucket. She was bound light from Bermuda for Hillsboro, N. B.

Captain Coleman and his men apparently were provided with food and water, as the message contained no word of suffering or privation. The Pequot is bound from Savannah for Rotterdam. The schooner registered 541 tons gross. Captain Coleman's home is in Springfield.

REFUSES $48,000 ALIMONY.

Too Much for Mrs. Brulatour to Enjoy, Says Justice Luce.

In refusing to grant $48,000 a year alimony, asked by Mrs. Dorothy G. Brulatour pending her suit for a divorce from Jules E. Brulatour, a film dealer, and granting only $10,000 alimony, which the defendant said he was willing to pay, Supreme Court Justice Luce yesterday said: "In these days when thrift and economy are urged upon all citizens, the court should not sanction expenditures far beyond the reasonable capacity of enjoyment."

Justice Luce said the former status of Mrs. Brulatour did not warrant an allowance of $48,000. He remarked that a countercharge brought against her by her husband required him to supply her with means to conduct her litigation. For this reason he allowed $15,000 counsel fee to her attorney, Max D. Steuer. Justice Luce said:

"The papers contain the story of the infidelity of both parties, an utter disregard of marital obligations, and resort by both parties to the court to be relieved of matrimonial vows as if they were nothing more than a mere contract."

Brulatour alleges that his marriage with Mrs. Brulatour is void, because the divorce he obtained in Kentucky from his wife, Mrs. Clara Brulatour, in order to marry again, is not binding, as he was not a resident of Kentucky and the court there had no jurisdiction.

TO AID MEN IN SIBERIA.

Five Knights of Columbus Secretaries to Work with Americans.

The overseas director of the Knights of Columbus announced yesterday that five secretaries of the order are to be sent to Siberia to help care for American troops there. The men, three of whom have already left for San Francisco, are Joseph T. Brady, 104 West Seventieth Street; James A. Murray, 909 South Bishop Street, Chicago; Charles J. Flynn, 56 Cottage Street, Auburn; Martin C. Foy, 109 East Eighty-fifth Street, and F. W. French of San Francisco.

The secretaries will assist Carry McGarry, the actor, who has been working for the Knights in Russia and the Orient and has asked for additional workers. They will take with them over 1,000 cases of supplies, including candy, cigarets, talking machines, musical instruments, and athletic goods.

ROB J. C. BRECKENRIDGE.

Second New Yorker Loses $10,000 from Maine Summer Home.

YORK, Me., Aug. 26.—Jewelry valued at $10,000 was stolen early today from the Summer home here of John C. Breckenridge of New York. The police believe the robbery was the work of the same men who burglarized the Summer home of Mrs. Llewellyn Parsons of New York at Kennebunk Sunday and obtained $14,000 worth of jewelry.

The Breckenridge home, known as River House, has been occupied in the Summers by Mr. Breckenridge and his wife for a number of years. They were there when the place was ransacked. As in the Parsons robbery, silverware was not touched, but all rings, jewels, and small articles of value were taken. One of the rings was valued in excess of $1,000.

CARTER HARRISON TO RUN.

Will Be Candidate for Democratic Nomination for Senator of Illinois.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—Carter H. Harrison, five times Mayor of Chicago, is coming back from Arizona to become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator. His campaign will be opened within six weeks.

This statement is authorized by one of the most trusted friends and advisers of the former Mayor. It is said that Mr. Harrison will make a formal and definite announcement of his candidacy immediately upon his return to Chicago.

THE SCREEN

At George M. Cohan's Theatre last evening there was shown for the first time in this city an uncommonly interesting photoplay, based on Frank L. Packard's story "The Miracle Man." The program and the announcements described it as a screen version of Cohan's own dramatization of that story, but that is either for purposes of courtesy or advertisement. As a matter of fact, the motion picture is derived directly from the book, and proves to be between four and five times as well-made as the somewhat weak-kneed play which Mr. Cohan derived from the same source. It is far more interesting, more varied, more ingenious, more dramatic.

In the screen version of "The Miracle Man" the Chinatown past of the swindlers who try to exploit the old village faith-healer is used with full effect and by a device which would have vastly helped Mr. Cohan's play. The shadow of that past is thrown across the entire narrative. The scene where the little village cripple, thrilled by the spectacle of the false "cure," casts away his crutches and walks up the path into the healer's arms is a breathless moment from which, as in the play, every atom of excitement is wrung. Unusually good work is done by Thomas Meighan, Betty Compson and Lon Chaney in a picture which will please all movie enthusiasts and convert a few more.

AT ISSUE WITH COPELAND.

Cincinnati Health Officer Expects No Influenza Epidemic.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Aug. 26.—Recurrence of the influenza epidemic this Fall is unlikely, said Health Officer William H. Peters of Cincinnati yesterday, taking issue with Dr. Royal S. Copeland, New York Health Commissioner. The State and nation has been "pretty well immunized by the disease last Fall and Winter," said Dr. Peters. Epidemics of such character, as a rule, do not strike twice in the same place, he said.

"Of course there will be instances of influenza, the same as we have had every year," he continued. Our mortality rate may be high next Winter, since many persons whose resistance has been lowered may succumb to other causes more readily. That is why the American Red Cross, with the co-operation of the Board of Health, has established public health stations in various centres. Any person who has been a victim of influenza will make a serious mistake in not visiting one of these stations, where physical examinations are made without charge."

DR. WILKINS'S GUARDS LAX.

Commission Finds Due Diligence Not Exercised in His Custody.

ALBANY, Aug. 26.—While the State Commission of Prisons, after a thorough investigation, was unable to determine where Dr. Walter F. Wilkins, convicted of wife murder, secured the rope with which he committed suicide in the Nassau County Jail on June 29, general criticism of the conduct of the prison was made in a report adopted today.

It was stated that the investigation developed that there was a laxity in the management of the jail and a lack of understanding and observance of rules. Due diligence was not exercised in the custody and supervision of Dr. Wilkins after his conviction, the commission found, and it was also charged that the law had been violated in the improper segregation of prisoners. Much of the trouble, the commission believed, was due to lack of adequate facilities.

The commission refrained from expressing any recommendation as to whether conditions were sufficient to warrant the removal of the Sheriff.

8,000 jolts and jars a day

THE average man takes 8,000 steps every day. Every step he takes acts as a hammer blow to his nervous system if he wears hard leather heels.

Leather heels served their purpose when we walked on country paths. Then the ground itself cushioned the blows of walking.

But today our streets have only hard pavements. The jolts and jars from these modern pavements are one of the great causes of fatigue. They add just that much more to the strain of daily life.

You can do much to prevent that tired-out condition which results from the shocks of pounding hard heels on still harder pavements. O'Sullivan's Heels absorb the shocks that tire you out. They relieve the jolts and jars that make a burden of walking.

To secure the great resiliency and durability of O'Sullivan's Heels, the highest grades of rubber are "compounded" with the best toughening agents known. The "compound" is then "cured" or baked under high pressure.

It is this special process that has, since the making of the first rubber heel, established O'Sullivan's Heels as the standard of rubber heel quality.

O'Sullivan's Heels are guaranteed to wear twice as long as ordinary rubber heels; and will outlast three pairs of leather heels.

Go to your shoe repairer today and have O'Sullivan's Heels put on your shoes.

O'Sullivan's Heels are furnished in black, white or tan; for men, women and children. Specify O'Sullivan's Heels, and be sure that you get O'Sullivan's—avoid the disappointment of substitutes.

WHAT IS THE PURPOSE?

It is clear that the majority of the Senate Republicans are playing a dangerous, but to some extent an intelligible, political game. They hope to make sure of California and all the other Pacific or Far Western States where the anti-Japanese bugaboo can be used to frighten children with. They want to allure various groups, Sinn Fein, pro-German, and what-not. To them the League of Nations is not a matter of the restoration of confidence and business and the means of insuring the future peace of the world, but something which they can capitalize into Republican votes in 1920. It is a perilous game. It will be a fatal game to them if they succeed in defeating the Treaty. Their dallying, their delay, their false pretense as to motive, may make it fatal to them, even if they are driven into ratification of the Treaty unspoiled and unamended.

If the general game is intelligible, the Shantung amendment is more puzzling. Of course, there are a number of Republicans on the Committee on Foreign Affairs who want to beat the Treaty outright. But exactly what is Mr. LODGE, for instance, driving at in the amendment, again so vigorously riddled by Senator MCCUMBER yesterday? Mr. LODGE knows perfectly well that Great Britain and France will stand by Japan on the Shantung provision, whatever postures or grimaces the Senate makes. One cannot suppose that, with all his carefully cultivated art of incandescent partisanship, he wants to see the United States humiliated, left alone, exposed to the shame of making a separate peace with Germany. Moreover, he has read history and diplomatic history enough to know that the real act of ratification is done by the President, not the Senate, and he remembers that his old friend, Mr. ROOSEVELT, refused to ratify a treaty doctored and sophisticated by the Senate. A certain intelligence and regard for consequences may be attributed to Mr. LODGE. What, then, is the real purpose of the Shantung amendment? Is it anything more than a feint to scare the Administration supporters into accepting reservations? Hatched with so much cackling in the committee room, do its incubators mean to have it decapitated in the open Senate?

FOR THE DEFENSE OF FRANCE.

Since the sub-committee of the Judiciary Committee, the Senate's legal adviser, has found that there are no constitutional objections to the treaty for the defense of France, an early ratification is to be hoped for. This is the treaty which pledges this country to go to France's aid in case she is wantonly attacked again by Germany.

There has been, it is likely, a disposition to strut a little when we have thought of this treaty, a feeling that we should be France's protectors. On the contrary, it is a treaty thoroughly reciprocal. We should be acting no benevolent and self-sacrificing part in sending aid to France in such a case; we should be acting in our own defense, making use of France as an ally as surely as rendering help to her. Speaking of a France recuperated and reinvigorated, the sub-committee says, " She will then be a great " shield and protection to us against " the German menace in the future." She is, in fact, our bulwark, and such it is good business to keep her.

That there is to be a German menace in the future the sub-committee does not doubt, and on this point it is refreshing to find Senators sending a jet of cold common sense into the smoke that beclouds Washington on so many subjects. There has been too much disposition to believe that democratic Germany is a whit less militaristic or disposed to conquest than was imperialistic Germany; or, for that matter, less imperialistic, for imperialistic republics have been frequent in history. The German eagle did not turn into a dove by moulting its Hohenzollern feathers.

We and our allies have beaten Germany, but, says the sub-committee, " she is still, by reason of her great " resources, her large population, and " her military and imperialistic spirit, " likely to be a menace in the future, " for nothing but force is likely to re- " strain her from seeking world do- " minion at the earliest opportunity." She is in far better case than France, was not nearly so much crippled by the war. In fact, by comparison with France, as the sub-committee points out, " her losses were moderate." Even now her resources and man power are nearly double those of France. The treaty is one for mutual protection, and the sub-committee is to be congratulated no less for its decision than for its reasoning.

FEED D.

In 1915 Mr. TOWNLEY's Non-Partisan League carried North Dakota on a platform of State Socialism; carried it because the wheat crop of that year in the State was rich in what is locally called " Feed D," rusted, blighted, thin, shriveled wheat. Under the accursed rule of capitalism this wheat was graded very low. Mr. TOWNLEY told the dissatisfied farmers that they were gulled and robbed by this classification. Then, or subsequently, he proclaimed from the stump that more and better flour could be made from Feed D wheat than from an equal quantity of A1 or No. 1 Northern, or whatever is prime and best in North Dakota wheat.

According to The Grand Forks Herald, the 1919 crop will contain more of the formerly despised but really admirable Feed D than any other since 1915. One of the millennium-bringing laws of Townleyized North Dakota directs the State Industrial Commission to market farm products and to establish a system of warehouses, elevators, flour mills, factories, plants, machinery, and equipments. It is the duty of the Industrial Commission and in its power—if Mr. TOWNLEY's encomiums on Feed D, founded on the statements of a savant of the State Agricultural College, were justified—to make just as good flour out of Feed D as can be made out of the supposed best wheat. Let the miracle, if it be a miracle, at any rate let the demonstration, be made, say such of the farmers as are perverse enough to believe neither in Mr. TOWNLEY nor in Feed D. Now is the time to vindicate State Socialism, Mr. TOWNLEY, and Feed D. In mere gratitude to the real cause of the triumph of 1915 justice should be done to Feed D; and the State flour mills can't grind the best flour out of it too soon.

THE WAGE AND PRICE CIRCLE.

The President's statement to the railway shopmen and to the country in connection with their wage demands denotes a settled state of mind and policy which found expression first in March last. The Governors and other representatives of forty-three States and many cities were then in conference at Washington in anticipation of labor troubles which since have been realized, and the President declared to them his opinion that " the business of govern- " ment is to take counsel for the aver- " age man * * * the whole matter " of the prosperity of peoples runs " down into the great body of the men " and the women who do the work of " the world * * *." Therefore the thing uppermost in the mind of the President was not the specific demands of the shopmen, nor how they concerned the corporations employing them. On those subjects he adopted the advice of the Director General, but directed his chief attention to the effect upon the whole country of the action taken. Increases of wages increase rates to shippers and therefore costs of production. Prices to consumers rise with them, for railway workers as well as for all others.

On this point the President adopted the reasoning of the Railway Brotherhoods, and commended it to the attention of the shopmen. It profits wage earners nothing if their increased wages buy less goods. It would be better for them if the same wages would buy more goods. That can only be accomplished by the production of more goods and the reduction of costs and prices. The general interest requires that the railways should not be compelled to raise their rates, and the cost of living with them. The Government must in conscience take a position against general increases in wage levels under temporary conditions, but should also address itself to the lowering of the cost of living. He believed that the price level had passed its peak, and expected success in his efforts to hasten the decline. The President made it clear that, since the railways are running at a deficit, increases of wages for the railway men must be charged against the taxpayers, and therefore the shopmen would be benefited at the expense of the rest of their countrymen. In short, increases of railway wages are not for the good of the average man or of the great body of the workers. The words are those of a friend of the people as well as of the railway workers themselves, and they will be approved by the people certainly, and by the railway workers if they are prudent.

The Director General considered the specific questions in like friendly but judicial temper. He found no fair comparison between the wage conditions of the railway men and those of the shipworkers. The railway men have permanent positions, under cheaper living conditions. The shipyard workers will lose jobs and wages together soon, and their rate of pay is proportioned to a temporary emergency. The shopmen have had their wages standardized at their own request, but they ought not to be standardized at a maximum. He found no argument for the raising of railway wages to private wages, since private wages are fixed without consideration of public interests, and because private employers are able to pay wages from a scale of profits denied to public corporations whose rates are fixed. He even thought that railway wages compared favorably with private wage scales, and that there were considerations in connection with railway employment which would warrant a differential below private wage payments. Finally, railway wages and the cost of living were not seriously out of line.

It will be recalled that the shopmen put themselves in the wrong by striking contrary to their own rules, and that their cases were taken up on the President's intervention only on their returning to work. The President now again shifts the controversy from the point on which the strike ballot was being taken. The vote was ordered in expectation of a procedure now abandoned. The President and the Director General have themselves decided the point which was to have been referred to specially appointed authorities. A strike against the President's decision would be less favorably received than a strike against a body of less authority and less favorably disposed toward the men. Already their demands had been unfavorably considered by a body on which they had equal representation. If the President's award seems to them small, at least it is more than they received on their first application, the rejection of which creates no presumption of better success at a second attempt, or practically a third attempt. Discretion is the better part of valor on the part of the railway men under present conditions of the public mind, with its own worries about the cost of living, and aroused by acts of strikers in many trades not consistent with social welfare nor with union discipline. The declaration of the shopmen's committee of 100 that they could not accept the President's award is of little importance, unless they intend to arouse the men against it. The committee cannot decline to take the vote which the President proposes, and it is the vote which counts. The shopmen will choose between the counsels of the trouble-makers and the voice of the country, which will make itself heard in positive tones while the vote is being taken.

THE AIR RACE.

The promoters of the international air race between New York and Toronto who made their plans in June have rendered a public service. Interest in aviation in this country, which should be in the lead but has lagged behind both France and Great Britain in the development of the science in a practical way, has been stimulated by the flight of about forty airplanes of many different types between the two cities. The start from this end of the route, officially signaled by General CHARLES F. MENOHER of the Army Air Service, was witnessed by a great throng of people, and at Albany, Syracuse, and Buffalo, where stops were to be made, the landing fields were crowded with spectators. " Up-State " everybody along the line of flight was on the lookout for the flying men, and it added to the interest in the friendly contest that it was made under adverse weather conditions.

Seldom have planes been driven in such violent winds and blinding hailstorms as the aviators bound north have had to contend with. But ideal conditions were not desired by the American Flying Club and the Aero Club of Canada, nor by General MENOHER. Stability, which should mean security, was regarded as of more importance than speed, and serviceableness as the great desideratum. Therefore halcyon weather was not wanted. To quote General MENOHER:

> This race will give us very necessary data concerning the relative values of the different makes of machines and motors participating. * * * The idea of the race is to establish reliability, and it will give the Government, as well as private interests, invaluable data. Also, the race will demonstrate the commercial possibilities of airplanes for mail, freight, and passenger service over distances as great as from here to Toronto and back.

On the first day of the contest it was proved that airplanes could live aloft in gales that would test the stanchness of ships at sea. The mail carriers who fly between New York and Washington knew this, but it was important, if aviation was to be taken seriously by the people generally, that they should know it, too. There were few accidents of any kind in the worst of weather, which speaks well for the designers and builders and for the mechanics who prepared the machines for flight. If Captain KINLEY came to grief in a smashup on the Albany field, losing the use of his Spad plane in which he had flown so brilliantly in France, there was a needed lesson in the mishap for Albany and for all cities planning landing accommodations. The Albany field was not large enough, nor properly constructed, for airplane landings. It must be the concern of all municipalities to provide ample space and hangars for air services. Two other machines succumbed to accidents at Albany, but the landings were made under difficult weather conditions.

When all the returns are in, and not until then, it will be known in what degree the human factor contributed to misadventures and how dependable the standard machines are. It will be possible to determine whether the foreign planes are superior to the American, which are the fastest and which the stanchest, and how motors vary. The so-called race is international in but a limited sense, for the great majority of the entries were American, which is as it should be, for it was to speed up aeronautics in this country that the contest of machines and pilots was arranged.

JAPAN AND THE CONSORTIUM.

When it was announced in May that the United States, reversing its earlier policy, had approved an international consortium of American, British, French, and Japanese banking groups jointly to develop China and to give financial aid to the Chinese Government, the participation of Japan was justly regarded with satisfaction and the agreement as making for the future peace of the world. Henceforth the development of commercial and industrial and transportation plans in China and the financing of the Chinese Government and its administrative sections would not be undertaken, as had been the case usually in previous years, by one national group. All groups would be part of a single administration. Japan has substantially enrolled herself among the Western Powers, and has by implication given up the policy or theory, if it existed, of the exploitation of Chinese resources by Japan alone.

It is unfortunate, if true, that the Imperial Cabinet, yielding to the military caste, will insist that Manchuria and Mongolia be excluded from the territory to be covered by the consortium. According to a Japanese journal, Viscount UCHIDA, Minister of Foreign Affairs, expressed the feeling of the West and made an irrefragable argument against the decision attributed to the Imperial Cabinet. He is reported to have said that the exclusion of Manchuria and Mongolia " might be interpreted as " showing Japanese designs upon " China, and might obstruct loans, " which are urgently needed by " China." " Might " is diplomatic for " would." Such an impression would be injurious to Japanese interests and " might " completely isolate the nation, whereas unconditional acceptance of the consortium would remove the suspicions of China and the Powers in regard to Japan's " sup- " posed aggressiveness as a result of " the acquisition of important inter- " ests."

Japan's insistence on and creation of " vested interests," especially in Southern Manchuria and Eastern Inner Mongolia, Group Five of the famous " demands " of 1915, need here be mentioned only in passing. At this time of all times when appeasement of the controversy about Shantung is necessary to the peace of the world, the apparent preponderance of the military element in the councils of Japan, and the policy of withdrawing great regions of Chinese territory from the operation of the consortium and for the exclusive benefit of Japan, are most unpropitious. The military bureaucrats are said to hold that the exclusion of Mongolia and Manchuria is a political, not an economic, question. Surely the development of China is an economic question. At least the Japanese economists realize that Japan cannot furnish of herself the great sums that will be needed for her part in that development. A policy that restricts financial resources, tends to alienate the sincere friends of Japan, and gives aid and comfort to her noisy enemies, seems as unwise politics as it is bad political economy. Allowance must be made for the struggle, not yet settled in Japan, between reactionaries and the Liberals, between the old clan leaderships and the progressive statesmen, between the army and navy chiefs and the civilians, between the Elder Statesmen and growing democracy, parliamentary responsibility of Cabinets and modern ideas. In short, there are still two Governments in Japan. It is to be hoped that the views so well expressed by Viscount UCHIDA will prevail.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Equity and the Equity Contract.

The striking actors will do well to consider deeply Justice HENDRICK's decision with regard to the legality of their position. " The contracts entered into before this trouble began are valid and in force." By quitting the productions in which they were playing, therefore, the actors who are fighting for " equity " have broken their own Equity contracts. That was the first act of the present drama, the act upon which the managers base their refusal to come to terms. If the " trouble " is to cease, the propriety of Justice HENDRICK's decision must either be acknowledged or disproved.

Hitherto the actors have believed, and believed with unquestioned sincerity, that in walking out of the theatres they were within their rights. Their legal adviser assured them that they were, on the alleged ground that the managers had already broken the contract. It may be that the Equity Association members will prove able to defend what they have done by means of legal technicalities; but most of those who have weighed the documents thus far published will feel the force of Justice HENDRICK's opinion: " Nowhere, in any of the papers before me, is their claim that the managers violated their contractual relations. What is before me is proof that legal contracts have been breached—broken—by the actors."

In general, there is no question that the cause of the actors is morally just. Those who know most of the inner facts of the situation are most passionately in sympathy with them. Even the managers have conceded the justice of their demands as to pay for rehearsals and for extra performances. But in breaking their contracts as they appear to have done they have fallen into the evil ways of some of the organizations with which they are allied. Until that fault is acknowledged, and definite assurance given for the future, it is small wonder that the managers refuse to treat with them.

Right the Wrongs of England!

The cry that Scotland also is a subject nation affords matter for spirited debate, at least among Scotchmen. In their normal mood they will tell you that they have contributed to the empire its entire quota of brains, and will presently own it outright, to the last bang of a saxpence. On New Year's Eve, when the Scots in London foregather before Saint Paul's, well proofed against the foggy-foggy dew, they own the universe. No glory shines so bright but a Scot has eclipsed it. Long ago, when a dramatization of one of the novels of WALTER SCOTT was produced in London, a voice from the gallery shouted: " Whaur's yer WULLY SHAKESPEARE noo!" And, indeed, where has he been, ever since? Really it is the English who have right to complain as a subject people. We may yet see them prostrate and suppliant before the Battalion of Death.

Profiteering and the Newly Rich.

Let no guilty profiteer escape! It is a stirring cry, but courage falters when attention is called to the guiltiest of all, who is also the one nearest home—namely, the cook. The high cost of food does not touch her, nor yet the landlord's gouges. Subway fare and moving picture remain, with military precision, as they were. There has been some advance in clothing; but the main outlay—namely, sheep's eyes cast at the mistress's declining wardrobe—seems to come as easily as ever. Yet her wages have doubled, and even this brief complaint is muttered furtively, in the hope that it may escape the culinary eye.

What is the reason, economic or human? Women war workers have been demobilized, women subway guards retired. Yet the intelligence office is unpeopled as Persepolis. It is the same in England. The bus girl has followed the munition maker back to private life. The excess of 1,000,000 females which existed before the war has been doubled. Yet the editor of a grave and reverend weekly review raises a hebdomadal ululation that he has no housemaid or laundress. While we have all been talking of the superfluous female, she has vanished like the hunted snark.

Perhaps the French view is right, that a chief cause of high prices is the lavish spending of the war-made rich. In America, it is estimated, there are 18,000 new millionaires. Picture the consequent run upon cooks and butlers! If this is the explanation of the high cost of service, there is hope that the evil may in time cure itself. Money will engage servants, but it takes character and tradition to keep them engaged. The prospective employer of a butler, of late, found his man unaccountably yielding. " In five weeks, Sir," the poor fellow said, " I have been in the employ of four of the newly rich. All I ask, Sir, is permanency."

Picking Berries.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Harry Raver, in a letter to THE TIMES, thinks that not more than a quart of blackberries can be picked in half an hour. I am a slow blackberry picker, but can easily pick between 40 and 50 quarts of blackberries between 8 A. M. and 5 P. M., under the ideal conditions Mr. Harry Raver speaks of. I picked 62 quarts one day in about this time, but even this number is no picking for an expert.

The Hudson River Valley, near Highland Falls, and in fact all along from Newburgh to Poughkeepsie on the west side of the river, is dotted with fruit farms, and you can easily find out the average number of quarts of blackberries the average picker can get. A one-armed man could pick 20 quarts, and more.

One can pick more currants and gooseberries than blackberries, and an average picker will get, under Mr. Raver's ideal conditions, say between 8 A. M. and 5:30 P. M., from 65 to 90 quarts. I picked one day 95 quarts of currants and several times 96 quarts of gooseberries. This is not above the average of veteran fruit pickers, but below it. They work longer than I did, and most of them, I think, figure on 5 crates a day of gooseberries—120 quarts.

Three cents a quart was given in most places this year, I think, so you see how absurd Mr. Raver's 20 quarts is. Men don't work for 60 cents a day, and not many boys out of short pants. A PICKER.

GOD SAVE RUSSIA!

God save Russia! Order from chaos send
To her whose heart beat as a loyal friend,
Till serpents' fangs into her vitals ate!
God save Russia ere it is too late!

Beneath the sod her million warriors lie,
They who did bravely fight for liberty!
God save Russia! Not for her sake alone,
But lest the world shall one day deep atone,
If she, who early sent her sons to die
For Freedom's sake, shall dumb and helpless lie
Beneath the heel of some vile conqueror.
Not this her noblest sons have striven for!

God save Russia! Save her from her plight
Of dark misunderstanding—lead her to the light!
Save Kolchak's army, hungry, valiant, brave!
God help the world to, some way, Russia save!

TO THE AMERICAN LEGION.

Confederate Veterans Should Be Invited to Minneapolis Convention.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I read with interest and much pleasure the announcement in today's paper that the Commander in Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic had accepted an invitation from the American Legion Convention to attend the first annual meeting of the Legion to be held in Minneapolis the coming November. The invitation stated: " The whole country is looking to patriotic societies to take the lead in a campaign for a settled American policy," and that " the time has come for all army men and all patriotic societies to strengthen their position by a federation of their organizations."

I beg to suggest that it would be commendable for the American Legion to extend an invitation to the United Confederate Veterans' organization also. No society or people supported the Government during the world war with greater enthusiasm than the Confederate organizations. Every Confederate soldier who was able to do so went wholeheartedly into the war from the beginning. The sons of Confederate veterans joined the colors at the first opportunity, and the Southern women enlisted in every work provided for equipping the men of all arms with clothing and hospital supplies.

We of the South believe that we represent true Americanism. I know that the Confederate men and women feel that they do. No emergency could arise in the Government which the Southern people would fail to respond to. After the war between the States had ended the Confederate soldiers returned home to begin life anew, and how they succeeded is set forth in the rehabilitation of the South and the happiness of her people.

There are comparatively few survivors of that disbanded legion of honor, but as long as any of them are living they will continue to be a factor in the upbuilding of our country and the development of American sentiment and fraternal brotherhood.

It appears to me, therefore, that it would be a graceful act on the part of the Legion to invite the United Confederate Veterans to send representatives to the Minneapolis Convention.

"HOARDED" FOOD.

What Shall We Eat Next Winter if It Is Sold?

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The newspaper accounts of the food situation read like the daily blotter of a madhouse. "Attorney General So and So Says: 'Jail the Hoarders,' " "Thirteen Million Eggs Seized," "Government Agents Directed to Seize Hoarded Foodstuffs," "Huge Quantities of Food in Storage," etc. In the meantime, when responsible officials make such declarations, which give the people the impression that all merchants must be hoarders and profiteers, because prices are high, their underlings are incited to harass dealers so as to gain credit with their superiors and with the people.

The fact that there are large quantities of foodstuffs in the storehouses seems to be sufficient proof that they are being hoarded. Until recently, even little school children were expected to know that it was necessary to collect and store food in the season of plenty so as to have it when needed in the season of scarcity. Butter and eggs are gathered most easily and cheaply in April, May and June, the season of their greatest production, and stored for Winter when little or none of either is produced. It was even thought at one time that the person doing such work was of help to the people. Now he is a hoarder and public officials propose to seize his stores and force them on the market when they are not needed, and they will be gone by Winter when they will be needed. In a few weeks apples and potatoes will be stored and their owners probably charged with hoarding.

Although present prices are high and burdensome, the people can get along, because vegetables are cheap, and many have gardens. The use of our stock of stored foods now would be foolish beyond relief.

It is quite possible that there are very large stocks in store, and that some of them belong to speculators. It may be also that the buyers have overestimated the market and have stored too much. If so, they have encouraged production by the farmer by paying him a large amount for his goods, and they will do the public at least a measure of good by selling at a loss.

Either there is a surplus or there is not. If there is a surplus it is a good thing, as next Winter, when we need the food the most, it will be plentiful and cheap. If there is no surplus, it would be suicidal to take the food out of storage now and sell it.

How are the people of the cities to be fed in Winter if foods are not stored in Summer? And who will invest his money to store foods hereafter, when his goods have been seized and sold?

Will not somebody whisper to the officials having these matters in charge that the grasshopper policy of eating all you have in the Summer without a care for the Winter was disapproved some centuries ago by good authority?

Horrors of Saved Daylight.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Your last editorial on daylight saving is a beautiful illustration of how provincial a metropolitan editor may be. Only in a corner fenced off from the rest of the nation by a barrier of self-satisfaction could you have become obsessed with the idea that a majority of the American people favor the present law. On that supposition it is hard to understand why its repeal has been insistently demanded by a vote of more than two to one in the House of Representatives and three to one in the Senate.

Outside of New York it is believed that the explanation of that vote is not that " some farmers," constituting hardly a respectable minority of our people, rounded up and drove into their own corral a huddled mass of reluctant Congressmen, after the manner of the anti-saloon leaguers and woman suffragists, but the discontent of a great majority of people of all classes at keeping in times of peace a law passed in the emergency of war.

In this State the farmers have been indifferent about the law. They have disregarded it without inconvenience, except perhaps in dealing with their hired help. But nearly all other classes have found the law burdensome. The preacher finds in it the cause of the decrease in his congregation, perhaps mistakenly. Many cotton mills are running by sun time to economize labor. The teacher and the mothers of school children cry out against the new time. And pray tell me how one poor father and one poor mother are to get up on Sunday morning, build fires, milk the cows, feed the chickens, polish shoes, care for the baby, and get ready for Sunday school by 9 o'clock, new time, seven other children?

TOO MUCH COMPETITION.

Licenses for Food Purveyors Would Give Us Fewer and Better Groceries.

By EMERSON P. HARRIS.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

What are " exorbitant prices "? Attorney General Palmer and food reformers generally refer to " exorbitant prices " and " excessive profits " as though they could be recognized across the street. The cocksureness of people in speaking of exorbitant prices is in the inverse ratio to their experience in the matter. How is an excessive profit to be judged when the regular practice of grocers is to charge all the way from no profit at all up to 40 or even 50 per cent. in order to meet the expense of doing business and give, say, 5 per cent. or less average net profit to the dealer?

Sugar is the big item in a grocery store, and for many years dealers have gotten no more for it, on the average, above what they paid for it, than enough to pay for paper and twine. They have sold at a dead loss of the total cost of doing business, say, 17 to 20 per cent. Now, when the grocer gets a profit of, say, 40 per cent. on teas and spices, how can his prices be called exorbitant until it is ascertained that the average gross profit is more than enough to pay his expenses and give him a small living? And now the chain stores are compelling the sale of a lot of advertised articles at cost, still further reducing the volume of trade out of which to make profit to pay expenses.

This abnormal method of doing business is vicious, but presents a "condition, not a theory," and was recognized by the food administration during the war by the fixing of profits on a lot of staples below the cost of doing business, leaving the dealers to recoup on other articles and evidently expecting them to do so.

Undoubtedly the "little gouger" needs looking after, though he is like the proverbial flea, but the fact is that where the consumer is cheated pennies by the little gouger he is burdened dollars by the present faulty system of distributing foods.

The two outstanding facts are that competition brings about conditions which make food purveying wickedly wasteful by causing ten stores to exist where one is needed, the expenses of the duplicate shops being charged to the consumer. The second fact is that competition utterly fails to protect the consumer's interests.

The cure is to be found in the adoption of a policy which recognizes that needless duplicate plants cause an unmitigated burden to the consumer and should be forbidden for the same reason that duplicate gas, electric, and water mains are not allowed in the same streets.

Let the food purveying franchises be limited to the number needed and leased to bidders who will perform the service at the lowest gross average profit, cost to be figured on the basis of quotations at sources or primary markets. This kind of an arrangement, under proper safeguards, would mean two things: distribution under such conditions and in such volume as to make the utmost economy possible; and, second, real competition.

It would also avoid the turning over of the highly technical business of food distribution to the inexperienced—a thing which is often proposed by theorists. EMERSON P. HARRIS.

TOO MANY VISITORS.

Why Can't Commuters' Friends Spend Sunday in Town?

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Far be it from me to add one word to the general clamor against things as they are, but there is an abuse that must be abolished if I and many other suburban dwellers are to keep out of bankruptcy. I refer to the uninvited week-end guest.

I used to live in the city and, being of a genial and liberal nature, made many friends and more acquaintances, especially of the type who in the old days never " pushed the bell " when I was around. So, finding myself being rapidly impoverished, I sought to escape my friends and save a little for my old age, by moving to the country.

The device has proved a failure. It seems that my " friends " desired nothing so much as a place to spend Saturday or Sunday amid rural surroundings, for they arrive, announced or unannounced, in Ford or other cars, with cheerful visages and their entire families. They bring a box of candy or a Sunday newspaper and then feel justified in eating up every scrap of food on the place, carrying off all the flowers and even filling bags with apples, pears, or peaches shaken half-ripe from the trees.

By Monday morning there is nothing, absolutely nothing left. The worst of it is that they all depart with the same streotyped formula: " We've had a perfectly lovely time. Enjoyed it so much. Do let us come again," leaving a pile of dishes for my wife and daughter to wash.

By Wednesday the telephone peals hourly with New York calls, 90 per cent. of which are blunt announcements that they expect to be out the following Saturday or Sunday for a " little while," which means practically all day.

No excuses avail. " We have no servants this week " is met generally by the assurance, " Oh, we'll do everything ourselves; a picnic is so delightful! "

I have closed by house and gone away over the week end, only to find on my return that they had genially entered by the window, cleaned up everything but the dishes and departed, leaving a note that " The key is under the mat. Lovely time. So sorry to miss you."

One can't be absolutely rude, but in the name of common decency what can a modern suburbanite do to be saved from his friends? PERPLEXED.

Failures in Rehabilitation.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I read with much interest your article in today's TIMES on the Federal Board for Vocational Education. Perhaps a concrete case will illustrate what the disabled soldier has been up against.

I went to France, a First Lieutenant in the Medical Corps, in July, 1917, and was invalided home in May, 1918, with a diagnosis of incipient tuberculosis. On Dec. 2 I was discharged, 25 per cent. disabled. Casting about for work compatible with my physical condition, I accidentally came in contact with a representative of the Federal Board. I had been looking for work for nearly a month then and things didn't look exactly cheerful, but the Federal Board man painted such a rosy picture for me that my spirits revived; he explained that I would, of course, have to have my claim for compensation established before the board could handle my case, but that this was a mere matter of form.

Accordingly I applied for compensation, with no thought of the actual money return but to get the aid of what I thought was a powerful organization. I asked for special training and on Jan. 20 was given authority to take up certain university courses, which I immediately did. I attended classes for nearly a month, and although I had received no money, I thought my troubles ended, when I was directed by the War Risk Insurance Bureau to report to a civilian physician for examination to prove my right to compensation. This examination showed that I was in need of sanatorium treatment; if I didn't accept this treatment I couldn't get compensation; if I didn't get compensation the Federal Board wouldn't have the right to help me, (although they had already told me to go ahead.)

I took treatment. For two months I tried to support a wife and child on $45 a month. At the end of this time my savings were nearly gone and the sight of a piece of red tape would make me froth at the mouth. I wrote and asked that my compensation be stopped and went out and got a job.

When my lung doesn't ache I think it was a nightmare; when it does ache I know it all for grim reality.

A DISABLED OFFICER.

Meriden, Conn., Aug. 24, 1919.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I am a foreign service man and wish to compliment you on letting the public know all about this clogged machinery which at the present time exists in this so-called Federal Board for Vocational Education. Engraving being my trade, I went to some of these places, showing some of my work to some of these high priced officials, and suggested that it would be a good idea to teach some of these soldiers this kind of trade. One place told me that they didn't think any of the boys were artistically inclined to do this work, another place told me that there was a school in Providence, R. I., but they did not teach that kind of work, as they thought stamped work would take the place of hand work. Also I wrote to Dr. C. A. Prosser, Chairman of the board, and got an unfavorable answer.

There are engravers working at all the Summer resorts making $35 a week on the same work that I suggested.

WHAT EXCEPT WAR?

Punitive Expeditions and Boycotts Will Not Affect Mexico.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In your editorial headed " War Not Necessary," in refutation of Congressman Kahn's declamation on the Mexican situation, you offer as the alternative punitive expeditions, trade boycott, and blockade. Actual experience has shown us the utter inefficacy of punitive expeditions. In every case brought to notice thus far, the leaders of invading bands of marauders have escaped punishment, and instead of instilling fear into the calloused hearts of bandit leaders they are greatly encouraged by their successful escape from pursuing American soldiers. What does the loss of a few followers mean to Villa, Renteria, and others of their stamp?

Would a trade boycott or blockade have the effect which Mr. Kahn would bring about through armed intervention? The writer believes not. He had the opportunity while in the army on the Mexican border in 1916 to study conditions among the Mexican people. For nearly a score of years the overwhelming majority of these people have suffered hardships, until now they are actually indifferent to the living conditions prevailing in their country. The prime necessity would be, of course, food, but the Mexicans have learned to live on very little indeed. It is the better class of Mexicans that would suffer most, but they are so few in number and their control over the masses of the people so palpably impotent that the effect of a blockade would be negligible.

The writer is also a veteran of the world war. He has never had the slightest desire to adopt military service as a profession, but rather to pursue that profession to which he has been devoted all his life—his law practice. He is as much in sympathy with opponents of war when other means of maintaining American rights and American honor can be found as any rational and true American should be.

But these lapses in the administration policy of watchful (?) waiting, when our army on the border is caught napping, are bound to try the patience of the most ardent supporters of the administration, if these same supporters are fair to themselves and believers in American honor. What has the policy of conducting an interchange of soft-spoken pleadings or objurgatory letters with Carranza brought us? He is but the nominal leader of a nation which he cannot lead. His attitude in the recent affair wherein two of our army officers were held for ransom added the sting of insult to an altogether humiliating affair.

If Representative Kahn's proposal does not meet with approval, then let those who object speak up and offer an equally thorough solution of this problem which has successfully repudiated the efforts of three administrations and defied the American people during that time. LOUIS ROSENFELD.

Naval Officers Can't Resign.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Your editorial entitled " Underpaid Army and Navy Officers " of Aug. 20, 1919, is extremely interesting, and I, with hundreds of other officers, am glad to see such an editorial. However, if I may be permitted to say so, you have in one respect made a grievous error. You state " Many officers have resigned from the navy since the armistice," &c.; but perhaps you do not know that these officers are those who entered the service for the war only; and that officers of the permanent establishment cannot resign. This is in accordance with the Secretary of the Navy's policy and he has refused to allow officers of the regular line to resign.

I would like also to call to your attention the fact that a naval officer, upon entering the Naval Academy and while still a minor, signs an agreement to serve eight years, including the four years spent at the Naval Academy. This is the only agreement he ever signs, and yet the Secretary of the Navy takes it upon himself to say that he will not allow these men, who have done their duty and served their country, to resign, but that they must remain in the service until they retire, due to ill health or longevity, or until they die.

Officers must maintain appearances and they cannot do it with the present pay without running into debt. Debt means a court-martial and disgrace. Men who have given their time, health, and all their power to the Government, and who now wish to enter civilian life, are not allowed to do so, but must eke out their lives in a situation which is fast becoming intolerable, with the gray wolf of debt and dishonor always at their throats. Mr. Nordvall's Services.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The Hon. A. R. Nordvall, who sailed from New York last Thursday, was appointed in 1917 by the Swedish Government as Commissioner to the United States, and has since then been the head of the commission.

Not only has Mr. Nordvall rendered his country invaluable services as chief of the Swedish commission in his exhaustive effort to relieve the food shortage in Sweden, but he has also been an enthusiastic worker to bring the Scandinavian countries and the United States closer together intellectually and commercially.

Because of his great popularity in financial circles as well as among Government officials in Washington, it is with the greatest regret we see him leave. E. FORSSELL.

COLLECT $30,000 FOR JEWISH RELIEF

People's Committee Gets $15,000 in Voluntary Offerings at Opera House Meeting.

DRIVE TO START DEC. 1

Marshall Declares Jews in America Must Keep Brethren in Europe from Starving.

A twenty-million-dollar nation-wide campaign for the relief of Jews in Eastern Europe will start on Dec. 1, lasting for one week, it was announced last night by Alexander Kahn, Chairman of the People's Relief Comittee, at a meeting of that body at the Manhattan Opera House, Thirty-fourth Street and Eighth Avenue.

A collection which was taken up after two of the committee's representatives to Poland, Galicia, and other countries in Eastern Europe had spoken, amounted to $30,000, one-half of which was contributed by the Perth Amboy (N. J.) branch of the People's Relief Committee, and $15,000 by voluntary contributions of persons in the audience.

Louis Marshall, Chairman of the American Jewish Relief Committee was the principal speaker at the meeting, which was attended by over 3,000 men and women. Dr. Judah L. Magnus made the appeal for funds and the men who told of the Jews' conditions in the countries which they visited, were Max Pine, Secretary of the United Hebrew Trades, and Baruch Zuckerman, the general manager of the Jewish People's Relief Committee, and a member of the Joint Distribution Committee, of which the People's Committee is a part. Felix Warburg is the Chairman of the Joint Committee.

Mr. Marshall said that emancipation would mean nothing to the Jews unless their brethren in this country kept them from starvation.

"It is not enough," he said, "that people shall be free and equal. If they starve, if they are dying from diseases which result from famine, then freedom is of very little value.

"I trust that their emancipation will be a reality. I hope that the treaty of peace, which must include the League of Nations pact, will be confirmed and ratified by the United States Senate. Unless it is, the rights which have been promised the starving and destitute over the seas will be of comparatively small value. But if it is ratified, what does it amount to if at the moment that freedom is in sight and liberty is in the grasp they die of starvation?

"You have only just begun to pay a small percentage of the debt which you owe; a debt of gratitude to this country for allowing you to come here and prosper in its boundaries; and a debt of brotherhood for those whom you left behind."

Mr. Zuckerman, in his address, said that he found conditions in Eastern Europe much worse than he expected to find them, in spite of the fact that he did not go with a very optimistic outlook.

"What happens in the Ukraine," he said, "cannot be described by the word anti-Semitism. It is one or two years since the various political factions in the Ukraine have been fighting among themselves. And fighting in the language of the Haidamaks means entire annihilation. Besides destroying each other, they are also killing innocent Jews. From Feb. 15, 1919, to the middle of June 120,000 Jews were wiped out.

"In Warsaw there are at present 300,000 Jews, and 120,000 of them are dependent on charity for their food. At present the State of Bessarabia is, if anything, worse than that of the other provinces.

"In Bukowina the same state of affairs exists, one-half of the 120,000 Jews being dependent on charity for their support."

Mr. Pine, who was also a special representative of the relief committee, said that in Vienna most of the people were living in cellars, and it was not an uncommon sight to see fifteen and twenty persons sleeping on the floors of one cellar.

"Our brothers in Europe suffer not only from hunger and sickness," he said, "but also from pogroms. They are being annihilated.

"Jews of Vienna are doing everything they can for the children of the sufferers. The same can be said about the Jews from Switzerland. The latter have offered to take 750 children for a period of two months. The Dutch Jews, who have, until lately, done very little for their suffering brethren of Eastern Europe, became somewhat affected by the example of the Swiss Jews and they offered to take care of 500 children for a period of two months."

Following the accounts of the sufferings of the Jews, many women in the audience handed up their jewels to be auctioned off, thereby helping swell the coffers. Although some of the contributions were as high as $500, the greater part of the $15,000 was donated in one, two and five-dollar bills. Mr. Shepard J. Goldberg of 171 East Broadway announced that he would pay the expenses of the committee for the evening, which amounted to nearly $1,000.

Abraham Zucker, manager of the committee, said that he intended seeing Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, in the near future to take up the matter of requesting the administration at Washington to allow the relatives of the Jews in this country to immigrate here from their homes in Europe. Mr. Zucker said that because of the immigration bills which are now pending, it may not be possible for the wives and children of some of the Jews here to come over unless exceptions be made in these cases.

TO RAISE $20,000,000.

Fund Sought for Relief of Jews in Eastern Europe.

Announcement of a nation-wide campaign to raise $20,000,000 for the relief of the Jews in Eastern Europe, which will start with the first week in December, was made last night by Alexander Kahn, Chairman of the Jewish People's Relief Committee, at a meeting held at the Manhattan Opera House under the auspices of the committee. The campaign will be under the direction of the Jewish People's Relief Committee cooperating with the Joint Distribution Committee. There were nearly 3,000 persons present.

Two speakers, Max Pine, Secretary of the United Hebrew Trades and a special representative of the Relief Committee in Eastern Europe, and Caruch Suckerman, formerly General Manager of the Relief Committee, both of whom have just returned from Poland, described the pitiful conditions in which the Jews of Eastern Europe live today. Starvation, or death in the numerous pogroms, is the daily fate confronting hundreds of thousands of Jews, in those countries, the speakers told the audience.

A collection was taken up for relief work, the amount not being announced. Shepard J. Goldberg of 171 East Broadway announced that he himself would defray the expenses of the meeting.

RUSSIAN REDS AND I.W.W. BLAMED FOR RACE RIOTS

Department of Justice Says Funds Are Being Supplied for Propaganda Among Negroes.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Russian Soviet interests apparently are supplying funds for a propaganda to stir up race antagonism in the United States, according to information now in the hands of the Department of Justice.

Officials of the department said today that charges of an organized propaganda made in the House yesterday by Representative Byrnes, Democrat, South Carolina, seemed to be well founded. Newspapers, they said, were springing up over the country to spread the propaganda and sow discontent among the negroes.

Agents of the Department of Justice are investigating. Facts thus far developed lead officials to believe that I. W. W. and Soviet influence were at the bottom of the recent race riots in Washington and Chicago.

DISCUSSES AUSTRIA'S REPLY

Supreme Council Continues Work of Preparing Its Answer.

PARIS, Aug. 26.—Discussion of the Austrian Peace Treaty was continued by the Supreme Council of the Peace Conference at a meeting held this morning. The response to the Austrians to be made by the Allied Powers had been discussed at great length at yesterday's session of the Council, which, however, did not complete the text of the reply at that session, planning to take it up again today.

There was no session of the Council this afternoon because of the fact that Premier Clemenceau's official duties compelled his attendance at the meeting of the Chamber of Deputies.

The Jugoslav delegation has sent a note to the Peace Conference asking that former Austrian merchant vessels which belong to Slovenes be turned over to the jurisdiction of the kingdom of Serbs, Croats and Slovenes.

GIANTS FALL NINE GAMES BEHIND CINCINNATI IN NATIONAL LEAGUE FLAG RACE

EVEN BREAK BEST GIANTS CAN OFFER

Loss of One Game in Double-Header with Pirates Sends McGraw's Men Back in Race.

EASY VICTORY IN THE FIRST

Home Team Makes Mistake of Concentrating All Its Hits in Opener—Reds Nine Games in Lead.

The Giants dropped back another game in the pennant procession yesterday, breaking even at the Polo Grounds in a double-header with the Pirates, while the Reds were winning two games from the Phillies. Cincinnati now leads New York by nine full games. That puts Pat Moran's bunch almost out of speaking distance, and the only way the Giants can hope to reach them now is by telephone.

Instead of distributing their hits over two games at the Polo Grounds yesterday the Giants concentrated them all in the first game. The same might be said of their runs. They got sixteen hits and nine runs in the first game and only seven hits and one run in the second. New York took the first game, 9 to 1, and the Pirates won the second, 4 to 1.

New York went at two Pittsburgh flingers, Miller and Ponder, in the third inning of the opening offering, so that they were both jolted beyond recognition. In this weird round the Giants batted all the way around, Nehf coming to bat twice. The seven hits which bounded off their bats were accompanied by five stolen bases, which, any one will admit, is a whole lot in such a short period as one inning. Nehf held the Pirates to seven hits. The only damaging blow was delivered by Lee, who pushed a three-bagger to left centre in the eighth and scored on an infield out.

The hurdle in the second game which the Giants were unable to leap was old Charley Adams, who as Babe Adams in 1909 pitched the Pirates to a world's series title. That was ten years ago, and Adams fooled McGraw's men yesterday just the same as he fooled the New York talent which was under the Giants' banner in those ancient days. Of the seven hits off Adams there was only one inning—the second—when they got two in a bunch. On that auspicious occasion New York merrily loaded up the bases and didn't have the necessary punch to shove through a run.

Rube Benton, who has been pitching great ball for New York, met a persistent enemy in Bill Southworth, who plastered him for three hits. Bill smacked it every time he came up to the bat. The Pirates bunched their bangs off Benton, and they did the same thing against Dubuc when he was pitching in the eighth inning. It was the Giants' last appearance on the home lot until Labor Day, when they will clash with the Braves for a couple of grapples.

An Impressive Introduction.

Burns opened up on Bullet Frank Miller for a triple to left centre in the first inning of the opening attraction. He scored when Young doubled to the same territory. Fletcher rocketed a high fly to Southworth, Young going to third after the catch. Zimmerman rolled to Miller and Young was run down between third and the plate, Zim going to second. Frisch poked a single to left, scoring Zim.

The Giants kicked the Pirates all over the lot in the third. The Pittsburgh infield was as loose as a bunch of keys. At no one time did any of the Pirates consider it necessary to cover either the first, second, or third bases, while Giants were residing thereon.

Nehf opened up the soirée with a double along the sacrifice foul line. Burns tried to sacrifice, but Miller made a wild heave to Whitted, Nehf going to third. Young singled, scoring Nehf, while Burns went to third. That was the finish of Miller, and Ponder came to the mound. He was even worse than Miller. Fletcher got a poke to Ponder, who tossed the ball home while Burns slid in safely, Young going to second. Zimmerman walloped a single to centre, Young counting, while Fletcher pulled up at third. Zim was frisky and stole second. Frisch rolled a grasser to Whitted, but there was no one around to cover first, so the Fordham boy got a hit, Fletcher registering. Zimmerman and Frisch negotiated a double steal, Zim tallying.

Double Steal Operates Successfully.

Kauff got a Texas League to centre when Terry and Carey were undecided about catching it. Frisch went to third on this smack and then Frisch and Kauff unpeeled a double steal, the Fordham lad counting. Chase ballooned to Whitted for the first out of the inning. Gonzales hopped a hit to short, and Kauff was put out trying to score. Nehf, up for the second time in the same inning, fanned and the awful chapter was ended. New York got seven hits and half a dozen runs during this gushy effusion.

The Pirates got their lonesome unit in the first of the eighth. Schmidt was taken out of the game in the fifth, presumably because Manager Bezdek was afraid the Giants would start another base-stealing epidemic, and Lee took his place. Well, Lee, in the eighth rocked a triple to left centre. He stuck to third while Nehf tossed Ponder out at first, but scored when Bigbee rolled out to Chase.

The Giants got their last run in their portion of the same inning. After Kauff had skied to Carey, Chase got a hit through second and, on the hit-and-run play, Gonzales singled to left, pushing Chase to third. Hal scored, when Nehf lifted a sacrifice fly to Carey.

Pirates Set Pace in Second.

Pittsburgh started the arithmetic going in the first inning of the second encounter. After Nicholson had boosted a fly to Kauff, Benton gave Carey a free ticket. Southworth rapped a triple over Young's roof and scored Carey. Frisch tossed Whitted out and Barbare rolled a grounder to Chase. Hal slid for the bag on his manly chest and tagged the cushion just about one eye wink before Barbare arrived.

The Giants jammed the bases like a subway train in the second, but they were held there to suffocate. Zimmerman singled to centre and was forced by Frisch. After Benny Kauff had fanned, Chase singled to right, shoving Frisch to third. Chase and Frisch started a double steal. Hal stole second alright, but Frisch changed his mind about going home and turned back to third. He would have been an easy out, but for the fact that Schmidt made a high toss to Barbare. Snyder was passed purposely and filled the corners. Benton forced Snyder, Cutshaw to Terry for the third out.

The Pirates cooked up two more runs in the fourth. Barbare doubled to left, his hit bounding off Zimmerman's station. Cutshaw sacrificed. Terry rolled to Benton, who threw home to cut off Barbare. Snyder ran after Barbare, and he raced back to the bag, but couldn't catch him, and the runner got back safely, furnishing one more laugh for the crowd. Terry went to second during the mix-up. Schmidt poked a single to left, scoring Barbare and Terry.

A Sign of Life.

The Giants showed their first inclination to score in the seventh. The crowd stood up to stretch and implored the home folks for a rally. Kauff responded with a two-base slap to right. Benny went to third, as Terry was throwing Chase out at first. Snyder bumped a sacrifice fly to Nicholson in left, scoring Kauff.

Pittsburgh got another run in the eighth. Southworth got an infield hit, Fletcher making a great stop and toss to Chase—a second too late. Whitted sacrificed, and Southworth rolled home on Barbare's two-base crack to left. Barbare went to third, while Cutshaw was being put out at first, and the inning ended when Frisch made a remarkable stop and tossed Terry out at first.

Curves and Bingles.

Schmidt, the Pirates' catcher, went out at first by a brand new route in the seventh inning of the second game. When he hit a grounder to Zimmerman he broke his bat and did not run to first. Zim threw the ball to Fletcher, Fletcher to Frisch, and Frisch to Chase, and Schmidt was out.

Max Carey muffed Frisch's fly in the last inning of the second game. No one can remember when Max ever muffed one before.

The industrial unrest seems to have hit the baseball clubs. The players think their hours are too long so yesterday they played the first game in one hour and thirty minutes and the second game in one hour and twenty-five minutes.

The announcer's dialect yesterday hit the fancy of the crowd. He pronounced Pittsburgh, "Pittsgoig," and also informed the folks that Statz was running for "Boins," when the collegian romped for Burns in the first game.

Bill Lange, the old Chicago outfielder, who has been in France for the Y. M. C. A., was out to see the double-header. He came expressly to see his nephew, George Kelly, perform at first for the Giants. But as Hal Chase's sprained wrist has been repaired, George didn't get into the games.

The sprinting path between third base and home at the Polo Grounds is a course which some of the Giants can never negotiate in winning time. Zimmerman has lost more than one race down the stretch and yesterday Snyder tried to beat Barbare back to third in the fourth inning of the second tilt and Barbare beat him easily.

Speaking of sprinting, the Giants probably made a record in the third inning of the first game when they burglarized five bases, two of them being double steals which registered runs.

Bill Southworth went wild at the bat in the second game. He got four hits out of four times up, one of them a triple. He got one hit in the first game.

Frisch went on a batting spree in the first game with three hits, two of them being infield affairs. The Fordham lad surely looks like a fixture for the Giants' infield next season.

Bullet Frank Miller of the Pirates used to be a Jonah for the Giants, but they knocked all the hoodoo off his pitching yesterday before he pitched three innings.

The Yankees get back today for a double header with Washington. The first engagement is at 1:30. The Giants will go over to try their luck with the Phillies for a couple of days.

DODGERS ADVANCE INTO FOURTH PLACE

Robins Have Busy Day and Win Two Close Games from St. Louis Cardinals.

Brooklyn had a perfect afternoon. There was nothing that transpired on the plains of Flatbush yesterday afternoon to mar the tranquillity of Charley Ebbets and his constituents. The Dodgers won two games from the St. Louis Cardinals. The first was taken by a score of 1 to 0, and the second 2 to 1. Winning is getting to be a habit with the Robins, albeit it has taken them a long time to acquire the habit. As a result of Pittsburgh's splitting even with the Giants and the double victory by the clan of Wilbert Robinson, the Dodgers moved into undisputed possession of fourth place in the National League parade.

As the saying goes in baseball, both games were hotly contested; that is, they were close finishes, with Brooklyn just managing to nose out the St. Louis contingent by the scantiest of margins. The scores show the games could not have been any closer unless they resulted in dead heats. For instance, in the first game it was not until the eighth inning had skipped across the sportive calendar that the Dodgers were able to jam across the run that eventually won. In the second game it was not until the seventh stanza that Brooklyn registered its second run and victory. The greatest stickler for blanket finishes could scarcely ask for more.

To Al Mamaux and Burleigh Grimes must be given chief credit for the double killing. They were all that pitchers should be. Whenever the Cards threatened to cut into the joy of the afternoon's sport they tightened up and held the Rickeyless visitors from the Mound City at a safe distance. It is true that Mamaux allowed more hits than did his rival, Jake May, in the opener, but it is also true that when hits meant runs the Cards didn't get them. And that's what counts in finally summing up the difference between victory and defeat. In the second encounter the Dodgers supported Burleigh Grimes with more hits than were collected by the Cards, but there were times during the pastime that a timely rap might have spelled defeat for Brooklyn. Grimes was always very much among those present when such contingencies arose.

Olson Bats in Winning Run.

In the first game it was nip and tuck until the eighth inning. It was then that Brooklyn scored the run that won the game. The suspense had been thick, but it was punctured when Otto Miller bumped a single through the infield into the left field. He dug his spikes into second base when Al Mamaux sacrificed, Jack Miller to Milton Stock, who covered first. Ivy Olson unleashed his second hit of the game, a double along the left field foul line, and Otto Miller galloped across the plate with the hurrah tally. Johnston was hit by a pitched ball, but Griffith missed three healthy swings and fanned. The inning ended when Zach Wheat grounded to Hornsby and was thrown out at first base.

Incidentally, Tommy Griffith plucked enough laurel for a full-sized—about seven and an eighth—wreath for himself by two of the most spectacular catches that have been made on Charley Ebbets's lawn this season. In the third round he robbed Stock of a blossoming three-bagger by scurrying to the car corner of the foul line in right field and picking the ball out of the sultry air while doing a "hundred" in close to 10 flat. In the eighth, Heathcote came within an ace of presenting his club with a run single-handed, but Griffith again came to the rescue by racing to deep right centre and shutting off the near-home run by a great catch. Tommy nearly wore out his cap taking it off in response to the raucous applause of the Brooklyn fans. It isn't very often that a Brooklyn fan has a chance to become exercised, but when he does he makes the most of it.

With the Pirates losing the first game to the Giants and the Dodgers taking the first from the Cards, joy was unconstrained among the 5,000 fans who trekked their way through the turnstiles at Ebbets Field. But, when the second game crashed its way into the garden party it looked for a time as if all the good work of the early afternoon would be discounted.

Jack Miller, who was acting as manager for the Cardinals while Branch Rickey, the regular boss, is away on a scouting tour, selected Frank Woodward to oppose Burleigh Grimes. Woodward seemed to have a lot of stuff and it looked exceedingly promising for him when the Cards grabbed a run in the first round.

Ivy Olson caused a peck of trouble in the opening inning by his over-zealousness. Smith raised a high fly into short left centre. Both Wheat and Myers came in for it. Either of them could have gathered in the ball without overexertion, but Olson backed up to take it and both the outfielders stepped aside to avoid a collision. Olson circled under it, but failed to make the catch and it went for a scratch double. Smith took third as Heathcote was being thrown out by Grimes and scored from there on Stock's long sacrifice fly to Wheat. Hornsby beat out a hit to Olson, but McHenry forced him, Ward to Johnston.

Woodward's Strategy Faulty.

In the third inning it looked as if the Dodgers might do some scoring on their own account. After Grimes flied to Heathcote, Olson singled to short right and took second when Johnston made his second hit, a single to left, by throwing his bat at the ball. Both runners advanced on Griffith's out, Stock to Jack Miller. With two out and two on Woodward purposely passed Zach Wheat, electing to take a chance on Hy Myers, who is among the five leading batters. It looked like an error in strategy for Woodward, but he was saved when Jack Miller took Myers's grounder over first base and retired the runner unassisted.

It was in the fifth canto that Brooklyn tied the score. Grimes bunted a wad of hopes into the proceedings when he started off with a slow roller toward third and beat it out. Olson walked, and when Woodward slipped and fell as he fielded Johnston's bunt Jimmy was credited with a base hit and the corners were filled. Griffith lined a fly to centre that Heathcote had to jump high in the air to pull down and Grimes scored the tying run. The other runners failed to advance. Doc Lavan ran back into centre field and grabbed Wheat's pop fly with his gloved hand. The session was broken up when Myers forced Johnston, Lavan to Stock.

It looked as if St. Louis meant business in the seventh inning. Hornsby worked Grimes for a pass but expired at second when McHenry forced him, Olson to Johnston. McHenry reached third on Dilhoefer's single to right. Jack Miller hit one to right that came dangerously close to being a three-bagger, but it was foul by a couple of inches. Then he fanned. Dilhoefer stole second but Lavan flied to Myers and the trouble was averted.

Brooklyn broke the tie and won the game in the seventh inning. Grimes collected his second hit. It was a single to right. Olson sacrificed, Woodward to J. Miller. Johnston was safe and Grimes took third on Lavan's low throw to first. Johnston stole second and, on Dilhoefer's high throw over the Midway, Grimes scored. Wheat fouled to J. Miller in right and Johnston tried to reach third after the catch but was doubled, Miller to Hornsby.

In the ninth inning the Cardinals tried to stir up some discomfort and succeeded to a marked degree. The rosy hue that settled over the box score when McHenry was called out on strikes in spite of his protests, and Dilhoefer fouled to Otto Miller, was changed to the drab of uncertainty as Jack Miller punched a safe blow past Johnston and Lavan was safe on Johnston's fumble.

But the end came with many signs of relief as Schultz, batting for Jacobs, who had relieved Woodward in the eighth inning, forced Miller at third, Ward unassisted. Taken by and large it was a pleasant afternoon.

REDS ROMP PENNANTWARD.

Take Two Games from Phillies—Second Goes 15 Innings.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 26.—Cincinnati had to go fifteen innings in the second game of today's double-header to make a clean sweep of the five-game series here with Philadelphia. The league leaders won the first game 4 to 3 and the second 8 to 3.

Cheney went to pieces after fanning Neale with the bases filled in the fifteenth, and hits by Kopf, Duncan, and Wingo drove in five runs. Both Cheney and Fisher went the whole distance and pitched creditably, being backed up by sensational fielding.

Groh's home run, which bounced into the left-field bleachers, following Rath's infield single in the ninth, won the first game. Eller outpitched Rixey, but the locals bunched Callahan's double and Williams's home run in the first inning, and in the sixth, after Eller struck out Blackburne and Williams, Meusel walked, stole second, and scored on Luderus's double to left field.

Cincinnati threatened to score often, but netted only two runs until the ninth. Meusel's hitting was a feature of the double-header. He has hit safely in twelve consecutive games.

CICOTTE WINS HIS TWENTY-FIFTH GAME

Eddie Collins's Home Run in Tenth Beats Browns by Score of 4 to 3.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 26.—A home run over the right-field fence by Eddie Collins in the tenth inning enabled the Chicago White Sox to beat the St. Louis Browns in an exciting game today, 4 to 3. It was Eddie Cicotte's twenty-fifth victory.

The White Sox scored three runs in the first by bunching two hits with a base on balls and Gerber's error. St. Louis combined three hits for two runs in the sixth and tied the score in the eighth on a hit batsman, a sacrifice, and a single. Schalk was banished in the sixth when he lost his temper, after a close decision at the plate, and pushed Umpire Moriarity. Kerr was ejected in the ninth for protesting too strenuously on a called third strike.

BRAVES IN DUAL CONQUEST.

Cubs Fail Behind Alexander, 1 to 0, and Lose Second, 7 to 2.

BOSTON, Aug. 26.—Boston closed its games at home against Western clubs by beating Chicago in both games today, the first, 1 to 0, against Alexander, who allowed but three hits, and the second, 7 to 2, with the home team hitting Hendrix hard. Hollocher's hitting and fielding were features.

Chicago had nine men left on bases in the first game. Oeschger's work in the pinches and good support contributed to the shutout. Boston's one run came in the fourth with two out, when Holke scratched a single to short, stole second, and scored on Mann's clean single to left.

EBBETS WANTS NEW RULE.

Would Have Players Stop Tossing Ball at End of Game.

Charley Ebbets, President of the Dodgers, has requested John A. Heydler, President of the National League, to issue an order which will prevent ball players from indulging in the habit of throwing the ball in the air for the fans to scramble for after the last put out has been made. Last Sunday at Ebbets Field Zach Wheat did this and Ebbets states that several fistic encounters resulted, "which, happening on a Sunday, marred what otherwise was a pleasant and orderly Sunday entertainment. While the damage on this occasion," continued Ebbets in his statement, "was not serious, there is always an opportunity in a rush of this character that one or more persons may be seriously injured."

HOME RUN BEATS SKEETERS

Schulte's Big Drive Gives Toronto a 5 to 3 Victory.

Special to The New York Times.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 26.—Wild Bill Donovan and his Skeeters played their farewell game of the season here today and were defeated by 5 to 3. The visitors scored all of their runs in the first inning but thereafter were helpless before the southpaw shoots of Heck, the local left-hander, who allowed no hits in the last seven innings. With the score a tie at the conclusion of the fifth, the game was held up for fifteen minutes owing to rain.

Devitalis started on the mound for the Skeeters, but, allowing one hit, he walked the next three batters and forced in a run. Biemiller relieved him, but he, too, was wild and ineffective, and in the sixth frame gave way to Tecar, and the latter stopped the Leafs.

Heck got away to a poor start when the visitors made three hits and scored as many runs in the first inning, but he came down to earth and pitched masterly ball for the balance of the game.

The tieing run was tallied by the locals in the fifth inning, when, with two down, Biemiller passed Whiteman to get McInnis, and the latter upset his calculations by doubling to the right field fence. In the sixth W. Purtell singled, stole second and reached third on Hudgins's error. Sandberg then connected with one of Biemiller's slants and the ball sailed into the right field bleachers, resulting in two runs.

All of the three games played in the series were won by circuit smashes coming when one man was on base, and all three landed in or over the right field bleachers. Schulte, who won the opening game on Monday by making the longest hit seen here this season, lifted a foul ball far over the same wall today.

BEARS BEATEN BY BISONS.

Ninth Inning Run Wins Game for Buffalo, 3 to 2.

Special to The New York Times.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 26.—Buffalo evened the series with Newark by winning today's game, 3 to 2. The Bears tried to win by that old trick, that of walking one man to get the supposedly weak batter following him.

McCabe was guilty of this offense today. Keating was on second, and two were down, when McCarron came to bat. Mac had done nothing in the hitting line to warrant the fear shown by the Bears' battery. Nevertheless, he was walked and Ryan came to the plate, and after two strikes had been registered, he hit to short left, Keating carrying home the winning tally.

KORTLANG BEST CRICKETER.

Leads New York Batsmen in Halifax Cup Competition.

According to the official figures of the recent Halifax Cricket Cup competition, which was again won by the New York eleven, after a tie with the Germantown Cricket Club of Philadelphia, Sergeant Major B. Kortlang of the Manor Field Cricket Club of West New Brighton, Staten Island, heads the batting averages in this inter-city series for the third time in his career.

His winning average was 66.77 and his fine total of 601 runs was to a large extent made up of three "centuries," of which the largest was 162. The only other century was that of J. L. Poyer of the Brooklyn Cricket Club, who scored 121, not out, in the deciding match with Germantown and thereby gaining second place in the averages, with a total of 318 runs and an average of 45.43.

The following are the batting and bowling averages made by the New York players in the Halifax Cup competition.

A. E. F. MARKSMEN WIN AT CALDWELL

Take Team Prize and Score Heavily in Individual Shooting on Navy Range.

CALDWELL, N. J., Aug. 26.—The 1,000-yard and final stage of the national individual match was shot today at the navy rifle range under the auspices of the National Rifle Association. The 200 and 500 yard stages were shot yesterday. The feature of today's shooting was the splendid work done by the American Expeditionary Farce team, which took first place and won five of the first ten places among the individual contestants.

More than 1,300 entered the match. Today's target was a 36-inch bull's eye. Twenty shots were fired from a prone position. No sighting shots were allowed and no artificial sights were permitted. Twelve gold medals went to the first twelve marksmen, twenty-four silver medals to the next high scores, and thirty-six to the next high men. The winner is hailed as the champion individual rifleman of the United States.

The scores for the 200-yard, 500, and 1,000-yard ranges are as follows:

Tenth—First Sergeant S. Smith, A. E. F., 99—94—88; total, 281.

The United Service match will be shot tomorrow. This match will be shot by teams of sixteen men from the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, and National Guard, with one team of sixteen men as a civilian team, which will be composed of the best individual riflemen of the country.

The match will be fired over the national match course at 200, 500 and 1,000 yard targets. The winning team will be awarded the United Servive trophy, a bronze eagle mounted on a mahogany column. The winner will hold the trophy for one year.

18-FOOT SLOOPS POPULAR.

One-Design Boats Gain Favor on Gravesend Bay.

Indications point to the proposed eighteen-foot class of one-design racing sloops being the popular boat on Gravesend Bay next Summer. The yachtsmen below the Narrows have taken to the new class as a duck takes to water, and already seven members of the Atlantic Yacht Club have decided to order craft. Rear Commodore Horace E. Boucher, who is booming the class on Gravesend Bay, stated recently that he believed that at least a dozen of the new boats would be racing below the Narrows next year.

The yachtsmen who have decided to build into the class include R. A. Brown, who has been out of the racing game for several Summers; Louis Luckenback, one of the younger generation of yachtsmen; W. O. Saxton, Jr.; I. L. Beebe, Jr., who has been racing an Islip one-design class this Summer; Phil Crovat, J. V. Ritchey, and F. R. Mayer. Dr. C. L. Atkinson also is mentioned as a probable member of the class. All belong to the Atlantic Yacht Club.

Junius S. Morgan, Jr., Chairman of the Long Island Sound Committee, believes that at least twenty yachts will be built for Long Island Sound sailors. With an eye on inter-sectional racing, the Atlantic Yacht Club members plan to place a gasoline motor in their big club launch so that they can tow their yachts to Long Island Sound whenever an intersectional race is arranged.

A prominent yachtsman plans to offer a championship trophy for the class. His idea is to have at least one championship race at each club which builds into the class. In this way every club that is interested in the division will have an opportunity of seeing the full fleet of new boats. The Atlantic yachtsmen who plan to build the eighteen-footers hope that some of the other lower bay organizations build into the division, so that there will be more than one race for the complete class below the Narrows next Summer.

The cost of the new yachts still is a mystery. Builders around New York talk about $1,800 to $2,000 a boat. It is believed that if orders are placed for all the yachts at the same time the craft will cost about $1,600 each. It is quite possible that the yachts may be built down East, where labor is cheaper than around the metropolitan district.

Believing that the half hour after sunset rule works a hardship on both the yachtsman and the regatta committee at a race, the Seawanhaka-Corinthian Yacht Club of Oyster Bay will place a time limit of five hours on its annual Autumn Cup races, which are to be held next Saturday on Long Island Sound. Yachts which do not finish within five hours after the starting signal is fired for the first class will not be timed by the committee. The innovation will permit a yachtsman to withdraw from a contest if he sees that it is impossible for him to finish within a reasonable time. The Seawanhaka committee believes that if yachts cannot cover a course in five hours the regatta is no longer a race and should be called off.

The Marconi rig has taken Boston by storm, and indications point to practically all of the more important Marblehead racing yachts using the rig next season. The decision is the result of the work of the Marconi rigged yachts during the recent Marblhead series. Three yachts have been carrying the rig down East this Summer, and in practically all conditions of wind and sea these craft have been unbeatable by othere of the same craft.

The Marconi-rigged yachts are Hayseed IV., a Class P craft, and Gossoon and Beta in Class R. The two former have the conventional Marconi mast with a bow, while that of Beta is straight raked aft, similar to the Chesapeake Bay buckeye.

In ten out of eleven races sailed by Hayseed IV. between Aug. 2 and Aug. 11 the craft came home first. The only race lost by Hayseed IV. may be chalked up against a change of wind. Soon after starting in the Eastern Yacht Club's race on Aug. 4 the wind hauled and gave the yachts to windward work. Thus, with only reaching, Valiant, a gaff-rigged yacht, managed to keep ahead of the Marconi-rigged craft.

With a record of 1,000 per cent. in eight races, Gossoon did even better in Class R. Beta, although called a Marconi-rigged yacht, is not the true type. Also, the yacht originally was not built for the class. At the beginning of the year her sail spread had to be cut down considerably to allow the boat to race in the class.

Dodgers Buy Infielder Baird.

The Brooklyn Club has claimed Douglas Baird, infielder, from the St. Louis Club, via the waiver route. The Dodgers paid the required $1,500 for the player, who has pastimed with Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, as well as his recent engagement with the Cards, yesterday. He practiced in a Brooklyn uniform between the double-header at Ebbets Field.

Cardinals' Franchise Not Sold.

The report that the franchise of the St. Louis National League Club had been sold to Milwaukee interests was emphatically denied yesterday by officials of the Cardinal Club. "It is just a means of getting publicity for Milwaukee," said one of them.

PATTERSON DEFEATS ALEXANDER IN OPENING DAY'S PLAY FOR THE NATIONAL TENNIS TITLE

PATTERSON VICTOR AFTER HARD BATTLE

Australian's Superior Endurance Conquers Alexander in First Day's Title Tennis.

DOYLE SUPPLIES AN UPSET

Southerner Defeats Voshell in Five Sets—All the Other Favorites Come Through Successfully.

Today's Feature Matches.

Court No. 3—Ronald V. Thomas, Australia, vs. Lyle E. Mahan, New York.

Court Nov. 1—Richard Norris Williams, 2d, Boston, vs. Vincent Richards, New York.

At 4:30 P. M.

Court No. 2—R. Lindley Murray, Buffalo, vs. Dean Mathey, New York.

All four of the visiting Australian tennis players, Norman Brookes, Gerald Patterson, R. V. Thomas, and Randolph Lycett, as well as the majority of the high-ranking players of America, came safely through the opening round of the thirty-eighth national championship on the turf courts of the West Side Club at Forest Hills yesterday afternoon. Patterson, who, since his victory at Wimbledon, has been hailed as the "world's tennis champion," had his hands full to dispose of the old internationalist, Frederick B. Alexander, pulling out the match after being two sets down, 4—6, 3—6, 6—1, 6—2 6—2. Aside from this unexpectedly thrilling struggle, the only surprise of the day was the defeat of S. Howard Voshell by Conrad B. Doyle of Washington, the match going in five sets at 4—6, 6—3, 6—3, 5—7, 6—4.

The present holder of the national title, Robert Lindley Murray, overwhelmed Dr. William Rosenbaum in his opening encounter, taking three sets without the loss of a game, and ex-Champion William M. Johnston also started with an easy victory. R. N. Williams, 2d, the 1916 champion, was forced to work hard by Fred C. Baggs, but won in straight sets, 6—3, 6—4, 6—4. Of the other prominent contenders, William T. Tilden, 2d, advanced by default, while McLoughlin, Brookes, Lycett, Thomas, Kumagae, Mathey, Washburn, Kashio, Niles, Wallace Johnson, Hall, Biddle, Garland, Davis, Richards, and Beekman all won their brackets without serious trouble.

In an entry list of 128 only nine matches went by default, the most important player to drop out being Karl H. Behr, who found it impossible to get the necessary practice to put himself into condition for play.

Alexander's Spectacular Effort.

Alexander's great fight against Patterson was easily the spectacular feature of yesterday's play. Although the young Australian was clearly handicapped by his injured arm, which was swathed in bandages, he had enough speed to win against anything but flawless tennis. And this is practically what Alexander produced in the first two sets. Using his head at all times, and making the most of his opponent's obvious weaknesses, he constantly played him out of position, winning his points on well-placed volleys which Patterson had not the slightest chance of reaching. When, at the very start, Alexander easily won his service and then proceeded to upset Patterson's delivery for a love game, the crowd gasped. The veteran was leading, 3—0, before his rival could get started. After that, the games alternated with service up to 5—3, when Patterson broke through on the American's errors, and seemed about to pull out the set. Alexander, however, staged a counter-break, scoring with two fine passing drives down opposite sides of the court after the points had gone to deuce in a series of furious rallies.

With the first set scored in his favor at 6—4, and the advantage of the opening service besides, Alexander went right after the second set and landed it somewhat more easily by a 6—3 score. A double fault by Patterson gave the veteran the break for a 5—3 lead, and although the Anzac fought hard to equalize, he lost on two magnificent volleys and a well-placed overhead shot by Alexander.

These two sets, however, took most of the endurance out of the old master, and he had little left to withstand the uphill rush which Patterson now began. Crowding on all speed, the pupil of Brookes galloped through a 6—1 session and then squared the match with another victory at 6—2. It was obvious that all was over then, but Alexander still hung on and did his best to make a game finish. Service was divided up to 2—all. Then Alexander led at 40—15, but deuce was called as a result of untimely errors.

Patterson twice had the vantage point before he succeeded in winning the break for a 3—2 lead. I love game made it 4—2, and Alexander again dropped his service through the handicap of a double fault. Patterson then served out the set, and match, 6—2, without the loss of another point.

Australian's Game Not Impressive.

In spite of this victory, the Australian's tennis was far from impressive, and he would certainly have been defeated if Alexander had not reached a state of practical exhaustion. So long as his vitality lasted, the veteran distinctly outplayed his younger rival. Patterson's service was effective, but he missed many low volleys, while his backhand drive was a reckless and utterly unstable shot, which lost far more points than it won.

The score by points follows:

Doyle's Victory Well Earned.

Doyle's unexpected victory over Voshell was achieved on merit, for the Southerner was chopping very accurately throughout the match and succeeded in passing his rival again and again by keeping the ball as close as possible to the side lines. Voshell was brilliant in the opening set, and his service, volleying and overhead work, showed little weakness at any time. His one vulnerable spot was his back-bound, and here a low ball off the ground frequently gave him trouble. Doyle's chief weakness was in lobbing, and his short tosses were consistently pounded into oblivion by the left-hander. Doyle began the service and lost his first break at 2—all, Voshell passing him with beautiful ground strokes from deep court. But the Washingtonian immediately returned the compliment with a similar run of accurate shots, and then proceeded to 4—3 in spite of serving two double faults. Voshell tied it up with a clean ace, and then broke through again, making a great get at the side, resulting in a placement, and then volleying unexpectedly to Doyle's left for the game. It was Voshell's set, 6—4, with a good volley, after his opponent had netted three times.

By pounding away at Voshell's backhand, Doyle soon had the lead in the second set, and a double fault, accompanied by a great get and some beautiful passing shots gave him the break for 3—1. Service then alternated in winning, and Doyle's aggressive play kept him on top to the end of the session, which he won at 6—3. He proceeded to take another by the same score, breaking through at the very start with the help of two double faults, and taking the last game at love, when his opponent suddenly slumped in his volleying, smashing the last ball far out of court on an easy chance.

Doyle was three times within a point of the match in the fourth set, when he led at 5—4. But Voshell pulled out each time with wonderful defensive work, the Southerner being unable to produce the punch which would have put the ball away finally. After winning this game, Voshell immediately broke through Doyle's service and squared the match at 7—5. But the Washingtonian still had some reserve power, and in the rubber he used everything he knew. Losing the break twice, he came back each time and tied up the set by beating Voshell's terrific southpaw service, passing him brilliantly as he came to the net. Leading at 5—4, Doyle had another opportunity when his splendid lob landed in the extreme corner, with no return possible. Facing the match point at 30—40, Voshell lost his head and served two wild ones in succession, the double fault deciding the set and match, 6—4.

Cragin Resists McLoughlin Feebly.

The veteran Arthur S. Cragin gave McLoughlin a disappointingly feeble resistance in the third feature match of the day, losing in straight sets, 6—3, 6—0, 6—2. The California Comet was in fine command of his ground strokes, whipping his forehand drive to the corners with great speed and unerring accuracy. He was content to practice from deep court, seldom going in for a volley, and he had few chances to kill overhead, as his opponent kept the ball low. The McLoughlin service was generally effective, even though minus its former overwhelming pace, and it was varied now and then by a reverse twist which did not prove particularly successful. Cragin did his best work in the opening set, his steadiness frequently driving McLoughlin into errors. But as the latter gathered confidence, the loser quickly faded.

The minor encounters produced some exciting battles, the hardest being that in which H. H. Bassford defeated his old rival, Dr. George King, 7—5, 1—6, 6—3, 4—6, 7—5. The winner led at 5—2 in the rubber, but the Westchester County champion pulled up to deuce games, only to lose the set and match by sheer physical inability to keep up the fast pace.

W. J. Toussaint of the New York Tennis Club also required five sets to eliminate E. H. Chapin, Jr., while P. L. Kynaston won a thrilling five-set match from Robert Allen of California, narrowly escaping defeat after winning the first two sets easily.

Richards Straight-Set Winner.

Leven Jester, one of the winners in the Southern doubles championships, showed good form against Vincent Richards, but was unable to stop the brilliant youngster from winning in straight sets. Young Walter Wesbrook of Detroit made a fine impression in his decisive victory over R. J. Gatcomb, pulling out the third set after the games stood 5—2 against him.

Two of the Australians, Patterson and Lycett, were drawn against each other today, but the latter has decided to default the match, letting his countryman advance without effort. Aside from the feature matches, to be staged in the grandstand enclosure, interesting battles should result today from the meetings of Dionne and W. M. Johnston, Kashio and Miles, F. C. Anderson and Biddle, LeRoy and Griffin, Brookes and Wesbrook, Garland and James, Kynaston and Seaver, and Drake and Beekman.

PURCHASE PROVES THAT CROWN IS HIS

Hildreth's Great Colt, 134 Up, Takes Huron by Five Lengths—Is King of 3-Year-Olds.

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 26.—Sam Hildreth's Purchase proved today that he is a truly great race horse, capable of carrying a heavy impost over a distance of ground, and that he must be rated at the top of the three-year-old division until some horse is brought out to beat him. This fine son of Ormondale and Cherryola ran a remarkable race in winning the Huron Handicap at a mile and three-sixteenths, but the most impressive part of his victory was the easy manner in which he disposed of his one rival in the contest, R. T. Wilson's Hannibal. Purchase won the event with five lengths to spare and was just galloping at the finish, while Hannibal was nosed out for the place by F. D. Weir's Tetley, which is only a high-class selling plater.

Purchase added greatly to his prestige today by his victory because he proved his ability to carry weight against a real contender. He had 134 pounds up. Not often since he defeated Sir Barton has Purchase been called on to beat really good horses. Most of the horse owners have dodged him in the handicap events, and his victories have been won with comparative ease.

It was this fact and the wonderful showing of Hannibal in his last two races that brought about such a division of opinion here today. Hannibal had a very large number of supporters because of his recent races and also because of the fact that the Hildreth colt was obliged to concede eight pounds in the weights. There were many who doubted the ability of Purchase to give Hannibal eight pounds and beat him at a mile and three-sixteenths.

For that reason it was one of the most interesting races run at the meeting and certainly the only one in which Purchase was not considered a sure thing. Purchase was never lower than 4 to 5, while Hannibal ruled at 6 to 5. Both colts had plenty of support.

Six Go to the Post.

There were six starters in the race. Cirrus was coupled with Purchase and the others besides Hannibal were Crystal Ford, Pastoral Swain, and Tetley. The latter was in with an advantage of forty-two pounds over Purchase, and it was the light impost that enabled him to beat Hannibal.

As the barrier went up Crystal Ford went to the front, with Purchase away well, and Hannibal closeup. Hannibal was rushed into the lead at the first turn and Knapp was content to let Purchase take it easy around the bend and fall back to fourth. Cirrus, which was in the race to look out for Purchase and take care of any mishaps that might attend the star of his stable, was not in a running mood and was never far enough up to be of any assistance to Purchase.

Hannibal had won both of his victories here by going into the lead at the start and he attempted to win in this manner this time. Ensor rated him along in front through the back stretch until Tetley came along to set the pace. Meantime Purchase was running easily with his head drawn back as though Knapp was afraid to let him run. The others were straightened out.

Knapp never made a move on Purchase until he reached the end of the turn into the stretch, when he gave his mount his head. The Ormondale colt had apparently been waiting for a chance to run as he pleased, and in a few strides he was abreast of Hannibal. Tetley, which was close to the Wilson colt, was also going along nicely but Purchase passed both easily, and when he got under way in the stretch it ceased to be a contest. He drew away until he left the others battling for the place and no question raised as to the winner.

Purchase had five lengths to spare as he came over the finish line. Knapp had taken hold of him in the last few strides and was easing him up. Hannibal put up a game fight to the finish, but he had been so badly used up in the early racing that when it came to the last drive at the wire he could not put on an atom more speed. Tetley, which had been taken back for a short breathing spell, made one final dash and just nosed out Hannibal for the place. Pastoral Swain, which had been well fancied for third, ran a good race all through to the stretch, where he faltered and dropped back. He finished fourth, with Cirrus and Crystal Ford running far back.

The Crown for Purchase.

Purchase has but one more engagement for Saratoga. That is in the Saratoga Cup on Saturday when he will carry weight for age and will not have to concede anything to horses of his age. However he comes out in that race, it will not tarnish his claim to the three-year-old crown. He will have a clear claim to that until he again meets Sir Barton. This meeting will not occur until some time in the Autumn and then at one of the Maryland tracks. Until then Purchase is entitled to all the glory that goes with a championship almost undisputed.

Next in importance to the Huron was the North Troy Selling Handicap at a mile and a quarter, which was run as the fifth race of the day and was won by T. C. McDowell's Precious, with African Arrow second, and Rose D'Or third. Andrew Miller's Snapdragon ran very badly in this race, having been left at the post and forced to trail the field all the way.

Precious went to the front with the break and, cutting out a fairly fast pace, lasted to hold the lead to the finish. African Arrow had a good chance all the way but followed the pace so long that when Sande moved with the Ross Colt it was too late to catch the leader. C. P. Winfrey's Ivory, which has shown a liking for this distance and which has run some good races recently, received a very bad ride from Jockey Kummer and was so badly rated that he could not get up with the others when it came to the drive through the stretch. Kummer managed his mount poorly all through the race. He has not been riding well for some time and his jockeyship is beginning to arouse some adverse comment.

Upsets in Baby Races.

The two-year-olds continue to run as far from form as possible and there were upsets in both of the events which brought youngsters to the post today. The first race on the card was won by Andrew Miller's Biff Bang, which got the best of the start and raced into a good lead to win handily, with American Soldier second and Sadie D. third. None of these has shown anything in any of their previous races.

The last race, which was also for youngsters, was won by Busy Signal, owned by E. R. Bradley, with Masked Dancer second and Beck and Call third. Masked Dancer was the favorite and, though off well, quit badly in the final eighth of a mile and was fortunate to get the place.

Star Athletes Hit Hard by High Cost of Living

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—Five dollars a day is much too little for a star athlete to subsist on, according to a round robin filed today by Joie Ray, Jo Loomis, and other Central A. A. U. athletes with Everett C. Brown, National Committeeman. Mr. Brown will present the matter at the National A. A. U. meeting in Philadelphia next month. Several of the crack men of the Central District will compete in the Canadian championships at Toronto, Sept. 6, and they agreed the high cost of living had clutched them. They said they were unable to meet the necessary traveling and living expenses with the association allowance and then sent their protest to Mr. Brown.

$4,500 FOR WESTY HOGAN.

Conqueror of Omar Khayyam Sold to H. S. Cochran at Saratoga.

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 26.—Westy Hogan, winner of numerous stake races, and the conqueror of Omar Khayyam in the Bowie Handicap a year ago, was sold at auction here tonight for $4,500 to H. S. Cochran. This was one of several horses sold from the stable of Wilfrid Viau. George Starr, another high class performer, brought $5,100, and went to H. Perkins.

These racers brought the best prices realized at the sale at which a number of horses in training were sold. Whimsey, which won several stake events, and has since been running in selling races, brought $2,000, and was purchased by G. W. Fareman.

WOULD BANISH TOE CALKS.

F. R. Hitchcock to Bring Question Before The Jockey Club.

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA, Aug. 26.—F. R. Hitchcock, a steward of The Jockey Club and one of the stewards of the current meeting of the Saratoga Association, announced today that at the annual meeting of The Jockey Club next January he would propose a rule doing away with toe calks on all racing plates.

"Two horses have been destroyed and three or four badly cut down through the use of these toe calks at the present meeting," said Mr. Hitchcock, "and I think it is time that we called a halt. Calks are forbidden on English and French courses, and there is an exhibit on all French tracks of what are termed fair and unfair racing plates, and the penalty is exceedingly severe for using the latter type. I would make the penalty for the use of such plates come in the same class as fraudulent practices, which would include the electric battery and other devices of that sort. I have talked with many good horsemen and they all agree that horses can run in the mud with smooth plates. I would not rule against heel calks as no damage could be inflicted with them."

TENNIS UMPIRES DINE.

New Association Hears Songs, Speeches, and Rules Discussions.

"And he shoots them down our alley."

That was the refrain which greeted Norman E. Brookes, the Australian tennis expert, at the dinner of the National Tennis Umpires' Association, held last night in the Della Robbia room of the Vanderbilt Hotel. The song, a parody on the one-time popular musical number, rose from the throats of the 300 members of the association assembled at the dinner.

Brookes commented on the umpire's chair at the West Side Club, saying that it was as complete as a miniature hostelry, but suggested that a tank of oxygen be supplied for the winded contestants, from which they could sip vim-creating nourishment. The Antipodean racquet-swinger declared that, when he returned to Australia, he would recommend that an association similar to the umpires' organization here be organized.

The National Tennis Umpires' Association is a recent development of tournament tennis, and was created to secure more efficient work in judging contests. Edward C. Conlin, Chairman of the association, acted as toastmaster at the dinner.

Major E. B. Herran, who is the British Military Commissioner to New York City, represented the British Tennis Association at the dinner. Major Herran is a tennis player himself, and brought the best wishes of the British association to the Americans.

Julian L. Myrick, Vice President of the National Tennis Association, and acting President because of the illness of President George Adee, was among the speakers. Robert Lindley Murray, present national champion, and Charles S. Landers, President of the West Side Club, where the present tournament is being played, were likewise heard from.

After the toasts, the members discussed the tennis rules and methods of improving the efficiency of the present system of judging.

MIGNOLA CAPTURES READVILLE PURSE

Trots to His Eighth Successive Victory in Leading Event of Grand Circuit Meet.

BOSTON, Aug. 26.—The Readville Purse for 2:16 trotters, the feature event of the opening day of the Grand Circuit meeting at the Readville track, was easily won by Mignola, marking his eighth successive victory this year. At the end of each heat Cox was looking back at the field. The heats were won in 2:08¾, 2:09½, and 2:09½.

The best race of the day was the two-year-old trot. Natalie the Great, driven by Thomas, lost the opening heat, through a break at the distance flag, Mr. Dudley taking it in 2:12½. Natalie won the second by a short neck from Mr. Dudley, in 2:10, the fastest heat by a two-year-old trotter this year. In the final heat the Thomas entry was only a nose in front of Mr. Dudley at the finish, the time being 2:11½.

Goldie King was easily the best of the lot in the American Horse Breeder Futurity for three-year-old pacers, winning in 2:09¼ and 2:08¾.

Millie Irwin won over the favorite, Peter Hopeful, in the 2:18 trot, in 2:10¼, 2:12½, and 2:10¾.

Trotting Jottings.

Murphy, Geers and Cox won thirteen of the eighteen races contested at Poughkeepsie last week. They represent the strongest "money getting combination" that has ever appeared on the trotting turf, and no one can pull the Sherman act on them, as the rivalry between the "big three" is very keen.

Murphy's stable is like the A. E. F. It has starters in every sector, while new material is being added or brought up from the base as soon as the first selections fall by the wayside. Brusiloff was given a stall at Cleveland in July, Wood Patch was picked at Toledo, Clifford Direct at North Randall, while Doctor Nick made his first start last week at Poughkeepsie and won in 2:10.

Geers, like Napoleon, makes his own army. Week after week he keps bumping his rivals with horses that have been racing in the dust, Molly Knight, Kerrigan and Mamie Locke being the latest to show in front. Heir Reaper has been lame, while Goldie Todd is the best pacer that has been in Geers's stable since he brought out Direct Hal. Her victory in 2:02¼ at Poughkeepsie over Sanardo and Frank Dewey shows that nothing but the free-for-allers at top form can catch her.

From now on the horses will be on the up grade in the matter of premiums. The Massachusetts, worth $5,000, the $10,000 events at Hartford and Syracuse, and the colt stakes at Columbus and Lexington, as well as the other early closing events at all of these cities will whisk the winners out in front and jump their drivers into the lead in the money columns.

Murphy won six races at Poughkeepsie with Royal Mack, Direct C. Burnett, Directum J., Goldie King, Esther R. and Doctor Nick, while Geers added five to his score with Goldie Todd, Mamie Locke, Molly Knight, Dudette and Wiki Wiki. Cox, as usual, gathered in two of the big early closing events with Mignola, it being the seventh placed to his credit, and McGregor the Great. The only events that escaped the M. G. C. were won by Natalie the Great, who balanced her account with Mr. Dudley for her defeat at Philadelphia, Hollyrood Kate, Worthy Peter and Helen March.

The returns for the three leaders show that Murphy, at the close of the Poughkeepsie meeting, had won twenty-seven races this season, Cox sixteen and Geers eleven. In the matter of money, Murphy also leads with $31,224.25, Cox being second with $26,776.85, and Geers third with $22,117.25, the total amount standing to the credit of the M. G. C. being $80,118.35.

SCHRUMM DEFEATS EPSTEIN

120-Pounders Stage Fast Bout in Bensonhurst Y. C. Tourney.

Three classes of the preliminaries in the boxing tournament at the Bensonhurst Yacht Club were held last night and the semi-finals and finals will be staged tomorrow.

The 110, 120, and 130 pound classes were the bouts judged last night, and the 140-pound class, which had been scheduled to be held at the same time, was postponed and will be fought with tomorrow's events.

J. Schrumm, East Side House, and J. Epstein, Mercury A. C., mixed in a lively three rounds, after which the judges disagreed. The referee awarded the decision to Schrumm, who had outpointed his 120-pound opponent on slugging work, at which both boxers were adepts and not afraid to show their art. Sol Seeman, Brooklyn A. A., 108-pound New York State champion, disposed of J. Doherty, Knights of St. Antony, in three rounds, judges' decision.

The winner and runner-up of each class will receive a diamond ring as an award.

MRS. JONES LOSES TO MISS HEDFIELD

17-Year-Old Player Downs Medalist in Women's Western Golf Tourney.

DETROIT, Aug. 26.—Two favorites, Mrs. Melvin Jones, (Chicago,) medalist, and Miss Elizabeth Klotz, (Chicago,) city champion, fell in the first round matches of the Women's Western Golf tournament here today. Mrs. Jones was defeated by Miss Frances Hedfield, the 17-year-old Milwaukee girl, holder of the Wisconsin title, 3 and 1, while Miss Klotz was eliminated by Miss Dorothy Higbie of Chicago.

Mrs. H. Arnold Jackson, former national champion, advanced another round nearer the final by defeating Mrs. K. Durffield, (Memphis,) 3 and 2. Mrs. Jackson's 93 was the best card of the day, a strong wind again playing havoc with scores. Mrs. David Gaut, (Memphis,) came through by defeating Mrs. T. Ellis of Chicago, 7 and 6. Mrs. Gaut is the South's only remaining contender.

Two Detroit players were placed in the second rounds, Mrs. W. G. McGiverin, who defeated Mrs. S. Pritchard of Battle Creek 2 and 1, in a hard match, and Mrs. L. R. Jones, who won from Miss Vera Gardiner, (Chicago), 3 and 2.

The hardest match of the day was that between Miss Jennette Kinney, (Cleveland,) and Mrs. H. Landauer, (Milwaukee,) a former Wisconsin champion. Miss Kinney won on the twentieth green, after squaring the match on the eighteenth, by winning the last three holes. Miss Madge Miller, (Grand Rapids,) had to go to the nineteenth green before defeating Mrs. W. G. Deemer. Mrs. F. C. Letts, Jr., winner of the 1916 and 1917 Western titles, reached the second round by defeating Mrs. R. P. Towner, (Memphis,) 7 and 6.

SIMMONS WINS GOLF CUP.

Captures Arthur Taylor Memorial in Bogie Handicap at Ekwanok.

MANCHESTER, Vt., Aug. 26.—Rutledge Simmons of Suffolk Country Club won the Arthur Taylor Memorial Cup bogie handicap at the Ekwanok Country Club this morning, finishing 1 up on the "Colonel" with an allowance of eight strokes. The air was biting cold and there was a rather strong wind which tended to make most of the scoring high. Practically all of the favorites, including Intercollegiate Champion A. L. Walker, Jr., Paul Hunter, the Chicago Star, and R. C. Ulmer of Jacksonville, Fla., finished so poorly they did not return cards. A. G. McIlwaine, 2d, finished 1 down after giving bogie two strokes. He required forty-three strokes for the outward journey and played the last nine in par thirty-five.

The better scores with the allowances follow:

Rutledge Simmons, Suffolk, (8,) 1 up; I. I. Robeson, Rochester, (2,) even; A. G. McIlwaine, 2d, National, (plus 2,) 1 down; Frank Crocker, Ekwanok, (8,) 1 down; Cabot Morse, Braeburn, (8,) 2 down; W. O. Henderson, Scioto, (8,) 2 down; Darwin H. Kingsley, St. Andrew's, (8,) 4 down; R. H. Jeffrey, Scioto, (9,) 4 down; A. J. McClure, Lakewood, (8,) 6 down; C. L. GOLF FAVORITES BEATEN.

Upsets Are the Rule in First Round of Merion Tournament.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 26.—The way of the golf favorites lay in rough and rugged places at Merion today. The chosen were defeated in the first and second rounds of the invitation tournament so thoroughly that the name of only one is found among the four survivors, and he has already defaulted his semi-final match, which was to have been played tomorrow morning.

Sydney Sharwood of the home club is the lone favorite to weather the storm, but he will not be among those present today. Sharwood was scheduled to play W. J. Platt of North Hills in the semi-final of the upper bracket. Tonight he was suddenly called out of the city, which puts Platt, an older brother of "Woodie," conqueror of Francis Ouimet, into the finals without raising a club.

F. W. Kemble, Merion, will meet J. B. Rose of Allegheny in the lower bracket of the semi-final tomorrow. The latter failed to qualify in the national at Oakmont last week, which will be an everlasting puzzle to those who saw him erase Max Marston from the picture in the second round Monday.

When the returns were added up it was found that such players as Fred Knight of Atlantic City and Whitemarsh, the medalist, Norman Maxwell of Woodbury and Overbrook, Maurice Risley, Atlantic City, and Max Marston had been jostled right off the premises.

In today's play Maurice Risley took out young Donaldson Cresswell of Huntingdon Valley in the morning and returned to the clubhouse with nothing but his golf outfit and a fine coat of tan. The youngster's margin of victory was 3 and 2. While this was going on Rose was putting the skids under Knight, and Kemble was blotting out Norman Maxwell. Thus three of the favorites went out in the first round.

The summary:

FIRST ROUND.

FIRST SIXTEEN.—D. Cresswell, Huntington Valley, defeated Maurice Risley, Atlantic City, 3 and 2; W. J. Platt, North Hills, defeated S. J. Graham, Greenwich, 5 and 4; A. F. Kammer, Baltusrol, defeated J. J. Beadle, Llanerch, 9 and 7; Sydney Sharwood, Merion, defeated C. H. Atherholt, Aronimink, 7 and 6; J. B. Rose, Allegheny, defeated Fred Knight, Atlantic City, 1 up; Max Marston, Merion, defeated F. Sargent, Merion, 4 and 2; F. W. Kemble, Merion, defeated Norman Maxwell, Woodbury, 4 and 3; Pat Grant, Cricket Club, defeated Phil Corson, Merion, 4 and 3.

SECOND ROUND.

FIRST SIXTEEN.—Platt defeated Cresswell, 3 and 1; Kemble defeated Grant, 3 and 1.

BAD MAIL SERVICE LAID TO BURLESON

Rifling in Chicago Became Notorious and Boys Replaced Skilled Men, Witnesses Say.

CHINESE COOK SENT TO AID

Delays Hidden by False Postmarks, Workers Underpaid and Overworked, Committee Hears.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Postmaster General Burleson was a target of attack by witnesses appearing today before the House Committee on Expenditures in the Post Office Department. Thomas F. Flaherty of the National Federation of Postal Employes, E. J. Ryan, President of the Railway Mail Association, and other witnesses criticised the Postmaster General.

Flaherty made the charge that the Postmaster General had used political influence to defeat needed improvements in the postal service, while Ryan asserted that mail delays could be traced directly to terminal distribution.

"It seems to me," interposed Representative Sells, Republican, of Tennessee, after hearing three witnesses, "that he has made a sweatshop of the Post Office Department."

"You could put it that way," agreed Mr. Ryan, the President of the Railway Mail Association, which comprises the force of skilled clerks who travel over the land in mail cars.

Charges that the Post Office Department was never in a condition of greater inefficiency, that boys in knickerbockers were employed in place of skilled men, that so much mail had been rifled in Chicago that even a suit of clothes belonging to a postal official had disappeared, that men in the Chelsea terminal in New York worked twelve hours per day for twelve weeks, and that railway mail clerks received less than negro porters on station platforms were made by Ryan and Flaherty. Mr. Flaherty said:

Protection Laws Nullified.

In six years not a single constructive recommendation for betterment of the postal employes has been made. On the contrary, their wages have been reduced and laws for their protection nullified. An effort has even been made to repeal the law giving them the right to appeal to Congress. The wages are so low that the department cannot get men to work for it.

A small sensation was produced when Mr. Flaherty told the committee:

Postmaster General Burleson's idea of granting relief to the employes when the mail service was so heavy last Winter was to send down his Chinese cook and coachman to work in the Washington postoffice. The Postmaster of Washington and other cities asked for help in the rush of business. But seemingly Mr. Burleson's idea was to send the Chinese cook and the coachman to work at night. The Chinese cook was shown special favors. He was able to loiter while the other employes were made to speed up.

Representative Byrnes of South Carolina, Democrat, rather took the edge off this statement, for after talking over the telephone with John C. Koons, the First Assistant Postmaster General, Mr. Byrnes asserted that the Chinese cook and coachman were not sent by Mr. Burleson, but sought the additional employment of their own volition.

The committee held its meeting in order to cinsider a bill by Representative Zihlman of Maryland, Republican, to increase postal wages. Mr. Flaherty told the committee that the larger groups of postal employes had received only a 25 per cent. increase over the maximum established twelve years ago, yet living costs had increased over 100 per cent. He said:

The postal employes of today are doing the work a man and a half did in 1913. In Chicago there are 4 per cent. fewer clerks than six years ago doing 80 per cent. more work.

That condition nolds good throughout the postal service for the last six years. The increase in the work has been 60 per cent. and the decrease in the number of employes has been 11 per cent. One man is now doing the work a man and a half did six years ago.

While working conditions are unsatisfactory, wages have not been increased. The Postmaster General went out of his way to prevent an increase. In a report to the Sixty-fifth Congress he said the employes were getting three times the wages of the soldiers in the trenches. That is unfair, unwarranted, and unjust.

Throughout the service it is true that at the present time the employes are beginning to wonder whether or not they must strike before attention of the public is drawn to their demands.

Mr. Flaherty said employes at Sioux City, Iowa, declared they would have to resign on or before Oct. 1 unless they received some relief.

"That," added Mr. Flaherty, "is typical of a great many offices in the United States."

Mr. Barnes asked if this meant there would be a strike.

"No," replied Mr. Flaherty, "I do not think so, but I deplore the fact that the men feel that way. Congress must act to relieve the situation. The truth is the men feel they are being overlooked."

Charges that delays in the mail were hidden by false post-marks were made during the afternoon. The statement was also made that Mr. Burleson has withheld facts from Congress and has made repeated denials of actual conditions.

Even though the population of Chicago revolted last Spring against intolerable mail service, Mr. Ryan declared, a philanthropic organization could not place discharged soldiers in the post office there, at a time when there were 45,000 former army men in that city.

He continued:

Many men out of the classified list were appointed as emergency clerks and numbers of these were idlers from the streets. It was a notorious fact that large quantities of mail were rifled going through Chicago. In one day five indictments for rifling the mails were found against men in the office.

Even the Postal Supervisor of the Chicago District had a suit of clothes stolen which he mailed through the Chicago office.

This witness stated that the employes had been reduced from 20,311 in 1914 to 18,397 in 1917.

In the Chelsea Terminal, in New York, where mail was handled for overseas soldiers, said he, the force was so shorthanded, because the Post Office Department would not fix wages and working conditions, that, during one period, men worked twelve hours per day for twelve weeks, including Sundays, and without overtime pay.

"A concession was made on Christmas Day," he said. "That day the men worked only eight hours, instead of twelve."

According to his testimony, Ryan was dismissed from the service because, after his election as chief of his organization, he appealed to Congress to improve pay and conditions. He was accused, he said, of "fomenting dissatisfaction," and given three days to answer this charge. When he did answer, according to his statement, he was accused of "insolence" and then dismissed.

Mr. Ryan called attention to great delay in the railway mail service, due, he said, to the lack of experienced help and the fact that mails were distributed at terminals largely instead of on the trains, as formerly. Referring to the labor problem and efforts of employes to get relief, Mr. Ryan said Mr. Burleson was "harsh and oppressive."

Mr. Flaherty asserted that not only were higher wage standards needed but there should be a punitive rate on overtime, in order to insure the postal workers the benefit of the eight-hour day. He said that most of the mail distribution was performed at night by men who had to study distribution schemes upon their own time.

ON TRIAL AS BETRAYER OF EDITH CAVELL

Quien, Accused in Paris, Denies All of the Charges Brought Against Him.

PARIS, Aug. 25.—After the plea of his counsel for a postponement of trial had been overruled by the court today, Georges Gaston Quien, charged with having had intelligence with the enemy and being the betrayer of Edith Cavell, answered negatively all questions tending to involve him in difficulties.

Quien admitted that he presented himself as an officer of reserves to Prince Croy, whom he is charged with having denounced to the Germans as having aided French prisoners of war to escape. He said he did not care to admit to Prince Croy that he was just out of prison. (Quien served a sentence in the jail at St. Quentin in 1914 and was liberated when the Germans first took the town.)

The accused testified that he reached Brussels with money and introductions from Prince Croy on June 7, 1915. Although he was supposed to stay only long enough to prepare his escape to Holland, Quien declared that he remained for a fortnight owing to an infected nail, which was removed under the care of one of Miss Cavell's nurses. Miss Cavell herself, he said, advised postponement of his departure.

Quien denied that he frequented cafes in Brussels in questionable company during the fortnight he remained there, and also denied having posed as an aviator.

He finally reached The Hague, he said, and presented himself as a simple private to the French military attaché, Colonel Desprês, who, he declared, sent him back to Brussels with a mission as he could be more successful there than in France. He arrived in Brussels on July 28, when he again saw Miss Cavell.

The hearing, which was conducted before a small audience, composed mostly of barristers and members of the English colony, was adjourned at this point.

ENGLAND KEEPS UP BARS.

Only Country Not to Accept Passports on Pre-War Conditions.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—England alone of the great European nations has declined, for the present at least, to remove restrictions on admission of persons under foreign passports imposed during the war for the purpose of excluding political agitators, persons of doubtful loyalty, and other undesirables.

This was brought out today by inquiry as to why Great Britain was not included in the list of countries to which the State Department has announced passports would be granted on pre-war conditions after Sept. 15.

TURKISH CIGARETTES

LEADERSHIP

A fact:

With the exception of a few lower-priced brands, Fatima is the largest-selling cigarette in America.

Its sales nearly equal those of all straight Turkish brands combined.

To have won and to hold such leadership, Fatima must (and, of course, does) deliver something to smokers that money cannot buy in any other cigarette.

What is it? The answer is: "JUST ENOUGH TURKISH."

Straight Turkish cigarettes seem to have too much Turkish—the poorer Turkish blends, too little.

Fatima, on the other hand, has "just enough Turkish."

Just enough to taste right and just enough to leave a man feeling right, even when he smokes more than usual.

Are you, personally, smoking too much—or too little—or just enough Turkish?

TO SELL 30,000 U.S. ARMY SHOES

Public Can Get Them at $5.50 a Pair in Brooklyn Tomorrow.

MORE FOODSTUFFS COMING

Commissioner Day Will Have a Wider Variety on Sale Today.

$225,000 WORTH BOUGHT

Large Quantities of Beans in Storage for More Than a Year Taken Out.

United States Attorney James D. Bell of Brooklyn announced yesterday that a Brooklyn concern would tomorrow place on sale at cost price 30,000 pairs of regulation army shoes in connection with the campaign to reduce the cost of living.

The Meade Shoe Company of 102 Myrtle Avenue is to offer the shoes to the public at $5.50 a pair. James Meade, President of the company, recently wrote to Attorney General Palmer informing him that his concern had 30,000 pairs of army shoes which it was willing to dispose of at cost if the Government would advertise the fact. Mr. Palmer thanked Mr. Meade and sent a copy of Mr. Meade's letter to United States Attorney Bell. After a conference with Mr. Meade yesterday Colonel Bell announced that the sale would begin tomorrow.

Mr. Meade said last evening that the shoes were part of a supply contracted for through him by the Government last Spring. The cost price to him, he said, was $5.50, the wholesale price since that time having advanced to $7.13 a pair. Mr. Meade said that he had 15,000 pairs of the shoes in stock and an equal quantity in the hands of the manufacturers

While the sale of surplus army food supplies was discontinued for the day yesterday to allow the city authorities to take stock of what had been accomplished so far, Jonathan C. Day, Commissioner of Markets, in charge of the sale, took advantage of the opportunity to rush a varied stock of foodstuffs to the school buildings where the housewives were complaining they did not have a wide enough latitude of choice.

Some 68,000 pounds of bacon was distributed during the day through schools in the five boroughs, as well as a quantity of pork and beans, condensed milk, and canned tomatoes, corn, peas, and string beans. When the sale reopens today it is expected that things will be a little easier for the hard-worked clerks, inasmuch as thousands of pounds of assorted supplies will be on hand behind the improvised counters of each of the fifty-six schools where the food is on sale.

Mr. Day estimated that for the four days the sale had been going approximately $225,000 was taken in. Monday was by far the biggest day as far as selling went, $60,315.80 being spent by the men and women of this city for the Government food. The different boroughs spent their money as follows: Manhattan, $15,316; Brooklyn, $17,415; Bronx, $19,107; Queens, $6,117, and Richmond, $2,358. These ratios, according to officials of the Department of Markets, show the way the proportion each borough spent for food during the sale so far.

Mr. Day said that barges had been helping out the 125 trucks employed in transporting the food from the three army bases, two in Brooklyn and one in Port Newark, to the school houses. These barges will be used during the remainder of the sale.

Big Concerns Get Food Direct.

Employes in a number of big concerns, said the Commissioner, have clubbed together, and where there are a hundred or more of them the city has obtained permission from the Quartermaster Corps to sell the food direct. These private distribution agents, after making the necessary arrangements at the offices of the Department of Markets in the Municipal Building, send down to the piers for the food as soon as it is landed from the barges. Mr. Day said that he did not contemplate any increase in prices of foodstuffs to cover overhead charges in the matter of the efforts to get a better method of transportation.

Captain J. R. Hebblethwaite of the Quartermaster Corps said last night that he expected the army would be able to allow New York City the major part of the 1,200 carloads of food ordered in addition to the order for 400 carloads which was sent in first. Captain Hebblethwaite also stated that 500,000 pounds of bacon more would be sent to this zone in addition to the 1,800,000 pounds already in the supply bases here.

The combined fight the Federal, State, and municipal authorities are waging on the high cost of necessities of life began to show results yesterday. Assistant United States Attorney Ben Matthews, who has been investigating the cases of alleged hoarding of food here, announced that he had persuaded about twenty dealers who had food in storage to sell their goods. In one instance, Mr. Matthews said, 3,000 dozen cans of baked beans had been located which had been in storage for two years, the owner of which had gone out of business as a food merchant. This man, who was located by Department of Justice agents, said that he had bought the beans for $1.45 a dozen cans and would be glad to get rid of them at 75 cents a dozen if he could find a buyer. Two carloads of red beans which have been in storage since 1917 will also be put on sale here at less than they cost, said Mr. Matthews.

Federal Food Administrator Arthur Williams said yesterday that reports received by him show that the fair prices established by his general committee on basic food articles are aiding housewives in making economical purchases. He said that he hoped to have such a fair price list for meats following a meeting with the Master Butchers tomorrow or next day.

The Food Administrator said that he is trying to get dealers to name lower prices on bulk flour which the United States Grain Corporation is offering to place on the market at a little more than $10 a barrel. Mr. Williams said that the wholesaler would be asked not to supply the retailer who insisted obtaining an exorbitant profit while the Government under the Food Control act would decline to supply the wholesaler with flour or sugar if he persisted in charging too much to the dealer.

Discussing the situation in the clothing and shoe industry, the Food Administrator said that he expected great things from the meeting of the Fair Price Committee sub-committee in charge of those commodities under Michael Friedsam at the Waldorf on Monday.

"The spirit those dealers showed was extremely gratifying," said the Food Administrator. "It was the first time any effort has been made in this country even to approximate a fair price list in clothes, and the difficulties faced are tremendous. It was brought out at the meeting that a number of persons, most of them not of the so-called wealthy classes, are insisting on the extravagantly priced grades of clothing and shoes. Those present at the Waldorf every one of them expressed the opinion that thrift and careful buying at this period would do a great deal to lower prevailing prices."

Mr. Williams said that in a few days he would move from his present office in the Consolidated Gas Company's building at Fifteenth Street and Irving Place to Room 407 in the Federal Building, where the Fair Price Committee will hold its sessions. There will be a meeting of the committee on Friday.

Tomorrow the Fair Price Committee's sub-committee on bread, of which Louis Marshall is Chairman, will meet with the Master Bakers in the Assembly room of the Merchants' Association in the Woolworth Building, to consider what will be a fair price for Jewish bread. The bakers say that the present price of nine cents a loaf has got to be raised.

Mr. Williams asked that where it was found dealers were insisting on a customer buying numerous other articles if sugar was to be obtained at that particular store should be reported to the Fair Price Committee. Such a practice, the Food Administrator said, was unfair and would not be permitted.

The investigation of the State Council of Farms and Markets ordered by Governor Smith will begin tomorrow morning, according to a statement issued yesterday by George Gordon Battle, appointed Special Commissioner by Governor Smith to conduct the investigation. Mr. Battle's statement follows in part:

"I have been fortunate in securing the services of John Burlinson Coleman, an experienced and competent attorney, of 60 Wall Street, this city, who was for many years a partner of Justice Edward R. Finch, as counsel. I have today taken up preliminary matters in connection with the investigation, and hope to have the first public hearing on Thursday morning, Aug. 28, at 11 o'clock.

Prohibition Sends Capital for Brewing to Jamaica

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Aug. 26.—As a result of the prohibition law in America, several financiers of that country, toghether with Jamaican business men, have formed a company for the manufacture of beer and other malt liquor here.

ALLEGE WIDE HOARDING.

Colver and Murdock Accuse Six Basic Industries.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—A hurried inventory of fuel, steel, lumber, textile, leather, and food stocks held by basic industries would disclose hoarding and speculation, William B. Colver and Victor Murdock of the Federal Trade Commission declared today before the House Appropriations Committee.

They urged that the commission be provided funds for permanent work in compiling information regarding these basic industries, declaring that such information, with comparisons, would reveal causes when living costs rose suddenly.

Mr. Colver said the canned food industry was filled with speculators and that this condition was typical. The pack of canned goods this year is not yet completed, he said, but 80 per cent. of it has been sold and resold since last January, with many of the sales purely speculative. To stop this speculation, enactment of legislation would be necessary, he said.

REFUSE SENATE COMPROMISE.

Department of Justice Officials Insist on House Act Penalty.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Department of Justice officials today refused to accept the compromise proposed by members of the Senate Agriculture Committee on amendments to the Food Control act to penalize profiteering.

Senator Smith, Democrat, Georgia, author of the compromise plan which would apply the proposed penalties for sale beyond the "fair price" standards only in case of combinations of dealers said he would press the compromise plan despite objections of Assistant Attorney General Ames. The Department of Justice, Senator Smith said, insists upon adoption by the profiteering penalties approved recently by the House, declaring the compromise amendment would make the department's authority doubtful.

COST OF EATING IN PARIS.

Prices on Raw Material Alone Nearly Reach Eiffel Tower.

PARIS, Aug. 24.—Some idea of the cost of living in Paris may be reached from the following prices of various foodstuffs.

Chocolate, 5 francs, 80 centimes per pound; olive oil, medium grade, 6 francs 40 centimes per litre; carrots, 80 centimes per kilo; cauliflowers, 3 francs, 25 centimes each; cabbage, 60 centimes each; tomatoes, 43 centimes per pound; potatoes, 25 and 30 centimes per pound.

Chicken, 5 francs 75 centimes a pound; milk, 1 franc 10 centimes a quart; butter, 6 francs 60 centimes a pound; eggs, 60 centimes each; ordinary wine, "vin rouge ordinaire," as the American soldiers used to call it, 1 franc 60 centimes a litre.

No prices have yet been fixed for the sale of meats, as the commission which is investigating the situation has not completed its report. Nevertheless, it is impossible to obtain a pound of steak for less than 5 francs. Frozen meat has failed to find favor with the French consumer, as lack of refrigerating facilities causes the beef to reach Paris in bad condition.

Fish is scarce, owing to the difficulties of transportation.

DINNER FATAL TO THREE.

Two Ohioans Dead, Others Paralyzed, and Three Dangerously Ill.

ALLIANCE, Ohio, Aug. 26.—Colonel Charles C. Weybrecht, who returned only three weeks ago from France, where he commanded the 146th Infantry, died here this morning as a result, physicians believe, of eating cold storage turkey at a dinner last Saturday night at the Lakeside Country Club, Canton. Mrs Helen Sebring Gahris, 33 years old, the wife of William J. Gahris of Sebring, Ohio, also is dead and Mr. and Mrs. John C. Sharer are paralyzed and their recovery is said to be extremely doubtful. Specialists from Cleveland and Alliance were summoned yesterday to attend the stricken persons.

Bob Jennings, a negro waiter at the Lakeside Country Club, also died this morning. The chef, W. D. McElboy, is in a serious condition at a hospital in Canton.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis M. Brush of Salem, Ohio, who also attended the dinner party, are dangerously ill. Mr. Brush is publisher of The Salem News and The East Liverpool Review. Mrs. Clem Bates and Mrs. Willis F. Sandford of this city are in a serous condition.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 26.—Colonel Charles C. Weybrecht was Lieutenant Colonel of the 8th Ohio Infantry when it was in Mexican border service. Upon the reorganization of the Ohio National Guard for service overseas he was placed in command of the 146th Infantry, 37th Division, serving as its commander until last August, when he was assigned to command of the American base at Nantes, France.

When the organization of an American base for the Army of Occupation in Germany was taken up by General Pershing, Colonel Weybrecht was assigned to Rotterdam, where he remained until early this month.

Colonel Weybrecht served as Major of the 8th Ohio Volunteer Infantry during the Spanish-American War. He entered the Ohio National Guard as a private in 1892.

ADVISES CONTROL OF PACKERS' CARS

Government Monopoly Recommended by Federal Trade Commission.

LICENSE SYSTEM ADVOCATED

Big Five Again Accused of Controlling Distribution of Refrigerator Cars.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Declaring that the step is necessary to control the business of the five largest packing companies, the Federal Trade Commission in a special report to President Wilson recommends that the operation of refrigerator cars, and of cars used for transportation of meat animals, be declared a Government monopoly. It recommends further that the property concerned, including icing stations and other facilities as well as the cars, be acquired by the Government and railroads thereafter be licensed to own and operate them. The big packers, the report says, now own 90 per cent. of all the refrigerator equipment in the country suitable for the transport of fresh meat.

"The present country-wide system of distribution by the five big packers has grown up from their control of refrigerator car lines in conjunction with various pools," the report says in part.

"In turn the volume of traffic of the five packers has enabled them to secure from the railroads advantages over competing shippers. Formerly in the shape of direct rebates, these advantages are now usually in expedited service to the big packer cars; in favorable mixing rules which include all their diversified products and even many articles not related to the packing industry; by allowances paid to some of the big packers by carriers for a part of the transportation service; by favorable arrangements and lease of stockyards by the railroads to some of the big packers; and by the sale to the railroads of bumping posts manufactured by a subsidiary of one of the big five.

"The small independent packers' cars are misused and diverted, frequently being out of his service for extended periods in several instances as long as six months. In 1917, the cars of the 'big five' and their subsidiary companies maintained an average of 80.8 miles per car per day, while the average for cars of their competitors, the independent packing companies, was only 54.5 miles."

The Commission's investigation, the report says, of the private car ownership has developed the fact that while packers claim losses, "a proper revision of their car accounts" shows car operation has netted some profit. This amounted to 6.8 per cent. in 1912, 3.4 per cent. in 1914 and 4.3 per cent. in 1917.

Thomas E. Wilson, President of Wilson & Co., and Chairman of the Institute of American Meat Packers, in a statement here today, said the packers were willing to submit the justice of the commission's "demands" in its report on private car lines to the common sense of the American public.

"After an investigation by men inexperienced in transportation questions," said Mr. Wilson, "the Trade Commission presented a report diametrically opposed to that handed down by the Interstate Commerce Commission, composed of men trained in railroad work. After a six-year study of the question, the Interstate Commerce Commission report said:

"'An important part of the interstate commerce of the country is transported in privately-owned cars. It is to the interest of the owners, carriers, and public that their operation should be continued under such rules and regulations as will insure their efficient handling without discrimination against any shipper or particular description of traffic. The system of the use and supply of private cars that now exists cannot be at once and radically changed without serious consequences to shippers, carriers, and the public.'

"There are admittedly too few refrigerator cars. Spread the use of the packer-owner cars among shippers over the entire country and mileage will be reduced with a consequent increase in the cost of meat foods or a necessary reduction in live animal prices. It would seem that if a real solution is sought it might be found by some agency building enough additional cars to meet the deficiency."

WELD DEFENDS PACKERS.

Challenges Statements of Federal Trade Commission.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Reports of the Federal Trade Commission on the five large packers and the alleged control of the industry are "absolutely useless as a basis for passing legislation," L. D. H. Weld, representative of Swift & Co., assured the Senate Agriculture Committee today, summing up his two-day argument against Federal regulation of the industry as proposed in the Kenyon and Kendrick bills. He challenged the truth of the commission's findings in a half dozen [illegible] ended by attacking the commission itself.

Mr. Weld said he had demonstrated that the five packers, far from controlling 25 per cent. of the wholesale grocery business, did less than 3 per cent. of it; that they did not control prices, either for live-stock or meats that their profits were as moderate if not lower than the profits of any other industry, and that in numberless details, as to capital investment, operations in England, "live-stock pools," the commission and especially Commissioner W. B. Colver, who opened the hearings, had "dealt in misstatements, misrepresentation, insinuation, and inaccuracies."

"What possible motive can a public body have for doing the sort of thing you say the commission has done?" Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, asked.

"I prefer not to go into personalities," Mr. Weld replied, "but the theories of members of the commission on economic subjects are not what I call sound. There isn't a business man on the commission. Principally they are newspaper men."

Mr. Weld told the committee that Swift & Company spent $1,500,000 on advertising last year and intended to keep up their efforts in that line in an endeavor to "educate the public and eliminate the unjust prejudice against the packer." When Senator Harrison asked if that sort of expenditure would not raise the price of meats he said that it only amounted to 15-100 of 1 per cent of sales and that it would justify itself by adding to the ease of operations.

Ownership of stockyards, Mr. Weld said, in discussing a point stressed in the trade commission report, was not particularly important to the packers "if we get the yards run as efficiently." He fixed the proportion of the leather business of the country controlled by the packers at "less than 45 per cent.," and said that Swift & Co. was engaged in divesting itself of its tannery holdings by organizing a separate corporation.

In reply to questions Mr. Weld said that Swift & Co. made $33,000,000 in 1918 and $47,000,000 in 1917, before Federal taxation."

"Unless we can be assured of more efficient and economical governmental control than was the case with the railroads, the telegraph and telephone companies, neither the producer nor consumer can hope to benefit from such legislation," Everett C. Brown, President of the National Livestock Exchange, which is composed of Stock Yards brokers, told the committee in opposing the Kenyon and Kendrick bills.

"The Federal Control act gave the Railroad Administration the right to take over these cars, but they carefully refrained from doing so," he said, referring to refrigerator cars. "The Interstate Commerce Commission after careful study confessed that only inefficiency could result from turning the cars over to the railroads."

Ownership of the Stock Yards by the Packers, Mr. Brown said, was not a cause for objection by shippers so long as competition was maintained and yard charges were reasonable.

Dr. Wiley Opposes Storage of Food For More Than a Year; Advises Housewives

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—One year is long enough for food to be kept in cold storage, according to Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, father of the Federal pure food laws, who appeared today before the House Agricultural Committee during its hearing on the cold storage bill, introduced as a part of the program to check the high cost of living.

Veal, several kinds of game and fish, and poultry, except Spring chickens, should never be put into cold storage, Dr. Wiley said. He maintained that food obtainable from the producer every month in the year should never be put in cold storage. The only reason for doing so, he said, was to increase the price. He contended that cold storage invariably added to the cost of food, but was necessary if the consumer desired a balanced diet during the year.

"Shad, other varieties of fish and oysters," said Dr. Wiley, "should not be stored for months, because of their rapid deterioration and the efforts of many dealers to pass off the stored articles for the fresh product during the season of these foods.

"Beef improves by a short period of storage, but it should not be kept longer than four or five months. Eggs, of course, must be stored to provide a supply during the season of scarcity, but their palatability decreases with the storage. They should never be kept longer than ten months, and all of the supply of the previous year should be on the market by March 1 of the following year, the season when eggs again become plentiful.

"Butter shouldn't be kept longer than ten months, and likewise all stored should be on the market by June of the following year in which it is stored. Flour is better as soon as it is milled. Sweet corn loses half its sugar within twenty-four hours after it is taken from the stalk, the sugar in that time having been turned into starch. Meats in general should not be kept longer than four or five months."

Dr. Wiley strongly advocated the more extensive use of powdered milk, in place of fresh milk.

"My experiments have proven that the powder makes excellent milk as far as food value is concerned," he said. "It has a taste that one must learn to like, but it is splendid for infants and they prefer it to fresh milk. There is less danger of bacteria than in most of the fresh milk.

"Its adaptability to transportation makes it particularly valuable for the large cities. The powdered milk keeps for many months and can be easily shipped."

Dr. Wiley also claimed that bread eating was not beneficial.

"The highly milled white flour we now use is poisonous, and the only reason it does not produce disastrous effects is that other food is eaten with it," he said. "Whole wheat is much more beneficial, as is rye bread. Forty per cent. of our young men were found not to be in proper condition for military service, and a large majority of this can be attributed to eating too much milled wheat, sugar, and candy."

Every housewife, Dr. Wiley told the Committee, "should store eggs in her home in seasons of plenty for the period of scarcity." He recommended water glass.

"There is a slight deterioration in keeping eggs in water glass, but it is not dangerous," he said, "and it would prove a great saving to the country if practiced generally. The eggs can be kept in as good a condition as in cold storage, and the purplish tint that appears in some of them is not injurious. A good test for cold storage eggs is to put them in a salt solution of 10 per cent. If they float it is a good indication they have been held in storage."

ARMY ANNOUNCES NEW SALE OF GOODS

SALE BEGINS ON SEPT. 25

Stores to be Opened in Various Cities, Where Goods Will Be Sold Over Counter.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Secretary Baker announced today that the War Department had made plans to make directly available to the public on Sept. 25 the department's large surplus stock of raincoats, blankets, shirts, underwear, socks, gloves, soap and other commodities. It will also place on sale a large quantity of tobacco. The supplies are now being catalogued and the allotment to various cities and towns will be announced soon. The War Department will probably open zone supply stores in fourteen of the principal cities. The prices at which the supplies will be sold will be made known in the near future.

The War Deartment statement reads:

"The Quartermaster General of the army, with the approval of the Secretary of War, will inaugurate, on Sept. 25, direct sales to the American public of each household commodity embraced in the surplus stock held by the War Department. To make these sales direct to the ultimate consumer the War Department will open retail stores, not only in those centres in which it now maintains depots and warehouses, but in several of the other large cities of the country. These stores will not only sell over the counter but, to make these stocks of goods offered available to consumers of all other communities in the United States will book and fill mail orders.

"Prices will be fixed on all commodities offered for sale in these retail stores; the price fixed upon a commodity will be the sales price for the article delivered to the consumer anywhere in the United States. Under this plan there will be no discrimination in cost between the purchaser who buys over the counter and the purchaser who acquires articles through mail orders. The purchaser who buys over the counter will have the satisfaction of inspecting and selecting the articles desired; the purchaser who buys through the mails will have the goods purchased delivered at the counter price.

"Goods sold by mail orders will be delivered through the parcel post, but the sales will not be made, as was the case in the sale of subsistence, through the Post Office Department. Purchasers desiring to buy by mail order will send their orders direct to the stores established by the War Department. To expedite and facilitate mail order sales the War Department has requested the Post Office Department to establish parcel post substations in each of the stores which it proposes to open. The War Department will prepare catalogues quoting prices and enumerating the location of stores to which residents of each of the several States should address their mail orders. These catalogues will be made available to the public at every Post Office and Post Office substation in the United States and the commodities offered for sale and sales price will be made public through the press.

"The stock of each commodity the surplus of which is sufficiently large to justify such procedure will be redistributed throughout the country and allocated to the selling centres on the basis of population of the territory supplied by each particular store, thus assuring the residents of each State of their proper allotment.

"While the War Department has not yet definitely determined upon the cities in which stores will be established, the present plan is to open stores in the fourteen zone supply cities, which are Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Atlanta, Jeffersonville, Ind.; Chicago, St. Louis, New Orleans, San Antonio, Omaha, El Paso, San Francisco, and Washington. It is expected that in those sections of the country, in which large areas are embraced in zone boundaries, additional cities will be selected as sale centres.

"This plan of the War Department will make directly available to the American public the War Department's large surplus stocks of socks, underwear, gloves, shirts, raincoats, blankets, tobacco, soap and other household commodities.

"The War Department will announce in the near future the names of the cities in which the retail stores are to be established, and will make public, as soon as the catalogues can be prepared, a list of the commodities to be offered for sale in the stores and the prices at which they will be sold."

CALLS FOR WAR MEMOIRS.

Berlin Newspaper Says Entente Violation Records Have Been Suppressed.

BERLIN, Aug. 26.—The Kreuz-Zeitung charges the Foreign Office with withholding from publication war memoirs and official documents on file in the War Ministry dealing with English, French, and Russian violations of international law and the mistreatment of German prisoners.

The paper calls on the Government to explain why the documents remain unpublished and suggests that this is probably due to the Government's desire not to irritate the Entente Powers.

MILK MEN TESTIFY IN PRICE INQUIRY

WEIANT TELLS OF COSTS

Denies That High Prices of Cans and Bottles is Encouraged by Milk Officials.

Simultaneous increases in the cost of milk by big milk distributors who are members of the New York Milk Conference Board were taken up yesterday by the Extraordinary Grand Jury in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court. District Attorney Edward Swann, charging conspiracy in price fixing, seeks an explanation of these increases by members of the board, who number more than one hundred.

The District Attorney asserts that these increases are something more than a coincidence. Although members of the board deny that there has been any collusion in fixing prices, Mr. Swann charges that when the the prices are to be increased some one at the office of the Milk Conference Board notifies the various dealers. He declares that he has in his possession a circular in which the price to consumer is suggested and he is trying to learn who issued this circular, which bears an alleged indorsement by the board.

The witnesses yesterday were C. A. Weiant, former President of the Borden Food Products Company, and one of the heads of the Milk Conference Board, and Harry A. Cronk, also of the Borden company. District Attorney Swann would not discuss their testimony, but he showed satisfaction over the day's developments.

Milk of Grade B. sells for 16 cents here and for 14 cents in Philadelphia, District Attorney Swann asserted, and he is seeking to learn the cause of this difference.

Mr. Weiant said that the cost of a quart bottle was 5½ cents, and that a bottle made only eleven or twelve trips. He denied that there was any inner ring for the purchase or manufacture of milk bottles, which made them come so high. He also denied that there was any officer or Director of the companies that encouraged the non-return of the bottles, in order that a greater number of bottles would have to be bought by the companies. A forty-quart milk can now costs $5.50, as compared with $2.25 a short time ago, he said, but there was no inside ring that caused the boosting of milk can prices.

The Borden's Food Products Company was incorporated by the Borden's Condensed Milk Company to deal in bottled milk, Mr. Weiant said. Practically all of the stock, he said, was owned by the condensed milk company. The Borden's Food Products Company the Sheffield Farms Company, and the Clover Farms Company practically control the bottled milk distribution in this city.

Mr. Weiant said that the chief committee of the Milk Conference Board was the "Conference Committee," but that no minutes or notes of their meetings were kept. Mr. Weiant was a member of the committee, but said that he knew very little about their functions.

Mr. Cronk also, it is said, declared that he was not familiar with affairs of the Milk Conference Board. He did not know the salary of I. Elkin Nathans, the Secretary. He stated, when asked a question, that the price of bottled milk was advanced uniformly all over the city on the same day.

Both Mr. Cronk and Mr. Weiant said that the Milk Conference Board was incorporated after the abandonment of the New York Milk Exchange. Mr. Weiant was asked whether he would be allowed to remain in the Milk Conference Board if he happened to go into the milk business on his own account, and undersold the present milk distributers. He replied that he thought he would not be permitted to remain in the board, but declared that his answer was merely his own opinion.

The Grand Jury will resume its inquiry this morning.

NOTE TO CARRANZA ANSWERS PROTEST

Text of Last Exchanges to be Made Public When Reply Is Delivered in Mexico City.

CARRANZA SET 'DEAD LINE'?

Reported That He Said Americans Must Go Only So Far—Account of Catron Murder.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—The State Department has dispatched this Government's reply to the protest filed last week by the Mexican Government in which Carranza questioned the right of American soldiers to pursue the bandits who captured and held for ransom Lieutenants Davis and Peterson, and ended up by demanding that the Langhorne expedition be immediately withdrawn from Mexican territory.

The text of the note will probably be made public as soon as it is officially reported in the hands of the Foreign Minister in Mexico City. The text of the Carranza note is expected to be made public at the same time.

There was a report today that Carranza in his note set a "dead line" below which he said the American troops were not to go. No official confirmation of the report was forthcoming, and when officials were asked if the note contained a threat of any kind they declined to comment.

Joan B. Rojo, counselor of the Mexican Embassy, left Washington for Mexico City today. He will not return to his post here, and it is understood that he was made Mexican Minister to Guatemala. It was denied some days ago that the withdrawal of Señor Rojo was in any way due to present relations between this and the Mexican Government.

The Association of Producers of Petroleum in Mexico today addressed to Secretary Lansing, and delivered to the State Department, a communication attacking the defense by Mexico of the recent oil decrees. The oil men say that spokesmen for the Mexican Government "have dropped the expostulation that the Constitution and laws are not retroactive. They now admit that they distinctly are. Their argument that to seize the oil lands from their rightful owners and turn them over to the Mexican Government to develop would redound to the public benefit, is answered by the record made in the management of railways, express companies, and other industries seized."

Special to The New York Times.

LAREDO, Texas, Aug. 26.—According to a letter written by Rafael Nieto, former member of Carranza's Cabinet, published in El Heraldo of Mexico City, the American, Peter Catron, was murdered by Eleno Sequera, who lives at Villa Guerrero, State of San Luis Potosi.

Señor Nieto says that Sequera has always been in the employ of General Manuel C. Larraga, who has hidden him at the ranch of San José del Tinto, about five leagues distant from Villa Guerrero. This ranch belongs to General Larraga.

Seorñor Nieto's informant alleges that another American of that section was killed last year by orders of General Larraga. He says also that many Carranza soldiers in the State of San Luis Potosi are deserting.

GOVERNORS AID CARRANZA.

Eleven Meet in Capital to Offer Support to Him.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 26.—The Governors of eleven States met here Monday and discussed ways and means of assisting the Government in solving its problems. Later they were received by President Carranza, who addressed them.

The Governors adopted no definite program other than that of securing the adhesion to the Chief Executive of the people they represent.

The Senate held a secret session on Monday, at which there was a discussion of Article XXVII. of the Constitution, concerning nationalization of oil lands, and regulations which may clear up misunderstandings. The Committee on Foreign Affairs made a report on its first investigation of the international situation.

The correspondent of the Excelsior at Tampico says that oil companies operating in the region north of Vera Cruz have placed orders for $7,000,000 worth of improvement and development machinery. The newspaper thinks this indicative of the belief of the oil companies in an ultimate satisfactory settlement of the petroleum regulations.

The Supreme Court of Justice of the nation, answering Luis Cabrera, Secretary of the Treasury, who suggested recently that the court refrain from passing on sixty-six amparos affecting the petroleum companies until Congress passes a new oil law, reiterated its determination to put the petroleum amparos at the head of the court calendar because of their importance.

The court told the Secretary that three days' notice will be given to all concerned before each amparo is called for hearing, thus allowing both sides to present their allegations.

An amparo is a sort of habeas corpus extended to property rights, and, if granted, would hold up the execution of oil decrees objected to.

There is no formal agreement between the United States and Mexico allowing the free passage of troops through their respective territories, according to General Alvaro Obregon, former Minister of War, in a telegram to El Monitor Republicano, refuting an assertion made recently by El Universal that such a pact was signed by General Obregon and General Scott of the United States Army at the time of the withdrawal of the Pershing expedition from Mexico.

Secretary of War Baker was quoted by El Universal to that effect, and General Obregon's telegram to El Monitor Republicano says: "I cannot believe that Secretary Baker has made a declaration which is lacking in foundation."

Kidnapped Aviators Return to Base.

MARFA, Texas, Aug. 26.—Lieutenants Harold G. Peterson and Paul H Davis, who were held for ransom by Mexican bandits, left today for Fort Bliss aviation headquarters. Peterson and Davis are temporary officers and will be discharged on Sept. 30. Captain Leonard Matlack today sent the originals of the letters demanding ransom to Peterson and Davis for souvenirs of their experience.

Governor of Virginia Does Not Introduce Him as 'President.'

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 26.—Eamnon De Valera, President of the Irish Republic, pleaded his cause today before the oldest representative law making body in the new world, the Virginia State Assembly. It was the second address by the Irish leader before a State Legislature, he having previously addressed the Massachusetts General Assembly.

Tonight De Valera addressed a mass meeting of about 3,000 persons here. He was introduced by Governor Westmoreland Davis as "a visitor who will speak to the people on a subject dear to his heart."

POLICE ASK $2,000 A YEAR FROM CITY

Patrolmen's Benevolent Association Requests Increase of $350 for 9,000 Men.

UNION IDEA IS OPPOSED

Meeting of 2,000 Members of Association Resolves to Stand by Their Leaders in Campaign.

Resolutions calling upon the Board of Estimate to increase the pay of more than 9,000 patrolmen from $1,650 to $2,000 a year were adopted yesterday at a meeting of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association. An attempt also will be made to have the item for this increase put into the budget of the Police Department by Police Commissioner Enright.

The regular meeting of the Patrolmen's Association had been postponed for a week by the Brooklyn trolley strike. More than 2,000 policemen were present at the meeting in Maennerchor Hall at 203 East Fifty-sixth Street.

Several of the speakers suggested that the police should form a union and affiliate with the American Federation of Labor, as the police in Boston and Chicago already have done, as one of the first steps in their campaign for more pay. Other speakers opposed this suggestion, declaring that it was not necessary for the police to form a union or enter into an alliance with any labor body. Joseph P. Moran, President of the association, declared that the 9,982 patrolmen formed a strong union themselves and that their organization was capable of taking any steps for the increase in wages or the betterment of conditions. He said that he would strongly oppose any step to unionize the police, and advised the members of the association to reject all advances by civilian organizers who might visit the police stations.

It was the first intention of the officers of the association to ask for an increase to $1,800 a year for first grade patrolmen, but several speakers at the meeting held out for $2,000. Statistics were presented to the men to show that the police pay in New York was lower than in many other cities, and it was pointed out by the speakers that the responsibilities and duties of the patrolmen here were heavier than in Chicago and other cities. These statistics were compiled up to Aug. 1 by officials of the Civil Service Forum and their official newspaper, and were printed in THE TIMES shortly after the investigation was completed.

The request of the police for more pay will be made through the Civil Service Forum, the organization that is seeking more pay for all municipal employes under civil service rules. If no item to permit this additional pay is put into the departmental budget the forum will appeal to the Board of Estimate, using the resolution adopted by the Patrolmen's Association.

No official announcement of the attitude of the Police Commissioner upon the movement for more pay for patrolmen has been made yet. Information reaching the members of the association is that the departmental budget may contain items providing increases for ranks above patrolmen, but none for the patrolmen.

When it was suggested that some disapproval might follow the action of the officers of the association in seeking more pay the members of the association adopted a resolution pledging their support to their leaders if they were rebuked or penalized in any way. The resolutions pledged financial as well as moral support in any such contingency.

A resolution also was adopted recommending criminal and civil action against a trade journal which is alleged to have printed an attack upon the President of the association. The matter of bringing action against the publication was discussed for some time. Some members advised that Commissioner Enight be consulted before action was taken, but when it was pointed out that the Commissioner had no objection to such procedure when the Police Lieutenants' Association took action against a publication the resolution was adopted unanimously.

None of the names of the speakers at the meeting was given out, except those of President Moran, Frank J. Prial, the President, and Joseph J. O'Reilley, editor of The Chief, the official publication of the Forum and honorary member of the association.

HAVANA, Aug. 26.—The steamship Morro Castle, on which arms and ammunition were supposed to have been smuggled for shipment to Mexico, arrived today. There were no trunks found containing such things but there were ten boxes containing rifles and cartridges. However, there was no secret about the contents of the boxes because the ship's manifest stated their contents. Six were consigned to merchants in Mexico and four to Havana merchants.

OLD CLAFLIN ESTATE TO GO AT AUCTION

Last of the Big Picturesque Holdings in the Bronx Follows Bennett Estate.

CONTAINS 500 CITY LOTS

Purchased by H. B. Claflin in 1866, It Has Outlasted Surrounding Properties.

SALE EARLY IN SEPTEMBER

Land Will Be Auctioned by Joseph P. Day Without Reserve for What It Will Bring.

The Claflin estate, last of the famous large residence properties which once were the show places of what is now the Borough of the Bronx, is to be divided into building lots and sold at auction in a few weeks, as the Bennett estate, in upper Manhattan, was disposed of recently. The decision to sell the property was reached last week by the Grange Realty Company which now holds it.

The estate is not only the oldest but is also the most picturesque of the former North Side properties. It is beautifully wooded with large maple, beech, elm, and pine trees. On the north it overlooks the Jerome Park Reservoir and a surrounding strip of city land dedicated to future park purposes and on the west and southwest touches wide and long constructed city avenues. The site of an old revolutionary blockhouse held in turn by the Hessians and General Washington's troops, and now marked by a bronze tablet placed there by the Daughters of the Revolution, lies in an angle of the northern border and testifies to the historic associations of the spot. The old gate-house of the Claflin period with the stone entrance pillars, one of them surmounted by a stone deer, still remain in token of former glory.

Home of Famous Merchants.

The original estate was assembled about the year 1866, by Horace B. Claflin, founder of the H. B. Claflin Company, the most famous dry goods house of its time. The Bronx was then an open countryside, except for a number of small villages. This original estate consisted of about one hundred acres. The larger part of it, however, was acquired by the city for the building of the Jerome Park Reservoir. The property now to be sold consists of all the high land south of the reservoir, which in its present surroundings has almost the characteristics and charm of a deep-water lake.

Three large mansions were built on the estate. The original, erected and occupied by H. B. Claflin and the others by members of his firm. The Claflin house burned down several years ago, but the other two remain.

When H. B. Claflin died in 1885 he bequeathed the estate to his sons, John and Arthur Claflin. Five years after his father's death John Claflin, as head of the dry goods firm, organized the business as a corporation and became its first President. The corporation grew until it became perhaps the largest in the world. When it went into the hands of a receiver in June, 1914, John Claflin, who meantime had taken over his brother's share of the estate, turned over every square foot of his realty holdings, as he did his other possessions, to meet the indebtedness of the corporation. A holding company, known as the Grange Realty Company, took over the Bronx property, including the parent estate.

Contains 500 Lots.

Joseph P. Day has been selected to sell the property at auction. It is to be "sold to the highest bidder for what it will bring," irrespective of present-day values. The sale will be held early in September in the Vesey Street salesroom. The details will be made public in a few days.

The estate, which consists of about 500 full city building lots, has three main frontages: On Kingsbridge Road West, Sedgwick Avenue and Claflin Terrace. It is bounded on the north by the Jerome Park Reservoir and its surrounding parkway; on the east by the property taken over by the city for the 8th Coast Artillery Armory and parade ground, which formerly was the site of the old Jerome Park race track; on the south by Kingsbridge Road West, and on the west by Sedgwick Avenue, which here runs along the ridge overlooking the Harlem River Valley and the Dyckman, West Kingsbridge, Van Cordlandt Park and Riverdale sections of Manhattan.

Will Extend Bronx Homes Northward.

From the south the prominent thoroughfares leading direct to the property are Sedgwick, University, Jerome, Davidson, Grand, and Webb Avenues. Sedgwick Avenue, which bounds the property on the west, and Jerome Avenue on the east, one block distant, are the only two of these prominent and well improved arteries of travel that have not till now been stopped by the old estate, which for many years has restricted the growth of the Bronx north to the Jerome Park reservoir—eighty-one acres of land now under twenty-seven feet of water, extending to beyond Mosholu Parkway.

"The importance of the forthcoming sale," said Joseph P. Day yesterday, "will be better appreciated when it is understood that its sub-division and improvement with multi-family houses and private dwellings will mean that the most northerly property in the West Bronx, this side of Mosholu Parkway and lying between Sedgwick and Jerome Avenues, has been disposed of and is no longer available as a whole for institutional use. In other words, this great and commanding area is to be turned over to the resident population of New York and is no longer to stand as a barrier to the development of the Bronx.

"This consummation is of even greater public interest when we consider the present famine in housings, especially in sections that have direct transit facilities and the further fact that the Claflin estate has now as good rapid transit as any other residential property in New York.

"One block east of the property is the Kingsbridge station of the Jerome Avenue elevated extension, connecting directly with the Lexington Avenue subway and the Sixth and Ninth Avenue elevated roads.

"The University Avenue electric surface line operates direct to the 181st Street and St. Nicholas Avenue and to the 238th Street and Broadway stations on the Broadway subway, the 225th and 231st Street stations of which are also within easy walking distance. Stations on the Putnam and Hudson River divisions of the New York Central station lie at the foot of the Kingsbridge hill.

"With such transit facilities, the Claflin estate is in the enviable position of commanding the services of all the east and west side subway and elevated lines and of the New York Central Railroad.

"It is a property that should arouse the deepest interest of every real estate investor, speculator, and builder in New York, especially as it to be sold for whatever it may bring, and it seems a pity that its sale could not have been postponed until the building and building loan outlook was a trifle more propitious than it is today."

Cape Dress Appears.

Although the vogue for capes and dolmans has had its day of popularity, one of the modes put out for early Fall wear shows a treatment of the cape idea that is considered very attractive. This design is made with the cape and the dress combined, the cape falling to about the waist line and trimmed with tassels. The cape is a part of the dress and is cut in a round shape over the shoulders. The most popular material used is satin and the color navy blue.

⁂

Three Days Holiday.

The Fourth Avenue dry goods district will be closed down generally over Labor Day, the holiday starting on Friday afternoon. It is the intention of some of the garment manufacturers in the district to observe the three-day holiday also in some instances, although the need for every bit of production that can be secured may lead certain houses to remain open on Saturday. Following the holiday, business, which has been less brisk during the last two weeks, is expected to resume its former activity, as many buyers are expected to be in the market looking after merchandise with which to "fill in" their lines.

⁂

Scarcity of Shirts.

Retail furnishing goods buyers are finding it almost impossible to obtain further supplies of shirts in any sizable quantities. The stocks kept on hand at the local showrooms of the manufacturers have dwindled to a point where orders can only be taken for one or two dozen of a number. The falling off in production is held accountable for the present scarcity, and the shortage of suitable dyes is also said to contribute to the condition. Lines for next Spring will be opened about the middle of next month, and buyers are anxiously waiting to find what conditions future orders will impose on them.

⁂

Eastern Rubbers Stronger.

Recent buying activity on the part of both the manufacturing interests and dealers—more especially the latter yesterday—have brought about stronger prices on the plantation varieties of crude rubber in this market. Yesterday, first latex was quoted at 46½ cents, spot, with smoked sheets held at 44½ cents. For October-December deliveries these rubbers were quoted, respectively, at 47 and 46 cents. The Brazilian rubbers, though somewhat less in demand, are fairly strong on the basis of 54½ cents for spot up-river fine. Up-river coarse and upper Caucho ball, spot, are both held at about 31 cents.

⁂

Stores Seek Strike Insurance?

While no one in local retail circles could be found yesterday to confirm it, not a little interest was shown by certain dry goods store executives in the report that out-of-town department stores in different parts of the country are taking out considerable insurance against loss through strikes. Some of the seekers after this insurance, according to the report, are so anxious to get its protection that they have placed it by telegraph in several instances. The amounts of the policies are said to run from $50,000 upward. While the report did not say in just what parts of the country the stores that want the insurance are situated, it is thought here that they are located for the most part in the Middle West.

The Question of Americanizing.

The clothing and garment manufacturers are fairly well agreed that if the immigration bars are kept up and their respective industries continue to lose rather than gain employes, the Americanization of the trade is the only method possible of gaining new recruits. But, according to those who have studied the question, one of the greatest obstacles in the path of such a plan is the attitude which the union takes. While the workers in the different trades are scarce, competition for labor, it is pointed out, keeps wages going higher and at the same time adds strength to the labor organizations. The unpopularity of the leaders who would permit the industry opened up to others would soon cause their downfall, it is explained, and the result is that no hope of co-operation is looked for in such a quarter.

Gray Goods Sales Checked.

With many of the leading factors in the local gray goods market away from their desks during the latter part of the day, the volume of business put through yesterday was not large. Much of that which was done was put through by second hands, mostly for nearby deliveries. Among the sales reported were 38½-inch 64-60s at 16½ cents, and some more 39-inch 68-72s at 20 cents. In certain quarters the latter goods were even more strongly held at the close. Not much was done in the fine-yarn cloths and specialties, and the same thing applies largely to sales of sheetings. Among the sales of the latter, however, were some 5 50s at 13¼ cents. Opinions seemed to differ as to whether there were any more of those goods to be had at less than that figure.

⁂

Are Jockeying for Position.

One of the most interesting things about the forthcoming openings of Spring lines of the finer silk hose for women in this market is the way the various leaders are jockeying for position in order to follow the "other fellow" out. In other words, nobody wants to be the first to place his goods on the market. There are real reasons cited for this, but among them is not any fear of not getting enough business at once. The chief objection is showing competitors the right path, with the Government fighting for lower prices all around and raw silk and labor costs forcing up prices on the goods in question. The second factor in the unwillingness to be first is the certainty that whatever prices are made by the early line open, they will be cut by the [illegible] that follow. From present indications prices on well-known lines for the [illegible] season will be up 15 to 50 per cent.

Some of the fears of the local clothing manufacturers that the present inquiry into their prices might lead to radical measures aimed to reduce the cost to the consumer, have been dispelled by the action of the Fair Price Committee. It is now believed that the purpose of those selected to look into clothing prices will be to establish certain lines of low-priced merchandise and permit the present lines to be sold at their proper prices. If this is done, the clothiers state that there will be less disturbance to the trade and interference with business already placed with them for the Fall season. Just how it is proposed to put out low-priced merchandise under present conditions is not quite clear, but it was pointed out yesterday that manufacturers may be found who will undertake contracts on which they can submit fair prices because of quantity production.

⁂

Will Not Cancel Orders.

The Executive Committee of the Broad Silk Manufacturers of the United States, Division D of the Silk Association of America, recommends that makers of these goods send the following notice to buyers on all new orders: "In view of the present demand for merchandise in the silk goods market, it is necessary that you confirm this order promptly so that it may be put into work. It is advisable that purchasers should carefully note the provisions embodied in the rules of the Silk Association of America, as heretofore approved, upon which our contracts are based. We particularly invite your attention to the fact that orders are not subject to cancelation or readjustment of prices except as provided in the rules." According to the September number of the association's bulletin, The Silkworm, which will be issued today, it is likewise recommended that the Secretary of the association be notified of any readjustment of contract that it is possible to make under the rules in question.

CONFER ON WHEAT PRICES.

Grain Corporation Will Announce Basis for Low-Grade Purchases.

Following an all-day conference yesterday by members of Congress, representatives of farmers' organizations and officials of the United States Grain Corporation, at the offices of the Grain Corporation, 42 Broadway, Julius H. Barnes, United States Wheat Director, announced that the Grain Corporation would at once declare the basis on which it will purchase the various lower qualities of wheat.

"The Grain Corporation," Mr. Barnes said, "will follow this course as a protection to the producer against underpayment of the proper relative value of his wheat and in order to reassure country buyers of the ultimate value of lower grades on arrival at the terminal. For two years it has not been necessary for the Grain Corporation to announce a basis on which it would buy lower qualities because of the preponderance of high grades of wheat in past crops."

Mr. Barnes pointed out that the relative prices which the Grain Corporation might fix would be a relation to a guaranteed price at the terminal markets only, and not to the current price which in certain markets is ruling 30 to 40 cents above the guarantee basis. No attempt would be made, he said, by the Grain Corporation, to reflect any premium basis above the actual guaranteed price. He added that with the execution of 17,000 contracts between the Grain Corporation and country mills and dealers, any producer could, by submitting a sample of his wheat, receive a decision, binding on the buyer, as to its proper relation to the guaranteed No. 1 price at the terminals.

"Threshing and marketing in the Northwest have now reached a stage demonstrating that a large proportion of the crop has been shrunken and damaged by heat and premature ripening," Mr. Barnes said. "Flour qualities of much of this wheat appear to be excellent owing to its high gluten strength and low percentage of moisture content. Because of this shrinkage in the berry, many producers in the Northwest are securing yields as low as four to six bushels, where fifteen to twenty bushels had been confidently expected."

FIND MANY USES FOR PEAT.

War-Torn Industry Gives Promise of Great Development.

The output of peat in the United States last year far exceeded that of any preceding year and the general increase, which was stimulated by the war, was shared by practically all branches of the industry. Though extensively used as fuel in Europe and widely known in the United States as a potential source of heat and power, peat has been unable to compete with coal and many peat operators have directed their attention to the utilization of peat in agriculture with gratifying results.

Peat fertilizer was first marketed in commercial quantities in 1908, and stock-food peat in 1912, and though there is still some prejudice against its use the agricultural branch of the industry has been successful and the quantity of fertilizer and stock-food peat annually produced is increasing. Large quantities of these products were made last year, but the most striking development was the production of more peat fuel in the New England States than has been manufactured in the entire United States in all preceding years. Almost equally striking was the widespread interest manifested in peat resources which had been generally regarded as of doubtful value.

Large quantities of peat or sphagnum moss were produced and utilized for stable litter, packing material, and surgical dressing, and several hundred thousand acres of peat soils were used for the growth of crops. The peat litter was produced by the owners of small bogs for their own use, but the packing material was sold to florists for $25 a ton. According to J. W. Hotson of the Red Cross more than half a million peat moss pads were prepared in this country for that organization. Most of the moss was gathered by volunteers from bogs in Washington, Oregon, and Maine, and the pads were used in military hospitals at home and abroad.

According to statistics compiled by the Geological Survey the quantity of crude peat produced in 1918 was 151,521 tons, a quantity greater by 54,158 tons, or about 56 per cent., than the record output of 97,363 tons in 1917. The average price received for all refined products in 1918 was $9.78 a ton, and the gross market value was $1,049,493, a gain of $2.49 in average price per ton, and of $339,593, or about 48 per cent., in gross market value.

The plants operating last year were distributed as follows: New York and New Jersey, 4 each; Massachusetts, 3; Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, and California, 2 each; Maine, New Hampshire, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, North Carolina, and Florida, 1 each. Nearly all the producers reported that the demand for peat exceeded the supply, and some stated that on account of limited facilities they were unable to fill the orders of their regular customers.

The notable increase in the output of peat in recent years is ascribed to the shortage and the high prices of nitrates and coal, to a nation-wide demand for increased food production that necessitated intensive agriculture, to a better understanding of the nature of peat, and to the application of bacteriology to crop cultivation. Though some of these causes of the increase in output were due to the war all of them will probably continue to affect the industry so that the demand for peat products will correspondingly increase and peat will maintain or even better the position it took in 1918 in the industrial activity and progress of the United States.

SEIZE MISBRANDED OIL.

Was Made in Spain, but Sold as of Italian Origin.

Shipments of olive oil labeled as having been produced in Italy, but which, in fact, was produced in Spain, have been seized in San Francisco, upon recommendation of Federal food inspectors, officials of the Bureau of Chemistry, announce.

Italy has not yet removed the war embargo on the shipment of olive oil from that country, and, as a result, there is practically no Italian olive oil on the market in the United States now. Because of the scarcity of Italian olive oil it commands an unusually high price, and this condition has tempted unscrupulous dealers to endeavor to sell Spanish and other olive oils as Italian oils. Foods coming within the jurisdiction of the Federal Food and Drugs act, which are misbranded as to country of production, are in violation of the law.

The seizure of these shipments under the Food and Drugs act was not based upon consideration of whether or not there is any actual or supposed difference in grade or quality or flavor between the Italian and the Spanish oils, but was based solely upon the requirements of the Federal Food and Drugs act, that false statements or misleading devices regarding country of production on labels of foods coming within its jurisdiction constitutes misbranding. Both the better grades of Spanish olive oil and the better grades of Italian olive oil are well able to stand on their own merits, and neither needs to be sold under the name or brand of the other. Misbranding olive oil as to country of production is not only a violation of the Federal Food and Drugs act, but is unfair to consumers and is demoralizing to the trade.

Federal inspectors have been instructed to give special attention to locating shipments of olive oil misbranded as to country of production.

RIO JANEIRO, Aug. 26.—It is announced that the Navegacao Costeira, the Commercio Navegacao, and the Lloyd National, three important Brazilian steamship companies, have formed a combination to handle the coastwise trade of Brazil. Frankel, Stamford, Conn.; Goldstone & Kramer, Cumberland, Md.; the Style Shop, Baton Rouge, La.; William Fleishaker, Joplin, Mo.; Joseph Loeb, Cincinnati, Ohio; the Dorsen Dry Goods Company, Milwaukee, Wis., and Ferguson, Weinberg & Rose, Chicago, Ill.

Unusual Investment Opportunities

MEN in their forties or fifties seeking to become financially independent, can ill afford to neglect to accumulate long-term bonds around present prices. It is the judgment of investment experts that the time is bound to come when many well secured bonds that can be purchased today to yield around 5½% to 6½% will sell at prices which will not yield anywhere near so much income. To men in their forties or fifties this is an important consideration, since every dollar of additional income means just that much more financial independence.

President's Decision on Shopmen's Demands Stimulates Buying of Stocks.

The stock market responded yesterday to President Wilson's stand on the railway shopmen's wage proposals with a broad forward movement which extended to practically all parts of the list. At the same time inquiries for railroad bonds as investments increased somewhat. The financial community read into the position of the Administration an inference that a firm front would be maintained to other labor demands as well as those advanced by railroad workers, and saw what seemed to be the beginning of a movement to combat with economic facts the growing efforts of workers to have things altogether their own way. The advance of stock quotations proceeded briskly until after the noon hour, bringing gains running from to 2 to more than 6 points. Thereafter, profit taking sales appeared in considerable volume, apparently furthered by news that the shopmen union leaders at Washington were about to call for a new strike vote on the terms offered by the President. This step was more or less the natural thing to expect under the circumstances, yet it emphasized the fact that various events must be expected before the process of deflating labor and food costs has been worked out far enough to bring real benefit.

In late dealings prices reacted part way, but left the price array at the close well intrenched on the constructive side. The character of trading indicated that professional speculators were far more active than the public, and the sharp upturns among certain steel and miscellaneous issues pictured the rapid retirement of a part of the short account under difficulties. Railroad shares were no more prominent in the rise than industrial and mining stocks.

The return of Samuel Gompers at the moment when the first set-back to labor plans had been experienced lends especial interest to coming developments. Representatives of steel trade unions found the head of the Steel Corporation hardly willing to meet them in conference, an occurence which had been forecast, and paves the way to the next part of the program which the labor organizations have doubtless mapped out in advance. The signs point toward extremely interesting happenings in the ensuing weeks, of a character to bear much influence upon the country's industry and transportation facilities. The belligerent attitude of many workers here and there throughout the country is evident to all the public, and it is safe to say that business will continue to watch Washington for its cue in dealing with its problems in respect to working hours and wages. President Wilson went to some length in his statement to the country in saying that labor should have its full requirements, but that the situation is one in which every one has his duty to perform, to the end that production be increased and nothing be done to counterbalance efforts for relieving the general burden of living costs. In financial and business quarters the hope was expressed yesterday that firmness equal to that displayed in the President's communication be maintained until the nation gets back to a basis approaching normal.

Call money continued at 6 per cent., and offerings at all times were in excess of the demand. In fact, the quotation eased off in the afternoon. Foreign exchange rates again moved slightly against the European centres.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Steel Shares in Good Demand.

The steel stocks were strong yesterday, Wall Street construing as favorable, and indicative of the general trend of feeling in the industry, the statement by the Midvale employes that persistent and unceasing demands for increased wages were uneconomic. United States Steel crossed 103, and then drifted back a point from the high in the late trading. Crucible, which gained some 10 points, was notable in the trading. The rise was influenced, however, by factors entirely apart from the steel industry. For some time it has been reported that a large short interest had been trapped in this issue, and when it began to move upward yesterday it was a sign that the shorts were being pinched in their endeavor to cover. The floating supply of the stock is not supposed to be very large.

⁂

Petition for Holiday.

Members of the Stock Exchange have petitioned the Board of Governors for a Saturday holiday, which would give a three-day holiday over Labor Day. The petition will be voted upon this afternoon.

⁂

Chile Copper Production.

An increase of about 40 per cent. is shown in the July production of the Chile Copper Company compared with June. In the latter month the amount of copper turned out was 5,003,430 pounds, whereas in July it was 7,161,444 pounds. The July production is the largest for any month since December, 1918. Many of the copper companies in their most recent statements have shown that production was increasing, but the gain in the case of Chile is the largest recorded. Copper men express the belief that a large export trade will develop before the end of the year.

Rails Reflect Message.

The railroad shares were somewhat irregular yesterday following the publication of President Wilson's statement, and there were indications in some quarters that those who had bought the rails were a trifle disappointed because he granted any increase at all to the shopmen. On the other hand, the market action of the shares which moved off was attributed in large part to the profit-taking by the speculative element. While the general trend in the railroad group was upward, there were several declines recorded at the close, and issues which were particularly active on Monday were not turned over at the same rate yesterday. The majority of the standard high-priced issues gained ground, and the low-priced stocks were also inclined to advance. Late reports that the shopmen had voted to turn down the President's wage award served to bring about enough selling near the close to decrease many of the gains recorded.

⁂

Equipment Issues Advance.

As a group the equipment issues responded to a switch from the rails to the industrials in yesterday's stock market, and substantial net gains were recorded at the close. The gains were from more than 1 to more than 3 points, and the volume of transactions increased by a fair amount in some issues. Baldwin at one time during the day showed an advance of more than 5 points from the preceding closing price, and led the equipment into higher ground. The improvement in equipment issues was attributed not alone to the restoration of considerable confidence as the result of the President's railroad announcement, but to the fact that it seems likely now that the Railroad Administration's $400,000,000 equipment will be financed before many months elapse. Among the other issues which moved up yesterday were American Car and Foundry, American Locomotive, and Railway Steel Spring.

⁂

The President's Statement.

Without going into details—probably, for the most part, without reading all of it—Wall Street assumed that the President's letter anent the wage demands of the railroad shopmen was "favorable," highly so. And, with this in mind, Wall Street proceeded to buy stocks. To be sure, the most substantial gains in the market were made by some of the industrial issues. But then, is it not true that the labor problem besets the industrials with quite as great force as it does the railroads? Wall Street yesterday was inclined to hold that it has more bearing on the industrials, and because of the President's stand was greatly pleased, and manifested its pleasure by taking securities with more abandon than has been its wont in several days.

Deflation.

The logic which puts stocks up on what everybody says is the beginning of "liquidation of labor," is not quite clear. Liquidation of labor is supposed to be one phase of deflation, and deflation is expected to diminish the high cost of living by bringing commodity prices, and all other inflated prices, down. In other words, the purchasing power of the dollar is to be expanded by making the dollar more valuable. If this process is to be a complete success everything, including stocks, which is measured in terms of money, must decline. That seems quite clear, yet the very beginning of the long-discussed and generally desired "deflation" is heralded as the best bull argument to come along in months.

Bond Demand.

There was a somewhat better demand for bonds yesterday, according to bond dealers. The increased inquiry was not as great as might have been desired, but there was improvement, and coming now, before the real turn into the Fall, was the source of no little encouragement to the bankers concerned. The increased demand, they said, was clearly due to the President's attitude, and for good reason. Labor, the bankers and other students of bond values maintain, has been asking for ever-increasing wages, until it has come to a stage now where not only is virtually all of net asked in return for labor's services, but the demands are beginning to cut into gross in such a way that fixed charges are endangered. The President, by pointing out that there must be a limit to labor's payment, indirectly points this out, and the bond market, feeling confidence in his power to bring the public to a proper realization of the situation, improves.

Decreased Exports.

The first of the detailed displays of July exports came to hand yesterday in the form of the exhibit of agricultural exports. Exports of this character fell off approximately $159,000,000, compared with the movement in June. Breadstuffs were down $63,000,000 on the month, and there was a sizeable decline in cotton shipments. This gives some light—of a new kind—on the general decline in July's exports. The shipping strike, it would appear, played more of a part than was at first supposed for foodstuff exports, and agricultural exports generally are more or less "must," which is to say, they move without the same regard for exchange rates, &c., that other exports have. Thus, that nearly half of the total decrease was made in this classification may be significant of the strike, rather than of any change in the underlying export situation.

Municipal Bonds.

There is a tremendous inquiry among banks and distributing houses coming from municipalities desiring to raise funds through the bond market. It is said that rarely, if ever, before had the demand for this kind of accommodation been as great as it is now, and the only thing which holds it in check is the unwillingness of bankers to undertake to market all of the bonds pressing for sale. After the turn of the month, when the market is expected to improve, there is a possibility that a lot of this new financing will make its public appearance, for the municipalities throughout the country, having been kept down during the war, are becoming very insistent that they be allowed to go ahead with the public work planned. The fact that Election Day is approaching, incidentally, has added to the insistence of the municipalities.

OPPOSES RAILROAD PLAN.

A. P. Thom Says Congress Lacks Power to Fix Earnings.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Railroad reorganization plans proposing a fixed percentage of return for the stockholders were opposed before the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee today by A. P. Thom, counsel for the Association of Railway Executives, who said no authority existed in the Government "to take from a carrier any part of its earnings derived from lawful rates."

"The legislative branch of the Government has nothing to do with fixing earnings," said Mr. Thom. "The Government's entire power as to earnings is to prevent, through its judicial department, the fixing by the Legislature of rates which will produce less than reasonable return from the property."

TO BREAK UP WARSHIPS.

British May Convert Smaller Craft in Ships Into Merchantment.

Copyright, 1919, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—Drastic cuts are being made by the Admiralty in its shipbuilding program, and each vessel under construction is being considered from a financial point of view.

Dr. T. J. MacNamara, Financial Secretary of the Admiralty, is discussing with experts each warship and asking whether it is more economical at the present time to break up the vessel on the slips or to complete and launch it. No definite list of warships to be completed and warships to be broken up is therefore available, but it is believed that very great economies will be effected.

An official of the Admiralty today said the main thing was to get the slips free for mercantile shipping. Battleships' hulls are useless for mercantile purposes, but of the smaller ships some might be converted.

THE NEW YORK TIMES is authoritatively informed that about sixty light cruisers, destroyers, submarines, and other small craft are upon the suspension list sent out by the Admiral and the order affects some twenty shipbuilding yards, including the Clyde, New Castle, Jarrow, Belfast, and Cowes.

BERLIN AT HOUSING CRISIS.

City Considers Enforced Billeting to Aid 2000 Homeless Families.

BERLIN, Aug. 26, (Associated Press.)—The municipal authorities are considering the question of enforced billeting of civilians, in order to meet the increasing shortage of dwellings and apartments, owing to the failure of citizens living in spacious quarters voluntarily to surrender their superfluous rooms. Only 200 responses have been received during the past fortnight, whereas 2,000 homeless families need accommodations.

The War Corporation is still occupying luxurious quarters, although it has been disbanded. It has been requested to vacate the premises. The municipality also is negotiating with the Ministry of War with the object of requisitioning barracks within the city, which have been for the most part unoccupied since the demobilization and reduction of the army.

The overcrowding in Berlin is accounted for by the steady influx of land workers during the last few years.

He organized the company's welfare and medical department some twelve years ago. President Edward Wise and Vice President H. S. Collins of United Cigar Stores have become identified with the United Retail Stores Corporation. J. R. Taylor has been made Acting President to succeed Mr. Wise, and J. A. Burns, manager of the Pacific Coast stores of the United Cigar Stores Company, has been made a Vice President.

A Great Market for American Enterprise

Never before have there been the demands for so many more kinds of American products as exist today. In many cases the domestic demand is greater than the supply, and with an increase in shipping facilities and a return of foreign exchange to normal rates a great volume of business can be expected from foreign countries. The securities of companies benefiting from present conditions can be purchased at prices that are very attractive.

Ranger Oil

The Ranger Pool in North Central Texas was discovered in October, 1917, and as at present defined, has an area of approximately 25 square miles. The depths of the wells run from 3,000 to 4,000 feet. The thickness of the productive sand averages 20 feet. The oil is high grade light gravity 34-40 Beaume of an olive green color.

Ranger oil has all the essential characteristics of Pennsylvania Crude, and for this reason is very valuable. The prices paid for this oil will naturally advance as soon as facilities are completed for more economical outlet. It is an oil particularly desirable for refiners in position to utilize its valuable lubricating constituents.

FEARS SOVIETISM MAY CONTROL COAL

Radical Workers Are Determined on Nationalization of Mines, H. N. Taylor Says.

LAYS FUEL LACK TO HINES

Director General to be Called to Tell of Car Shortage—Bituminous Combine Denied.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Entering on an investigation of the increased price of coal, a Senate Interstate Commerce subcommittee today brought forth testimony that a shortage of cars and labor difficulties were hindering coal production, that certain elements in the Miners' Union were intent on nationalization of the coal mines, with adoption of a six-hour day and a five-day week plus a wage increase, and that unless problems of production were solved the country would be brought face to face with a coal famine in the coming Winter.

So emphatic were the witnesses that the railroads were at the bottom of the present low production that Senator Frelinghuysen, Chairman of the committee, indicated the committee's intention of bringing Director General of Railroads Hines into the hearing.

Harry N. Taylor, President of the National Coal Association, an organization of operators, declared that aside from "a labor combine to force up the cost of production," the operators face a "buying combine to force down prices. "That buying combine," he explained, "is the United States Railroad Administration, which takes about 30 per cent. of the output. It is backed by—in effect, a part of—the United States Government.

"The coal operators would be put in jail if they combined to keep up prices, but the United States Government, through the Railway Administration, is not prohibited from forming a buying combination to put up costs.

"The prices paid by the Railroad Administration are very much below the prices fixed as fair by the Fuel Administration, and in some cases are below cost."

Fears Soviet Methods.

After detailing the effects of labor difficulties and alleged car shortage on coal production, Mr. Taylor declared a bill had been prepared for submission to Congress providing for the nationalization of the mines. He added that what the miners wanted was not only that the Government should own the properties, but that the mines should be turned over to them for operation. He insisted that the more radical of the miners appeared to be gaining control in certain districts, and that there was a serious danger that these elements would make an earnest effort for the institution of something approaching Soviet methods in conducting the properties.

He told the committee that the strikes in Illinois, Kansas, and Missouri were in violation of the Washington agreement, which provides for the continuous operation of the mines until peace definitely is established. The conduct of the strikes in the Middle West, he said, were in many cases influenced by radical elements. He said it was known generally in the industry that an attempt would be made at the Cleveland meeting on Sept. 8 to put through a nationalization program with a six-hour day, a five-day week, and an increase in wages.

The possible conversion of the coal price hearing into an investigation of the efficiency of the Railroad Administration was indicated during the testimony of John Callahan, Traffic Director of the Coal Association. Both Mr. Callahan and J. D. Morrow, Vice President of the association, had supplemented the statements of Mr. Taylor that a car shortage was the most important single factor in delaying delivery.

Senator Frelinghuysen asked Mr. Callahan if he would obtain for him certain specific information regarding idle cars and other features of operation, adding that he wanted that information in order to question Director General Hines.

Denies Bituminous Combine.

Denying that a combine exists among bituminous coal operators to fix prices, J. D. A. Morrow, Vice President of the National Coal Association, told the committee that such a combination would be impossible if attempted. Prices at the mines, he said, have declined under the competition which prevails, and are lower than they were a year ago.

There are about 5,000 separate commercial producers operating approximately 7,000 mines, from which bituminous coal is regularly shipped," Mr. Morrow said. In addition there are some 2,000 operators, with about 3,000 mines, who begin producing and selling coal whenever the price goes up a little and offers a profit to them. Moreover, there are hundreds of thousands of acres of coal lands along railroads on which new mines can readily and quickly be opened by any one so disposed.

Of the 5,000 separate bituminous coal producers in the United States, 2,294, approximately 45 per cent., hold membership in the National Coal Association. They produce about 60 per cent. of the total output of bituminous coal in the country.

Charges that the National Coal Association is a combination to maintain prices are without foundation in fact.

Mr. Morrow said bituminous coal prices had declined since the armistice, and in general were lower than the prices fixed by the Fuel Administration.

GET 25 PER CENT. INCREASE.

New York & Queens County Railway Gives Men Rise.

All the employes in the operating department of the New York and Queens County Railway Company have received a 25 per cent. increase in salary, effective Monday, according to an announcement made yesterday at the offices of the company. This increase has been granted voluntarily by the company. Motormen and conductors, the latter including a number of women, who were being paid 41 and 49 cents an hour, now received 52 and 62 cents an hour. The shop and repair men, linemen, trackmen and electrical workers also receive this increase. Their pay has been raised from $4 and $4.50 a day to $5 and $5.75 a day.

The New York and Queens County Railroad is a subsidiary of the Interborough Company and is the largest trolley railway company outside of Brooklyn. When the strike was called on the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company lines, and later on the Interborough, labor agitators tried to induce the employes to strike, but they refused to do so. Instead many of them worked overtime to enable the management to run extra cars to take care of the increased number of patrons.

LEWIS URGES MORE THRIFT

Director Deprecates Sacrifice of Liberty Bonds in Desire for Luxuries.

WARNS AGAINST SPENDING

Next Two Months Should Tell the Story of Reconstruction.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Declaring that the Treasury Department is receiving reports indicating that pawn shops, stock promoting concerns, and a certain type of merchandising houses are reaping a harvest through the sacrifice of Liberty bonds by their owners to satisfy a desire for luxury, William Mather Lewis, Director of the Savings Division of the Treasury Department, sent a message of warning today to the 6,000,000 members of the War Savings Societies throughout the country, in which he said that "the next two months will give the answer as to whether America won a victory in the war or suffered a colossal defeat."

"The war," said Mr. Lewis, "cost many thousands of priceless American lives and billions of hard-earned dollars. This treasure was spent in vain if the lessons taught by the war are not put into practice in the United States. America financed her mighty war machine and fed the starving Allies through the thrifty practices which our formerly spendthrift people suddenly developed. Thrift will win the victory in the trying period of reconstruction.

"But thrift is not evident at this time, when, as President Wilson says, 'we are facing tasks more difficult, more complex, less easily understood, than those of war.' One of the greatest of reconstruction tasks is to reduce the high cost of living. This menace will not be conquered by boosting the wages of labor. It will be handled by allowing production to catch up with consumption, and this can only be done by careful spending and elimination of wastefulness.

"The Federal Trade Commission has begun an investigation of companies promoting 'wild cat' oil stocks. Such concerns flourish only when there is 'easy money,' when the people through extravagance develop the get-rich-quick germ.

"The Savings Division of the Treasury Department is receiving reports from the field indicating that pawn shops, stock promoting concerns, and a certain type of merchandising houses are reaping a rich harvest through the fact that owners of Liberty bonds are willing to sacrifice these securities at prices far below the market in order to satisfy the desire for luxuries or to secure stock on which they are promised an impossibly high rate of interest.

"If the people are not willing to protect their personal prosperity and the welfare of their Government at this critical time by practicing wise economy, by holding on to their Liberty bonds and War Savings Stamps, and by waging an unceasing fight against any merchant who seeks to overcharge them—if, in other words, the thrift lessons of the war are forgotten—then we are a defeated nation and not a victorious one."

REFORMS HIT DRUGGISTS.

Head of Association Tells of Annoying Regulations Under New Laws.

A feature of the opening of the sixty-seventh annual convention of the American Pharmaceutical Association at the Hotel Pennsylvania yesterday was the address of Charles H. La Wall, its President.

"The practice of pharmacy has in recent years come to be more and more hampered by Government regulation," he said. "The modern pharmacist needs the frequent services of an expert accountant and a legal adviser to enable him to avoid the pitfalls of non-compliance with arbitrary, technical, and often unnecessary regulations and rulings imposed upon him.

"Those who impose these regulations have little sympathy with him and less knowledge of his professional responsibilities and difficulties than they should have. Be it to the everlasting credit of pharmacy that it has frequently led and always acquiesced in reforms that are for real lasting and ultimate benefit to the public, even though financial loss is incurred thereby. The history of anti-narcotic legislation bears tribute to this fact.

"One of the tests of the profession is yet to come through the changes arising from prohibition legislation. In some quarters a form of hysteria seems to have developed for fear pharmacists will be tempted to violate the prohibition laws. Some probably will, just as they have always done in the past; but under the present rules it will always be with the connivance and collaboration of a physician. Why any more discredit should attach to pharmacy for the few who are unworthy of the calling than to medicine for the same reason is hard to understand."

The National Association of Boards of Pharmacy, an allied organization of the American Pharmaceutical Association, wound up its two-day session yesterday. The delegates, representing pharmacy boards of forty-four States, elected Walter R. Jaratt of Oklahoma City President and H. C. Christensen of Chicago Secretary. A resolution was adopted providing that, beginning Jan. 1, 1923, all schools recognized as reputable schools for the training of pharmacists shall require that entrants be high school graduates.

NEW PARTY BACKS JUDGES.

"Judiciary" Its Title, and a Hatchet Is Its Emblem.

Members of the various independent political groups who are behind the candidacies of Supreme Court Justice Joseph E. Newburger and City Court Judge Richard H. Smith for re-election this year will meet at the Hotel Astor at 3 o'clock this afternoon to perfect their campaign plans. County Clerk William F. Schneider, head of the Cleveland Democracy, is organizing the various bodies, and it is expected that a committee of seven will be appointed to arrange for the organization of a larger body, which will have active charge of the campaigns of the two judicial candidates.

The Committee of the Bar, representing the four bar associations of the city, which urged Justice Newburger to enter the Democratic primaries, will also be represented at the meeting. Both Justice Newburger and Judge Smith refused to run in the Democratic primaries against the candidates selected by Tammany Hall, but their names will go on the ballot at the November election by petition. Both men have already been selected as the Republican nominees.

Because of the small size of the ballot it has been decided to change the name of the organization which is supporting the two candidates from the Independent Non-Partisan Judiciary Committee to that of the Judiciary Party. The latter name will appear on the ballot alongside the names of the Republican and Democratic parties. The emblem of the new organization has also been changed. The Roman fasces, showing a bundle of rods with a battleaxe protruding, was the original emblem selected, but this has been changed to an ordinary hatchet.

New Issue

300,000 Shares

Woodburn Oil Corporation

Capital Stock Authorized (no par value)	500,000 Shares
Capital Stock Outstanding	365,000 Shares

Transfer Agent: Franklin Trust Company, New York
Registrar: Guaranty Trust Company of New York

From a letter of W. W. Hepburn, Esq., President of the Corporation, and the report of J. P. Capeau, Esq., well known oil expert and investigator, the following is set forth for consideration:

Property—Over seven thousand acres located in well known Texas oil fields, including large and valuable production in the Northwest Burkburnett Extension, and extensive acreage in the Ranger, Desdemona and other fields.

Production—Four wells have been drilled and two will be completed within a few days in Burkburnett Extension. The wells already drilled have indicated production in excess of 5,000 barrels per day and are now being connected to four miles of private pipe line, tankage and loading racks owned by the Corporation, insuring prompt and ample deliveries of production.

Earnings—The president of the Corporation makes the following estimate:

FIRST SIX MONTHS OF OPERATION

Production, less royalties, 678,000 barrels.
Gross Receipts	$1,356,000
Cost of Operation	63,000
	$1,293,000

The above estimate refers to wells already drilled on less than half of the Corporation's proven acreage in the Burkburnett Extension only, and on which at least six more wells will be immediately drilled.

The Corporation's acreage in the Desdemona, Ranger and other fields that is practically proven will justify drilling at an early date.

Management—Will be under the direction of well known and experienced oil operators.

Legal matters in connection with this issue will be subject to the approval of Messrs. Dickson, Beitler & McCouch, of Philadelphia, and Messrs. Carrigan, Britain & Morgan, of Wichita Falls, Texas.

MAYOR HYLAN LAUDS HIS ADMINISTRATION

Volunteers a Statement Reviewing His Official Record Since Signing of the Armistice.

CONDEMNS MITCHEL RULE

Tells How He Started $60,000,000 Worth of City Improvements and Raised Municipal Debt Margin.

Mayor Hylan yesterday voluntarily reviewed the record of his administration since the armistice was signed. In a long statement he told how he had rescued the city from a deplorable condition in which he had found it at the end of the Mitchel administration. Seemingly, he said, no care had been given to the property belonging to the city before he took office, but since then, Mayor Hylan said, he had inaugurated city improvements worth $60,000,000 and increased the city's debt margin from $15,000,000 to "about $60,000,000." This is the Mayor's statement:

"When the present city administration took office over a year and a half ago its debt limit was about $16,000,000, and it was in woeful need of every conceivable kind of public improvement—streets were torn up and the charity buildings in a most dilapidated condition; not a sufficient number of school houses or proper fire houses or police stations; a most urgent need for the repaving of streets, the building of new sewers, the repairing of old and building of new docks, the repairing and construction of new ferryboats for Staten Island, new ferry slips, fire boats, fire apparatus, &c. Seemingly no care had been given to the property belonging to the city. The city's debt margin has been increased to about $60,000,00.

Criticises Dual Subway Cost.

"Funds with which these improvements should have been made amounting to about $250,000,000 were put in the dual subway system. The city's investment of this colossal sum was intended to secure relief from the wretched transit conditions in the city and to provide the people with a 5-cent fare and free transfers. Not only have adequate transit facilities not been afforded, but the traveling public are now forced to submit to intolerable and indecent conditions. To cap the climax the same scheming, manipulating transit corporation officials who secured the execution of the dual subway contracts which were so advantageous to the transit lines are now endeavoring to secure additional advantages by a modification of these contracts with the city in order that they may gouge the public out of additional millions through the medium of increased fares and stock-job manipulations.

"In order that the Board of Estimate and Apportionment might have a comprehensive statement of the requirements of the various city departments for a determination as to absolute urgency, on March 20, 1918, the heads of all departments, boards and commissions were requested to furnish a statement of their respective requirements.

"With the temporary suspension of the 'pay-as-you-go' law and the possession of a complete program of public improvements in the order of their urgency the result of many months of labor, the Board of Estimate and Apportionment was able to put into effect its plan for improvements. The result was achieved after many months of arduous labor and unremitting application by a staff of engineers, accountants, inspectors and advisers who had been working without publicity, preparing, revising, comparing, pruning and classifying as to degree of urgency estimates and schedules of improvements for every city department.

Table of Appropriation.

"Some conception of the appropriations made for the vital needs of every borough of the city may be had from the following résumé:

New school buildings for every borough	$10,000,000
The Board of Estimate and Apportionment is prepared to appropriate as rapidly as the Board of Education can use it for more new school buildings, an additional	15,000,000
Improvements such as new streets, sidewalks, sewers, &c., in every borough	10,000,000
Repaving streets in all boroughs...	4,000,000
Harbor improvements such as docks and piers	15,000,000

Note—(The Dock Commission has presented (The Dock Commissioner has presented lessees for twelve piers to be erected at Staten Island of 1,000 to 1,124 feet in length. These lessees are willing to pay 7½ per cent. on the cost of construction and property. As these piers will be self-sustaining public improvements they are exempt from debt limit. The city will recommend immediate appropriations as fast as the Dock Commissioner can produce lessees for water front improvements on a basis that will make them self-sustaining.)

New building for the Department of Health, improvements at Willard Parker Hospitanl and Otisville Sanitarium; new building and improvements, Bellevue and Allied Hospitals and charities..	$5,673,000
Protection of life and property, Police and Fire Departments....	1,663,000
Bridge and ferries	1,591,100

"The improvements approved for all boroughs of the city total over $63,000,000, and some of the more important ones are as follows:

"Harbor improvements, repaving, reconstruction work, comfort stations, streets, sewers, public baths, dock and pier improvements, new schools, hospital improvements, new station houses and quarters, permanent asphalt plant, new incinerating plants, repairing of and construction of new ferryboats and improving ferry terminals.

Real Estate Tax Rate Reduced.

"Care in the business affairs of the city was such in the last year of this administration that the tax rate on real estate was reduced four points lower than the rate of 1918; if it had not been for the mandatory legislation at Albany placing a burden on the city to the extent of millions, the affairs of the city could have been managed to bring a further reduction in the tax rate in the years 1920 and 1921. The Citizens' Union and the City Club and other reform organizations are not in sympathy with the present administration and approved of this mandatory legislation at Albany which they opposed in other years."

The Mayor also gave out a statement defining his attitude on the improvement of Jamaica Bay. He is in favor, he said, of resuming work on the development of the bay provided the main channel is changed back to the original lines or the new lines are improved by Congressional action.

JOBS FOR EX-SERVICE MEN.

Col. Woods Tells of Demands for Certain Types of Workers.

Colonel Arthur Woods, Assistant to the Secretary of War, in charge of obtaining re-employment for discharged service men, announced yesterday that there is a demand for ex-service men in the bottled soda water trade during the Summer months. He states that the "possibilities of employment at this time of the year are good for any one who can do the work required."

He also states that there is a great demand for skilled lithographers throughout the country, and that every lithographer who went to France "will probably be re-employed upon his being mustered out of the service."

TO BUY GERMAN DYES.

Alien Property Custodian Asks President for an Order.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Francis P. Garvan, Alien Property Custodian, asked President Wilson today to issue an executive order permitting him to send an agent to Paris to purchase from the Reparations Commission a six months' supply of German vat dyes to tide over American manufacturers until German secret formulas for dyestuffs now owned by the Alien Property Custodian can be utilized for commercial purposes.

Mr. Garvan said that formulas now controlled by him were in the process of manufacture, but that it would be six months before the dyestuffs would be ready for commercial use. The American supply of vat dyes is about exhausted, he said.

SEEKS TANK LINE SHARES.

Alien Property Custodian Files Proceedings Against Union Company.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 26.—Acting under the Trading with the Enemy act, United States District Attorney Bodine, as proctor for Francis P. Garvan, Alien Property Custodian, today filed a libel of information in the Federal Court here against certain shares of the Union Tank Line Company, a New Jersey corporation. The shares stand upon the corporation's books in the name of Louis Remmertz and Arnoldine Caminneci.

It is stated by the petitioner that after investigation he has determined that Remmertz and Caminneci were enemies not holding licenses granted by the President within the purview of the Trading with the Enemy act; that previous to the investigation the Tank Line Company was ordered to make a transfer to the Alien Property Custodian and cancel stock in lieu thereof, issuing new certificates in the name of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York as depository for the Alien Property Custodian; that this demand has not been complied with by the corporation and it has the shares of the stock in its possession in New Jersey.

The court is asked to have the United States Marshal for the District of New Jersey seize the shares for which the Alien Property Custodian has brought proceedings.

COTTON ADVANCES IN QUIET MARKET

Prices Rise After Early Decline, Registering 6 to 14 Points Net Gains for the Day.

GENERAL TONE IS GOOD

Movement Reflects the Favorable Reception of the President's Labor Stand.

General approval of the President's stand against unwarranted wage increases, some improvement in the foreign exchange market and a feeling of greater confidence in the situation stimulated yesterday's cotton market after an indifferent opening and a first-hour decline, and from the early low prices quotation rose a maximum of 50 points to the high of the afternoon and closed at net gains on the day of 6 to 14 points. It was not a very active market, but in the afternoon, especially between 2 and 3 o'clock, the bidding was brisk and the tone good.

The early decline was in sympathy with a lower trend at Liverpool and better weather than was predicted on the previous day. These factors upset the market, and after the call had recorded losses ranging from 15 to 23 points the market continued to sag, until by the end of the first hour it was down 10 to 22 points, with the near months showing the greater losses. The map was considerably better than it had been in several days, and the forecast was for a continuation of good weather. Liverpool was unexpectedly lower than due, and the trade was inclined to withhold buying orders at the outset.

However, the improved tone in the stock market, which also reflected the favorable reception of the President's open letter on labor wage conditions, was reflected in the cotton market, and the latter began to improve shortly before midday, and thereafter moved forward well. Recoveries ranged from 50 points in December to 37 points in May, thus somewhat reducing the premiums on the distant months.

Short covering had something to do with the upturn, but there were evidences of good buying. The ring was less inclined to attack the advances than in some days, and the commission houses were good buyers on a scale-up. In the afternoon there appeared to be more optimism than has been seen in some time.

The National Ginners' Association published its crop report, making the condition 62.5, against its estimate of 68 a month ago and a Government figure last month of 67.1. The association also made its crop estimate about 11,800,000 bales. This is a trifle higher than the average guess around the ring.

Export clearances yesterday totaled only 500 bales, all out of New York. The big Southern ports reported nothing, but this has little significance, as they have been very busy thus far this week.

Yesterday's quotations were:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.	Previous Day.
Oct.	31.40	31.83	31.37	31.77@31.78	31.63
Dec.	31.84	32.20	31.70	32.11@32.12	31.98

May	32.02	32.25	31.88	32.21	32.15

The local market for spot cotton was quiet, up 10 points to 32.25c for middling upland; sales, 300 bales.

Southern spot markets were: Galveston, 31.75c; New Orleans, 31.00c; Savannah, 31.25c; Augusta, 30.25c; Memphis, 32.50c; Houston, 32.00c; Little Rock, 31.00c.

Yesterday's cotton statistics were:

Liverpool cables: Spot cotton was dull at 19.44d for middling. Sales, 3,000 bales, of which 2,000 were American. Imports, 27,000 bales, all American. Futures opened quiet, 1 to 7 points up, and closed quiet but steady, 19 to 21 points lower. Prices: August, 19.47d; September, 19.51d; October, 19.71d; December, 19.91d. Manchester: Yarns and cloths were firmer.

For information regarding the Company, reference is made to a letter from Rudolph A. Low, Esq., President, copy of which is on file at the office of the undersigned, and from which the following is summarized:

Business: Madison Tire and Rubber Company, Inc., is engaged in the manufacture of high grade cord and fabric pneumatic automobile tires, tubes, and other rubber products. In its manufacture of cord and fabric tires only the highest grade of crude rubber and cotton is used. Its operations are conducted in a modern, well equipped plant at Buffalo, N. Y. Its daily capacity will be approximately 1,200 tires and 2,000 tubes. It also acquires and continues the business of the United States Rubber Reclaiming Co., Inc., started in 1881, one of the largest and oldest independent rubber reclaiming companies in the world. Thus it will continue and further expand a business of the manufacture and sale of rubber products which has shown unusual profit and growth for over thirty years.

Capitalization: The capitalization of the Madison Tire and Rubber Co., Inc., will be:

	Authorized	To be issued presently
Cumulative Convertible 8% Preferred Stock (Par value $100)	$2,000,000	$2,000,000
Common Stock (no par value)	120,000 shares	86,600 shares

The Company has no bonded indebtedness.

Earnings: The income accounts of the Reclaiming Department of the Company have been audited by Messsrs. Ernst & Ernst, Certified Public Accountants. The average income of that department for a five years' period after the payment of officers' salaries and all taxes has been over $345,000. Basing the earnings of the tire department on sales which have already been booked and on the capacity of the plant and the possibilities of the business with the new capital to be supplied, the earnings will be more than double this figure during the year 1920 and should steadily grow.

All legal proceedings in connection with the issuance of this common stock will be approved by Messrs. Van Vorst, Marshall & Smith and Milton Dammann, Esq., of New York.

Temporary common stock certificates will be issued pending preparation of permanent certificates.

FORM CHAMBER IN PEKING.

American Firms Organize to Promote Interests in China.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Advices from Peking today state that an American Chamber of Commerce has been formed there by representatives of Anderson, Meyer & Co., the International Banking Corporation, the American Trading Company, the China-American Trading Company, the American Bank Note Company, E. W. Frazer & Co., the Siems-Carey Company, and the Standard Oil Company.

The purposes of the chamber are to protect and further American commercial interests, to promote business co-operation, to disseminate useful business information to the members, and to arbitrate between disputants—the decisions in such arbitration to be recorded for future guidance. These are the avowed objects of the chamber as set forth in the bylaws, but the chamber will likewise do its best to foster good business returns with Chinese firms and further China-American co-operation.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE

Expectation that the Administration anti-strike attitude would exert a timely influence in preventing issuance of orders directing a walkout of union workers in the steel industry, led to tremendous buying of these issues yesterday, on which gains of 3 to 13 points were recorded. The movement in Crucible was the oustanding feature. United States Steel common was bid up to 103¼, while Republic Iron and Steel sold as high as 88¼ and Bethlehem Steel B at 86½. The equipments, in sympathy with the upturn in the steels, gained from 4 to 5½ points, Baldwin Locomotive advancing to 108⅜ and American Car and Foundry to 129⅝.

REAL ESTATE FIELD

Clarence H. Mackay, President of the Postal Telegraph and Cable Company, has purchased for occupancy the residence of the late Mrs. Amory S. Carhart, at 3 East Ninety-fifth Street. Held at $500,000, the structure occupies a plot 50 by 100 feet, adjoining the north corner of Fifth Avenue. It is a six-story steel frame structure of the English basement type, and is built on land which Mrs. Carhart purchased from General Lloyd S. Bryce in 1913. Ground for the palatial structure was broken at once. The plans were by Horace Trumbauer of Philadelphia, and while John T. Brady & Co., contractors, did their part of the work as directed, the home was not completed in October, 1917, when Mrs. Carhart died. Up to this time Mrs. Carhart had spent $425,000 on the residence.

It has ten major bedrooms, twelve servants' rooms, and eight baths. The salon is a Louis XV. room brought from France and set up with part of the original gold still in place. The room is 36 by 50 and has an alcove. There are two reception rooms, one on either side of the entrance hall.

One is an English room of the eighteenth century in its original state, with its massive brass locks. The floor of this room is wide oak planks, with one-quarter-inch rosewood between to represent shrinkage dovetailed and plugged, as was the custom. The dining room is 35 by 38, has marble floor and pilasters, and the library is 28 by 50 and unfinished.

Bleeker & Tuckerman represented the sellers of the property, the Carhart heirs, for Mrs. Marion B. Brookman, executrix, Mrs. Amory S. Carhart's mother, and Pease & Elliman and the Brown-Wheelock Company negotiated the transaction.

On Monday the $250,000 Barnes residence, at 10 East Seventy-ninth Street, was sold to Sumner Ballard, and another deal for a residence in the Carnegie Hill section that will involve about $250,000, is reported pending.

Lively Bidding for Times Square Property.

The demand for property in the Times Square section was shown yesterday when a parcel offered at public auction in the Vesey Street Salesroom developed the liveliest kind of competitive bidding. The property, a three-story structure, 38.4 by 82, at 121 West Forty-fifth Street, between Sixth Avenue and Broadway and east of the Hidden property, purchased recently by Marcus Loew, was finally acquired by Joseph H. Goldblatt for $97,750. It was offered from the stand of Joseph P. Day on an action by the Union Dime Savings Bank to protect incumbrances totalling $85,402, and had to be sold twice to decide ownership.

When first offered the auctioneer quickly received a bid of $100,000, and, while there were many prominent operators present who were interested in the property, the offer choked off all competition. The bidder, however, disappeared, and the property had to be offered again. This time bidding started at $75,000, and a number of operators, including Harry Fischel and Sol Bloom, participated.

After the sale Mr. Goldblatt, the successful bidder, said he probably would alter the property and hold it for investment.

TWO LABOR AGENTS FORBIDDEN TO SAIL

Maurer and Epstein, Appointed by Pennsylvania Legislature to Tour Europe, Taken Off Boat.

THEIR PASSPORTS SEIZED

Chairman of Old Age Pension Committee Goes to Washington to Protest to United States Senators.

James H. Maurer, a labor agitator, and A. Epstein, who, with Maurer, is a member of the Pennsylvania Old Age Pension Commission, were taken off the steamship Lapland by Federal agents yesterday three minutes before the boat sailed for Southampton. So unexpected was the action of the Federal authorities that Maurer and Epstein were unable to get their baggage off.

Maurer is Chairman and Epstein a Director of the Pennsylvania Old Age Pension Commission sent by the Pennsylvania Legislature to Europe to study old age pension systems in the different countries. They expressed indignation at their detention in this country, and Maurer left for Washington last night, declaring that he was going to take the matter up with United States Senators Boies Penrose and Philander C. Knox of Pennsylvania.

E. R. Norwood of the Custom House Intelligence Department, whose agents took the two men off the Lapland, said that he was acting under orders from the Department of State at Washington received three or four days ago. He could give no reasons for the instructions.

This is the second time that Maurer has been prevented from sailing for Europe. In May, 1918, the State Department refused to issue him a passport following his election by radical labor elements to confer with labor leaders in the allied countries. He had intended to visit England, Switzerland, Ireland, France, and Italy, he said, with a view to finding out what labor in those countries thought of prolonging the war."

Maurer and Epstein engaged passage several weeks ago, according to the agent of the White Star Line. The agent said that there had been some delay over their passports, but a cabin was held for them. Yesterday the two men appeared at the pier with all the necessary papers and paid for their cabin. They went on board, after having passed the customs intelligence officers on the pier.

Mr. Norwood's agents went aboard the boat to find Maurer and Epstein. They told the two men that they would not be allowed to sail. The agents confiscated their passports and took them to Mr. Norwood's office under guard. Later they were allowed to go, and Maurer left immediately for Washington. Epstein remained at the Hotel Seville.

In a statement issued last night over their signatures, Maurer and Epstein characterized the action of the Federal agents as "an affront upon their native State." They said that they expected that matters would be cleared up before Saturday, so that they could sail on the steamship Baltic. Telegrams have been addressed to Governor Sproul of Pennsylvania and to members of the commission, the statement said, "informing them in detail of the circumstances attending the arbitrary action of the Washington officials."

The statement explains their mission to Europe as follows:

"Acting under instructions from the Pennsylvania Legislature, the Old Age Pension Commission some time ago decided upon a survey of old age pension systems in the leading countries of Europe, and appointed Maurer and Epstein to make a personal investigation.

"Applications were made on Aug. 1 to the passport division of the Department of State. With these applications were filed the minutes of the commission and a letter from the Acting Attorney General of Pennsylvania, setting forth the purposes of the mission and requesting that passports be granted.

"After considerable delay, and not until Congressman Clyde Kelly of Pennsylvania had personally interested himself in the case, passports were finally given and duly viséd by the British Consul General in New York City.

"Both men are highly indignant at the unusual action, which they regard as an affront upon their native State. They are armed with a special letter of indorsement from Governor William C. Sproul and carry important letters of introduction, among them letters to Premier Lloyd George, President Poincaré and Leon Bourgeois of France.

Maurer has been President of the Pennsylvania State Federation of Labor for eight consecutive years. He has been Chairman of the Pennsylvania Old Age Pension Commission since it's creation, two years ago. He served three terms in the Pennsylvania Legislature.

LANSING KNEW OF NO ORDER.

State Department Officia' Hints at Technical Flaw in Passports.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Secretary Lansing said to night he had no information as to the removal of Chairman James H. Maurer and Director A. Epstein of the Pennsylvania Old Age Commission, who announced in New York tonight that they were removed by Custom House agents from the steamship Lapland today just before it sailed for Europe. The two Pennsylvanian officials said the agents acted on instructions from the State Department.

Secretary Lansing explained that the case had not come to his notice and that he had heard nothing of an order to detain the two men from sailing. Other State Department officials refused to discuss the case, except to say that an inquiry would be made tomorrow and an announcement probably made then. From the circumstances as told by the two men, one department official said, it appeared that there might be some technicality in the passports which required straightening out.
